JAPS SURPRISING RUSSIANS.

Forty Thousand of Them Within Seventy Miles of Vladivostok and the Government Bureau Moves.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's Chefoo correspondent cables that it is rumored that a Japanese force from Possiet Bay has advanced on Hunchun, whose garrison of 600 fled in panic to Kirin.

FORTY THOUSAND OF THEM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Telegraph's Newchwang correspondent cables that 40,000 Japanese troops are within seventy miles of Vladivostok. The roads have been bad, consequently the Russians have not been keeping a close watch, and this forward movement of the Japanese has taken them completely by surprise. An important battle is imminent.

CONSTERNATION PREVAILS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

YINKOW, Feb. 25.—Native reports that the Japanese landed at Possiet Bay and subsequently undertook operations against Hunchun and toward Kirin have received qualified confirmation from English missionary refugees who have arrived at Newchwang. These people say the Russo-Chinese Bank has removed from Kirin to Kwang Chong Tsi, where commercial interests are seeking safety and defense. This reported advance has produced consternation among the European civilians residing on the line of march. It is reported also that the Russian government bureau at Vladivostok has withdrawn to Khabarovsk.

Possiet Bay is in Russia, about seventy-five miles southwest of Vladivostok. Hunchun is on the left bank of the Tumen River and about forty miles to the west of Possiet Bay. Kirin is a big Manchurian town and lies about two hundred and twenty miles inland and to the west of Possiet Bay. Kwang Chong Tsi is about eighty miles west of Kirin. Khabarovsk is about four hundred miles to the north of Vladivostok, which port is connected by a railway.

FLANKING THE RUSSIANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's Tokio correspondent sends the following: "Col. Oka of the Japanese General Staff, in a recent interview with the Herald representative, declared that a dash for Harbin would be one of the first moves of the campaign. A force landed at Possiet Bay, as will be seen by scrutinizing the map, flanks the main Russian army on the Yalu, threatens Vladivostok, and is in a position to dash for Kerin and Harbin, cutting all communications and isolating the Russian troops in Manchuria.

"'Harbin,' said the Colonel, 'is the key to the strategic situation. Russia, with her troops scattered all over Manchuria, with big garrisons at Port Arthur, Mukden, Newchwang and Vladivostok, would, we consider, suffer by her decentralization. We think that by a great effort and much self-sacrifice on the part of our troops, the rush upon Harbin with its immense stores of ammunition, forage and provisions would be a success.

"'Once in occupation, we should hold the line at the vital point. To the south would be Port Arthur and Dalny, cut off from her lines of communication. Both places would be at the risk of assault by the Japanese navy outside and the Japanese army on the land side. To raise the siege the garrisons would have to come out and fight in the open.'

"Kirin is some 200 miles from Hinchun, however, and campaigning in Northern Manchuria in February is no pleasant undertaking. The temperature rarely goes above zero during winter in those latitudes. It is possible that the Japanese movement is intended to flank the Russian position on the Yalu."

THAT NIGHT ATTACK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 25.—At about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, the Japanese made a desperate attempt to blow up the entrance of the inner harbor and dock. With this object, four merchant steamers, accompanied by torpedo vessels, were sent from two sides toward the entrance of the channel. The movement was perceived by the Retvizan, which was lying in the channel, and it opened fire on them. At the same time, the guns of the forts on the Tiger peninsula, Golden Hill and Electric Cliff were turned on the enemy and a furious cannonade ensued, lasting until 5 o'clock in the morning. Then the firing slackened and became desultory. The Japanese had failed to effect their purpose.

All four steamers were sunk. They are lying in the following positions: One behind Golden Hill, one near the Retvizan, two between the entrance of the chanhel and Lao Thie Shan peninsula. Two of the vessels are still burning. The cruisers Bayan and Novik pursued the Japanese torpedo flotilla. It is said that one of the torpedo boats was sunk.

About 9 a. m. February 24 a Japanese squadron of considerable size approached Port Arthur, and the Bayan and Novik were ordered to engage the Japanese ships, which, however, did not open fire, and afterwards steamed away in the direction of Port Dalny. The cruiser Pallada has entered the dock here.

NO RUSSIAN FORCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

YINKOW, Feb. 25.—Foreign engineers on the Shan Hai Kwan (Newchwang) railroad say that according to their information there is no Russian force west of the Liao River, with the exception of a guard of twenty-five Cossacks at Koupatzou.

RUSSIANS HAD WARNING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's correspondent sends the following:

CHEFOO, Feb. 25, 7:15 p.m.—Arrivals from Port Arthur report the naval engagement at the entrance of Port Arthur harbor, Tuesday after midnight. The Russians received timely warning from their torpedo-boat destroyers, which met the Japanese fleet twenty miles off Port Arthur. The Japanese fleet approached to within eight miles from the entrance and commenced the attack. The first to retaliate were the forts, followed by the warships Petropavlovsk, the Novik, the Pallade and the Askold.

The engagement lasted until nearly daylight, when the Japanese retired. I am unable to ascertain the details of the losses on both sides, but it is said that the Japanese had two ships sunk and three disabled. The Port Arthur forts had five guns silenced. The damage to the town was

JAPS AGAIN BEATEN AT PORT ARTHUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25. 6:40 p. m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Maj.-Gen. Pflug (the chief of staff of Viceroy Alexieff) telegraphs as follows, under today's date:

"The enemy again attacked Port Arthur from 1 to 2 a.m. and was everywhere repulsed. Details follow."

BENT UPON DESTRUCTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—Following the dispatches of Maj.-Gen. Pflug, saying the Japanese had again attacked Port Arthur Thursday morning and had been repulsed, Viceroy Alexieff has sent in an identical report to the Czar. The fact that the Japanese have renewed the attack is interpreted here to mean that they are determined to bottle up or destroy the Russian fleet at Port Arthur in order to give themselves freedom for land maneuvers to cut off or invest the city or as a feint to cover a movement elsewhere.

STOPS THE FIRING.

Capt. Wainwright of the Newark Reports His Experiences With the Dominican Scrappers--Shells Rebel Position.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS--A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The report of Capt. Richard Wainwright, commanding the Newark, regarding his recent reconnoisance about Santo Domingo, has been made public at the Navy Department. Capt. Wainwright found on his arrival at Sanches that the daughter and brother-in-law of the American consular agent both had been wounded by the same bullet in the fighting there. He wrote a letter to the commanders of the government and insurgent forces, protesting against further firing in the streets of the city or toward the houses of the inhabitants, and to make his protest effective landed a force of twenty marines and a company of bluejackets. There was no further firing.

Regarding the firing on the American ship New York by the insurgent forces, while she was unloading her cargo, Capt. Wainwright says:

"I arrived at Santo Domingo city about 10 o'clock on the morning of the 18th. The New York reported that she had entered Monte Christi, having cargo for that place, but that Gen. Morales had fired upon the fighters coming out to take his cargo. The New York went to Puerta Plata, where a written agreement was entered into between Gen. Morales and the Clyde agents that the cargo for Monte Christi, with the exception of arms and ammunition, should be deposited there in the customhouse, and later be sent overland to Monte Christi. The whole southern peninsula is in the hands of the insurgents, and Santo Domingo city is surrounded and closely invested by about twelve hundred men of the insurgent forces.

"The steamship New York arrived shortly after me, and at noon went alongside the dock in the river to unload her cargo, about nineteen hundred barrels. Capt. Miller of the Columbia had made a written agreement with the commanding generals of both forces that there would be no firing on that side of the city, while the New York was at the dock.

"The Columbia's steam launch, with a large United States flag on the bows, went into the dock preceding the New York, also flying the American flag. The insurgents from the east bank of the river fired upon the New York and upon the Columbia's steam launch.

"After consultation with Capt. Miller, and by his direction, I moved to a position directly opposite the river and shelled the east bank of the river in order to drive back into the interior all insurgents in that neighborhood, preparing the way for landing a battalion composed of the landing force of the Columbia and Newark. The battalion landed at about 4:30 o'clock. At a small town in the interior, the insurgents were found in some force under the command of Gen. José Tiburzier. The general was warned to remove his forces at once back into the interior, away from the east bank of the river and that he should not fire on the town again from that side. He signed another written agreement to that effect, and at once collected his forces and marched his men into the interior."

FORCES ARE ATTACKED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTO DOMINGO, Feb. 22.—Government forces attacked San Pedro de Macoris last Saturday. They went in small boats, with the intention of landing, but were received with a fusillade from the insurgents, which resulted in many being killed or wounded. The gunboat Presidente then bombarded the town, and inflicted much damage. The attack and the bombardment were renewed Sunday. The rebels fired on the Presidente, and damaged her about the water line. This obliged the gunboat to leave and return here.

TO MAKE IT RIGHT WITH LIVE-STOCK MEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—An important meeting was held here today between a committee representing the National Live-Stock Association and the freight traffic managers of railway lines centering in Chicago. The members of the live-stock association have been for some time opposed to the application of the tonnage system in the method of transporting live-stock, the opposition being on the ground that the system reduced the running time of trains and thereby caused heavy shrinkage in the weight and value of animals. The live-stock association also asked that the return pass privilege be restored to bona fide shippers, and that there be a readjustment of freight rates.

The meeting was exceedingly harmonious. During the discussion, the traffic managers conceded that the live-stock service during the past year had not been satisfactory and that representations made by the stockmen would be immediately taken up, with the assurance that there would speedily be a satisfactory adjustment. All the transportation lines running West and South were represented.

The live-stock committee consisted of W. A. Harris of Kansas; T. C. Power of Montana; M. McAfee of Texas; J. M. Allen of Nebraska; E. S. Gorney of Arizona; I. M. Humphrey of South Dakota; C. A. Adams of Nebraska; C. W. Baker of Illinois, and C. F. Martin of Colorado.

HARD FOR FARMERS.

NORTHERN PACIFIC DECISION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VANCOUVER (Wash.) Feb. 25.—The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in awarding the "overlap lands" to the Northern Pacific Railway will affect almost 2000 persons in this county. The contested grants comprise all the odd sections in the northern and western portion of Clark county, most of it being fine timber, grazing and farming land. On this land the government has issued 1895 patents, and many of the patentees have made their homes there for years, besides improving the property.

The suit has been bitterly fought for years past, and thousands of dollars had been expended to defray the costs. Should it be impossible to make the railroad company select other lands under the lieu land act, the settlers must suffer the hardship of buying their land over again from the company, or forfeiting their farms and the improvements.

MEANS ANOTHER RATE WAR.

FRUITLESS CONFERENCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER, Feb. 25.—The traffic conference, just closed, between officials of the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek District Railway and the Denver and Southwestern Railway, owning the Midland Terminal and the Florence and Cripple Creek Railroad, competing lines in the Cripple Creek district, was, according to one who speaks with authority, without result.

The traffic agreement which expired February 1, last, was not renewed, each side demanding a greater percentage of the earnings. As a result, both sides are preparing for another rate war. The Denver and Southwestern is a New Jersey corporation, which is owned largely in New York City. About eighteen months ago, the competing lines waged a disastrous rate war, extending over a period of several months, and the bondholders of the Denver and Southwestern took over that corporation.

Ticket Scalper Arested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—A. Ottinger, a railroad cut-rate ticket agent, was arrested today for violating the injunction issued by Superior Judge Sloss last summer, restraining him from selling "scalped" tickets. He took an appeal to the Supreme Court, which was rejected today in that tribunal. Immediately upon the denial of the appeal, Ottinger was taken into custody, but was released on $300 bail.

TEN BOYS BURNED.

Tragic Climax of Ghost Story at Church Entertainment at Which Fire Added to Weirdness.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CINCINNATI, Feb. 25.—An accident at the Richmond-street Christian Church tonight resulted in ten children being seriously burned and others painfully burned. Seven are in the City Hospital and it is thought that many whose names were not learned were badly burned.

The Sunday-school room was crowded for an entertainment given by the pastor, Rev. Vernon Stauffer. The evening had been set apart for the small boys and a small crowd of girls gathered on the outside. The pastor was telling fairy stories. One of the stories was to have an air of mystery with ghostly scenes. In order to make the story realistic the pastor provided a kettle which had salt in the bottom of it. This was saturated with alcohol and set afire for the weird light of the ghost story.

When the boys were gathered around the fire, suddenly a draft of wind struck the stream of alcohol and an explosion followed. All those seated around the fire were burned. Beside the seven taken to the hospital, three were taken home badly burned and others not seriously injured were bandaged up and then taken home.

Those taken to the City Hospital were George Mangelo, aged 6 years; Carl Bertram, 6; Earl Carson, 12; Arthur Masser, 9; Edward Young, 12; Waldro Larkby, 15, and Walter Mergill, 12. Among those taken to their homes who were badly burned were Freddie Brennan, aged, 12; Harry Bertram, 11, and Freddie Bertram, aged 13.

ONE MANAGEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

GUADALAJARA (Mex.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A big consolidation of haciendas has been consummated in the territory of Tepic, whereby seventeen properties were merged for operation under one management. More than 2,000,000 acres are included. Cotton, coffee, sugar and live stock will be among the heavy productions.

Railroads to connect with the coast and the center of the republic have been constructed.

IKONS TO THE FRONT.

MOSCOW, Feb. 25.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The most sacred image in Russia has been sent to St. Petersburg, and it will be taken later to the Far East, with the army. The image is a representation of the Virgin appearing to Saint Sergius, and is always kept at the Troitzko monastery. It is about one foot square, and is covered with precious stones.

The image has a remarkable history. It accompanied Alexis, Peter the Great, and Alexander I on all their campaigns. A silver tablet attached to it enumerates the battles at which the ikon was present.

JAPS ENTER SIBERIA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWCHWANG, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. W. H. Gillespie, a missionary, has arrived here for safety, coming from Kwanchengtse, on the Manchurian railway. Other missionaries are following him. He reports the Japanese have landed at Possiet bay, in Siberia, to the south of Vladivostok and have advanced to Hunchun, which is in Manchuria, just on the border line of extreme Northeastern Korea and about twenty-five miles inland.

An official proclamation has been issued, announcing that the Russian administration has been removed from Vladivostok to Khabarousk, a Siberian town 400 miles north of Vladivostok and 200 miles from the coast. The Russian garrison at Hunchun has fled. The Japanese are marching on Kirin, Manchuria. Women and civilians are leaving that town in a panic.

PURPOSE OF THE MOVE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Possiet Bay, where the Japanese have landed, is on the Siberian tongue of land called Russian Manchuria, seventy miles south of Vladivostok. Hunchun, the Manchurian town to which the Japanese advanced, is about twenty-five miles from Possiet Bay. Kirin, the Manchurian town on which they are marching, is an important point, the terminus of an eighty-mile branch of the Siberian Railway running from Kwangchengtse, which is about half way between Mukden and Harbin. The Japanese purpose in this move seems to be to cut the Russian military lines in Manchuria in the middle, keeping off reinforcements and supplies while they deal with the Czar's troops at Port Arthur, Dalny, Newchwang and other points in Southern Manchuria.

COSSACKS ON PATROL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWCHWANG, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Cossack regiment is patrolling to the west of the Liao River, and a collision with the Imperial Chinese troops who are guarding the Shanhaikwan-Newchang Railway is feared. Foreign engineers on the railroad, however, say that, according to their information, there is no Russian force west of the Liao River except a guard of twenty-five Cossacks at Koupantzou. Several military officers are here at Newchwang, waiting for permission to accompany Russian troops into the field to observe military operations. They have been informed that it will be impossible to grant such permission until the middle of March.

MASSACRE OF VILLAGERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWCHWANG, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Russians took terrible vengeance on villagers near the Sungai River, after an attempt had been made to wreck the bridge. The troops burned one large village to the ground and massacred the inhabitants, including women and children.

JAP CRUISERS AT SHANGHAI.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—In a cablegram from Shanghai, a correspondent of the Daily Mail reports the arrival there of the Japanese cruisers Idzumo, Suma and Akitsushima.

PROTECTING HER WAR CHEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Japan is taking precautions to insure the strength of her war chest. Baron Suyematsu, late Minister of the Interior under Marquis Ito, whose son-in-law he is, has sailed for England to undertake negotiations there. Baron Kaneko, who was minister of Justice under Marquis Ito, accompanied by Vice-President Takahashi of the Bank of Japan, has headed a similar mission to America.

CROWS GET DESPERATE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELKHART (Ind.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The long winter has shut off the usual food supply of the great rookery of crows, a few miles north of this city. The farmers of the neighborhood are compelled to watch their live stock and frighten away from the cattle the large flocks of hungry birds which swoop down on the animals and inflict painful injuries. One cow died of injuries.

BETSY ROSS'S GRANDDAUGHTER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Living in Fort Madison, Iowa, is a little woman, Mrs. Rachel Albright, who is always proud and happy to tell you that she is the granddaughter of the famous Betsy Ross, who made the first "Old Glory." Mrs. Albright is 91 years old, but she still carries on the family business of making flags.

NEBRASKA STUDENT DISGRACED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chancellor Andrews has requested the father of Walter W. Lesh, right-guard on the Nebraska football team, to have his son withdraw from the university. It is said the request will be complied with. According to the statement made tonight by the university authorities, Lesh last Monday was detected in the act of abstracting a pocketbook from the clothing of a fellow-student in the gymnasium, while the latter was engaged in gymnastic work.

MOB LAW AT DISCOUNT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TERRE HAUTE (Ind.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ten of the ringleaders in the mob which threatened to lynch Jerry Duggins, the triple murderer, Tuesday night, are in jail, and the grand jury is preparing indictments. The men are police characters, and will be a good riddance. Terre Haute is surprised at finding its law officers and sentiment radically changed since the lynching of Ward two years ago. There was no determined resistence, as in the Duggins case, and although ringleaders were as well-known as the ones now in jail, no arrests were made. On the contrary, the suggestion that they be prosecuted was ridiculed. Now the officers are commended on all sides.

ACCUSES THE PRESIDENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mayor Paul Capdevielle balked when requested to invite the President to attend the Southern Good Roads Association, to be held here April 6 and 7. He said the people of New Orleans and Louisiana had suffered great humiliation and discourtesy at the hands of the President when he was invited to attend the big Louisiana Centennial celebration here last December.

THEATER MANAGER ARRESTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charged with violating the child labor law by employing four children in "Her Own Way," now on the boards at the Illinois theater, Business Manager M. A. Yack was arrested during the performance this evening by an officer from Justice Wolff's court on complaint of Chief Factory Inspector Edgar T. Dafies. Yack gave $500 bonds for his appearance tomorrow morning, and announced that he would fight the case to the end, with habeas corpus proceedings as a probable preliminary.

IOWA TRAINS COLLIDE.

Fireman and Three Stockmen Killed and Three Stockmen Injured. Wreck Takes Fire.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) Feb. 25.—The front section of a fast stock and freight train ran into the rear end of another stock and freight train on the Chicago, Great Western Railroad tonight, just out of Dyersville. Fireman E. W. Griswold of the rear train was killed. Three stockmen on the front section were killed and their bodies cremated. Their names were not known, and will have to be learned from the stock shipment record.

Three other stockmen who were riding in the caboose of the first section were badly injured. The wreck caught fire, and the caboose and a refrigerator car were burned.

FORGOT ABOUT ISLE OF PINES.

HAVANA, Feb. 25.—The lapsing of the Isle of Pines treaty on account of its not being ratified within the time limit is regarded here to be mainly due to the fact that the State Department at Washington did not call attention to the matter. Persons interested in securing American sovereignty for the Isle of Pines are jubilant over the lapse, considering it to be a setback which gives promise of the defeat of the proposition that the island remain under Cuban sovereignty.

SENATOR QUAY'S HEALTH.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Feb. 25.—Inquiry tonight as to the condition of Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, who was reported ill at St. Lucie, Fla., brought the response that the Senator's health has been much improved since coming to Florida.

John Phillips of New York, secretary of the national organization of hatters of North America, and well known in labor circles throughout the country is dead, aged 67 years.

Stated That He Gave Away Alvord to Get Money.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Billy Stiles and his Indiana friends are securely surrounded in the hills about twenty-five miles from Naco. Sheriff Lewis and other officers are on the trail. News that Stiles and the Mexicans were in San Jose country, having been received from various sources, posses were sent out to cut off any means of escape. Peculiar stories are circulating on the street. It has been reported that Sheriff Lewis took Alvord back to the scene of the shooting at Young's ranch the morning after that event, stayed there some time, although Alvord was in great pain, and finally returned to Naco. It is given out that they made the trip in order to search for the gold in bullion which Alvord and Stiles took from Tener of Magdalena. The sheriff says they did not find the bullion, but the place where it had been buried was dug up. The supposition was that Stiles had returned during the night after the shooting and lifted the treasure. Many now do not believe the story; they do not think Stiles would have the courage to go back to the scene of action. There is something of a mystery about this, which will soon be cleared. It is understood that Fred Smith of the O. K. Stables furnished the information which resulted in the capture of Alvord and that he is in possession of $1000, given as reward. Alvord was with the party when the capture was made. He was also close to the vaqueros of the surrounding country and probably got a tip from them. The report reached here late that Stiles had been captured by Sheriff Lewis's posse in the San José Mountains, west of Naco.

BRINGS JAPANESE GOLD.

TO PAY FOR WAR SUPPLIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The steamer Doric, which arrived today from the Orient, brought in her specie tank Japanese gold yen amounting to $1,500,000 in American gold. Much of this money was sent here in payment of supplies for the army and navy of Japan that had been purchased in the past few months.

Aboard in the hold of the steamer were about 550 tons of merchandise that will make up the bulk of the Chinese exhibit at the St. Louis Fair. Among the passengers was F. E. Carl, commissioner of the Chinese Imperial customs service, who will have charge of the exhibit. With him are Pierre Dubois, A Berthet, also of the Chinese customs services, and L. Y. Ohki, a prominent merchant of Shanghai.

Ohki, an attaché of the Japanese legation at Washington, was also a passenger on the steamer. He is returning to his post after an extended visit to Europe and Asia, in the diplomatic service of his country. There are several other Japanese government officials on board.

CRIME LAID ON WOOD.

VERDICT IN ROGERS INQUEST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OAKLAND, Feb. 25.—The Coroner's jury this afternoon in the matter of the death of La Verne Rogers returned in a verdict as follows: "That he died as resulted from a gun shot wound inflicted by Cyrus Wood, near Capay, on or about Saturday, February 20."

The inquest was held in the city hall, which to accommodate the crowd which clamored for admittance, the Coroner's office being too small. The most important part of the testimony was that given by Drs. Lawhead and Blevin, who performed the autopsy on the body this morning. The testimony of both was that the bullet entered the back of the head, near the ear, and ranged forward. The testimony also indicated that Rogers was shot twice, the other wound being in the left forearm.

This is contrary to the statement made by Wood, just before his arrest, as he claimed that Rogers had shot at him and that the bullet entered the face between the eyes. It was proved also by expert testimony that the rifle used by Wood was a .303 Savage and was loaded with soft-pointed cartridges, which fact tends strongly to corroborate the theory of the District Attorney that Rogers was shot from behind as the wound back of the ear was small and clean, and in front was frightfully torn and ragged.

FLOODS FORCE FAMILIES OUT.

HEAVY RAINFALL RAISES RIVERS UP THE STATE.

Orchard Lands Submerged to a Depth of Five Feet and Country Open Sea—Continuous Three Days' Downpour at Stockton—Weather Predictions.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BIGGS, Feb. 25.—Early this morning, half the residence portion of Biggs, and for a distance of several miles in nearly every direction, was covered with water from a depth of a few inches to several feet. In the northern part of East Biggs many dwellings and barns were surrounded by water and in a few instances the water ran into the houses, when families were moved out. Looking toward Gridley and Marysville, to the south, as far as the eye could reach, at dawn, the country appeared an open sea. The high water was caused by an overflow of Feather River. All the orchard lands of Rio Bonito, east of town, were submerged to a depth of from one to five feet. The water commenced receding about 3 a. m.

The rainfall up to 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon registered 5.08 inches for the month and 13.23 for the season. But little damage is apprehended.

THREE DAYS' DOWNPOUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKTON, Feb. 25.—Fears are expressed of a flood similar to that of last year unless the rain ceases. There has been an almost continuous downpour for three days and the channels and waterways are running nearly full. Miner Channel raised six inches in an hour this morning and is still rising. Reports from Calaveras River and Mormon Channel, to the east, are that the water is exceedingly high and some of the lowlands along the banks are partly submerged. While there is no immediate danger of a flood the continued rain is causing much anxiety.

MAKES THE GRASS GROW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Feb. 25.—The south wind yesterday brought rain which fell lightly during the night, but is falling steadily now. The weather is mild, grass and grain are growing rapidly and prospects are excellent for root and summer crops.

WEATHER PROSPECTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The recent storm has moved to the southeast, according to the Weeather Bureau. At the same time, the rain belt has moved to the south, bringing showers to Southern California.

At 10 o'clock this morning, .25 of an inch of rain had fallen in San Luis Obispo. Lighter rain has fallen in San Diego, as well, and present indications are that light showers will continue for the next few days.

The river at Sacramento is now 2.72 feet above the normal and is steadily rising. The Weather Bureau officials say that if the weather continues for thirty-six hours, the chances are that the present flood will go down without causing much trouble. At Marysville, the river reached the twenty-foot stage, As eighteen feet is the ordinary limit there, some damage by washouts is anticipated.

WATER FAST FALLING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, Feb. 25.—Streams in the vicinity of Stockton are not dangerously full and water is fast falling. Out at Woodbridge, in the northern section of the county, levees on Mokelumne River broke today and water is pouring over the grain lands, but it is not believed the damage will be heavy as cross levees will turn the water into falling streams.

STAGES CUT OFF.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GLENVILLE, Feb. 25.—Warm rain falling on snow for three days, ending last night, is resulting in the highest water known in Plumas county for many years. Stage communication with adjoining towns is cut off and resumption of mail service is indefinite. No accidents have been reported, but damage to roads and bridges is probably great.

RECORD AT MILTON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILTON, Feb. 25.—One and twenty-hundredths inches of rain fell here during the storm, making a total of 11.54 inches for the season, which is well in advance of the record for the corresponding time last season. The mountain streams were nearly impassable yesterday, but waters have subsided today.

SUSPECTS IN SALINAS COURT.

HAVE KEYS TO SWITCHES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALINAS, Feb. 25.—The two men arrested here for robbing passengers on trains today denied having stolen a watch, despite the fact that they had confessed doing so before several persons. They were in court to plead, and their preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Daniel Roberts, who now calls himself Charles Robert, is about 26 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches tall, of florid complexion, with a small brown mustache, light brown hair, hazel eyes and projecting eyebrows. H. M. Palck is about 23 or 24 years of age, 6 feet 1 or 2 inches tall, with sharp features and a thin nose. He has dark brown hair, covering a low forehead, blue eyes and a sallow complexion. Both men are strangers here, but are thought to be from San Francisco.

The keys to the railroad switches found on the men are supposed from marks thereon to belong to the San Joaquin divisions of the railroad companies.

LIGHTNING HITS LIGHTHOUSE.

DESTRUCTION ON DESTRUCTION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 25.—A special to the Evening Telegram from Astoria (Or.) says that during the great storm which visited the North Pacific Coast last Monday and which was accompanied by severe electrical displays, the government lighthouse station at Destruction Island was nearly wiped out of existence. During the height of the storm, which appeared to center over the island, a bolt of lightning struck the main edge of the station and shattered a portion of it. No lives were lost, although the occupants were stunned by the shock. Temporary repairs have been made, so that the light can be seen.

MEXICAN MURDERS SHERIFF.

TALK OF LYNCHING NOW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a result of a strike among Mexicans at the Black Diamond mines, at Pearce, Sheriff Arthur Wright was today shot to death by a drunken Mexican he had imprisoned. There is talk of lynching.

KILLED BY EARTHQUAKE.

DEAD BESIDE HIS BED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN JOSE, Feb. 25.—Clarence V. Hatfield, whose home is at 240 Shotwell street, San Francisco, and who was committed to the Agnews insane asylum, was found dead beside his bed in an attitude of prayer this morning. It is supposed that he was alarmed by a slight shock of earthquake and sprang from his bed. The death occurred between midnight and 1 o'clock, while the ward attendant was at supper. He was well connected and leaves a widow in San Francisco.

FIGHT FOR WHITNEY MILLIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Almeric Paget, son-in-law of the late W. C. Whitney, sailed from Southhampton yesterday. His wife, who was cut off with one-tenth of the Whitney millions, will meet the vessel on which her husband embarked at Cherbourg. They are bound for New York to fight, it is believed, for a larger share of the Whitney estate.

BRYAN SAID, LAST NIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. J. Bryan said tonight: "I think the chances of the Democracy have improved. I still believe the only chance of a reunited Democracy is for those who have turned aside from the principles as last laid down to return."

RUSSIANS FALLING BACK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The total strength of the Russian troops now in Korea does not exceed 1000. They are gradually falling back in the direction of the Yalu River before the Japanese advance. Russians in Manchuria are seriously hampered by the scarcity of coolies and by the activity of mounted bandits.

KOREA ON THE FENCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEOUL, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One thousand Russian troops have arrived at Tong Wu and 500 at Kanson. The Korean government has accordingly changed front in expectation of Japanese reverses, and is attempting to ride the fence so as to be prepared to get off on one side or the other, as the tide of battle may go. It refused the use of an old palace to the Japanese troops.

TELEGRAPH LINES CUT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEOUL, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All Korean telegraph lines have been cut by the Japanese. The Emperor of Korea is expecting a Japanese reverse and is vacillating in his allegiance. He has refused the use of the old palaces to the Japanese troops.

JAPAN'S VICEROYALTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEOUL, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Japan has instituted a viceroyalty in Korea. This logically follows the assumption of a protectorate. Mr. Tokugawa has been appointed resident in Seoul and Mr. Kato has been named as vice-resident.

LABOR.

LEGALIZE SAM PARKSISM.

Light of Day on Aims of Anti-Conspiracy Bill.

Hearing Before House Committee on Judiciary.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The House Committee on Judiciary today resumed its hearing on the anti-conspiracy bill. Daniel Davenport of Bridgeport, Ct., was the first speaker. He said he was the executive agent of the American Anti-Boycott Association, an organization formed to enforce the laws, particularly those against boycotting. He also represents the Chicago Building Contractors' Council, the National Building Employers' Association and the Citizens' Industrial Alliance of the United States.

He said the position taken by advocates of the bill was extraordinary, in that someone was asking the repeal of a law which has been in existence ever since the Anglo-Saxon race, while nobody but Samuel Gompers—"and he says he is not a lawyer, but a horny-handed son of toil"—has been able to advance any reason why such a remarkable law should be enacted by Congress.

So we are shelling the woods to find out where its advocates stand. Passage of this bill will make lawful outrageous and un-American agreements now in force between associations, employers and labor unions by which a non-member of the association or a non-member of the union can be excluded and the public fleeced," he said. "It legalizes Sam Parksism, because just such extortion is made possible and lawful by the terms of this bill, and it will take away from the States the right to punish criminal acts like boycotting."

He devoted some time to a review of the Federal adjudications upon matters sought to be covered by the bill, and said that the American Federation of Labor was a great organization systematically engaged in doing the very thing which the courts had universally condemned as unlawful.

"It is an organization composed of a great number of unions banded together for the purpose of aiding, assisting, declaring and enforcing boycotts against those employers who may happen to come under its ban; and this is the kind of organization which has fostered, originated and is now advocating the passage of this bill."

He read from the declaration of principles of numerous constituent organizations of the American Federation of Labor and condemned them as Socialistic and pernicious.

DESTROYING LIBERTY.

"If organized for the purpose of making better workmen, improving individual environment or advancing the cause of civilization, I myself and those I represent would be in favor of labor unions," he said, "but in their practical workings they are not of that character. Most of them are Socialistic, teaching doctrines which disregard the rights of others as equally entitled to the protection of the law with theirs; instilling in the minds of the working classes of the country a spirit of hostility against those who control the production of the country; destroying the liberty of contract between employer and employé; putting a premium on disloyalty and crime, and bringing public reproach and disgrace upon our courts, not only by defying their mandates and injunctions, but by publicly, in the journals and in every other way, uttering most abusive statements against judges who endeavor to enforce the law.

"The great problem before the American people today—greater than slavery and secession ever was—is the recovery of the right of every man to run his own business according to the dictates of his own judgment and the right of every man with labor to sell to dispose of it to whomever he desires, whether he belongs to a union or not.

"This question is today gnawing like a cancer at the vitals of society. Let us not permit sophistry or sentiment to mislead us, for we can change our cooking, our style of dress, or even our system of government, but not the relations of employer and employé."

WOULD INVALIDATE LAWS.

He said there is no such thing as peaceful picketing and recounted many experiences he had personally gone through in this regard. He argued that the passage of this law would preclude all possibility of breaking boycotts and thus it would invalidate the Sherman anti-trust law and certain provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act.

"There are three things which stink in the nostrils of the American people today," he said, "the boycott, combinations between associations, employers and unions, by which a man not in the combination is ruined and a man not in the union is deprived of his opportunity to earn his livelihood; and grafts, all of which would, in effect, be legalized by the passage of this bill."

He said one argument advanced by labor unions which he desired most earnestly to combat was this: Because some Federal judge had exceeded the power given him by the law, in the issuance of an injunction or restraining order, therefore the power of injunction should be taken away from all Federal courts, in the particular class of cases contemplated by the bill. This he characterized as too absurd even to be dignified by a reply. In conclusion he said:

"Whatever you do, gentlemen, don't place upon your children and upon the generations to come the stigma of this iniquitous measure, aimed to legalize every form of anarchy and lawlessness that can be conceived in the minds of the leaders of organized labor; don't compel owners of property in this great land of ours to resort to the rifle, the bayonet or the policeman's club to protect their property and their lives, but leave this writ as it now is in the hands of able and conscientious jurists, who know and are capable of enforcing the law for the benefit of the laborer as well as his employer."

REIGN OF TERROR.

Judge Reese Blizzard of Parkersburg, W. Va., representing practically all the mining companies of the upper Monongahela Valley, West Virginia, and general counsel for the combined interests of the Wabash Railway Company in that State, followed Mr. Davenport, with a vivid picture of the crime and anarchy which reigned in his section during the mining troubles there a few years ago. He said he could furnish the testimony of eyewitness to many transactions that occurred there then.

He vigorously assailed Mr. Gompers for his criticism of the action taken by Judge Jackson of the United States District Court, and Judge Goff, of the United States Circuit Court, when appeals against strike litigation reached their respective courts on writs of injunction and contempt proceedings that followed. He argued against the enactment of the bill into law and said it sought to create a right that never existed in the history of civilization and could only be desired by those who might violate the law of the land.

TROUBLE AT RAWHIDE MINE.

TROOPS MAY BE CALLED OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, Feb. 25.—Word comes from Jamestown that trouble is feared at the Rawhide gold mine near that town, where a strike of miners has been on for a week. Capt. Nevills owns the property and has placed guards around the mine to keep the strikers away. Non-union miners brought in to work are met at Jamestown by miners' committeemen and turned back, but Nevills has enough to run the mine and promises to start up this week. He may call for State troops if strikers show a disposition to fight him.

ABANDONS HIS APPEAL.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 25.—Martin Murphy, the Democratic candidate who was declared elected County Auditor at the last general election, but who was defeated on a recount in the Superior Court, by his Republican competitor, W. F. Parker, chiefly by the throwing out of "no-nomination" ballots, has abandoned his appeal to the Supreme Court and will tomorrow morning turn the office over to Parker.

THE FAR EAST.

serious. One shell struck amid the the anchorage of junks, blowing many to atoms. The Newsky works and the engine works were struck three times. Several shells fell just short of the arsenal, but stuck in the mud wall surrounding it, doing no damage. Judging from this, the Japanese evidently attempted to destroy the arsenal. Several guards were killed by bursting shells. Civilians took refuge in the new part of Port Arthur.

BOTTLING WORK UNSUCCESSFUL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHEFOO, Thursday, 9:30 a.m.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Japanese tried to sink two transports at the entrance to Port Arthur the night of February 22, but the plan miscarried. The two ships were sunk outside the entrance, one being stranded. The Japanese bombarded ineffectively. Five thousand men are now working day and night strengthening the defenses of the garrison, which is 30,000 strong and well provisioned. The Japanese have no chance of success. Three merchant steamers are still at Port Arthur.

CZAR'S CONGRATULATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The Czar has telegraphed warm congratulations to Viceroy Alexieff and the entire Russian squadron at Port Arthur on the able manner in which they repulsed the latest attack of the Japanese.

RETVIZAN AND CZAREVITCH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The battleships Retvizan and Czarevitch will be temporarily employed at Port Arthur as guardships, in which capacity it has been decided their formidable guns can be utilized to good advantage. It has been found that the necessary repairs to these ships can only be fully made in the dock at Vladivostok, so the vessels will be temporarily patched up and remain at Port Arthur until circumstances will permit of their being sent to Vladivostok.

TORPEDO BOATS UNINJURED.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—6:05 p.m.—The British Foreign Office has received an official dispatch saying that not one of the Japanese torpedo boats was injured in the attack on Port Arthur Wednesday, February 24.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL, Feb. 25.—Yi Yong-Ik, who was formerly Minister of War and practically the dictator of Korea, and considered a friend of Russia, has been taken by the Japanese at Chemulpo and on the same night was put on board of a warship which took him to Japan. He went on board in court dress.

RUSSIA'S BALTIC SQUADRON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—It is now said that the Russian Baltic squadron, comprising eight battleships, two armored cruisers, three protected cruisers, two large transports and thirty torpedo boats, will leave for the Far East at the end of June. It is added that it will be commanded by Rear-Admiral Rojestvensky.

TORPEDO BOAT ATTACK.

HOBSON DRAWS A MORAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. Richard Hobson said tonight:

"The Japanese operation at Port Arthur was an attempt, on a large scale, to destroy the vessels in Port Arthur and to block the harbor, a combination of torpedo-boat attack with an effort like the one at Santiago and the one of Somers at Tripoli. Ther would seem to be this difference, however, the large vessels were proably intended to produce consternation by burning inflammables before sinking, and in this consternation the flotilla of torpedo boats were to do their work of destruction.

"One or more of the largest vessels may have been designed to destroy the Retvizan and also to set fire to the shipping in the harbor, if the tide was running in, something like the fire ships used by the South on the rivers during the Civil War.

"Some of the torpedo boats attempted to direct the fire of the Retvizan in ord - that the rest of the expedition might succeed, for there could have been but little advantage in torpedoing the Retvizan a second time. If this was the case, it was a beautiful example of sacrifice, a certain loss for the frail craft.

"The determinate factor that caused the failure of the enterprise was doubtless the fire of the Retvizan, combined with efficient picket boats and lookout vessels, thus demonstrating the power of a battleship's secondary battery, when efficiently manned, against torpedo vessels."

EXPECTS THIRD ATTACK.

ST. PETERSBURG GUESSING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Feb. 25.—[By Atlantic Cable.] In a dispatch from St. Petersburg, a correspondent of the Echo de Paris says the last, or reported second attack, of the Japanese at Port Arthur was repulsed brilliantly. He says the Japanese were obliged to quit the roadstead. It is presumed that the entire squadron joined in the second attack, hoping to avenge the repulse of the preceding day. The Japanese are thought to have incurred further losses during this long fight. Admiral Stark has telegraphed that he expects a third attack. Continuing, the correspondent says that Gen. Kuropatkin has started for home to take leave of his mother before going to the Far East and he quoted the general as having said.

"This war may last eighteen months, but every arrangement has been made that no Japanese after being landed, shall return to his country."

TEN NURSES TO JAPAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—The Philadelphia branch of the Red Cross Society, independent of the national society, will send ten nurses to Japan, in charge of Dr. Anaita McGee of Washington. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Philadelphia association held in Independence Hall today, when a resolution was adopted binding the local association to raise a fund of $5000 by voluntary contributions on condition that the expedition will go under the auspices of the Philadelphia Society.

The selection of the nurses will be left to Dr. McGee. Only those who have seen active service in war will be accepted. The nurses will be under the direction of the Japanese government, which has already accepted the service of the Red Cross Society.

WILL SEND HER LAST MAN.

BARON SUYEMATSU TALKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Feb. 25.—Baron Suyematsu arrived here today, a passenger on the Iyo Maru, being en route to London, on an important diplomatic mission. Discussing the war, the Baron said:

"It is for us a gigantic struggle and one which we tried to avoid. But Japan will send her last man and will expend her last dollar in order to win. We have no aspirations for aggrandizement, but at the same time we must look out to maintain our existence as a nation.

"We have large political and commercial interests as well as a sacred historical connection with the Korean peninsula. If Korea falls into the hands of any other nation, it will be a death blow to the existence of our empire. We respect the integrity and sovereignty of Korea; we fought China ten years ago solely for the independence of the Korean kingdom. Now we are fighting Russia for the same principles and more for the integrity of China, as well. If Manchuria falls to Russia the question of existence of Korea would be one of but a few days. She would take Korea and that would be a constant menace to our empire."

EVEN THE PORTUGUESE FEEL WAR'S EFFECTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's correspondent sends the following:

BERLIN, Thursday—Dispatches from Lisbon to the Vossische Zeitung state that the alliance with Great Britain imposes at present heavy burdens on Portugal. Not only are new rifles being served to the army in all haste, but a representative of the Krupp firm is at present at Lisbon, instructing artillery officers in the handling of the recently-purchased field artillery. Coast defenses are being overhauled in Lisbon, Fayal and Lagos, which could serve as naval stations for the British fleet. Telegrams from Amsterdam state that everything is ready for the mobilization of the Dutch army. All leave is refused to officers.

AUSTRIA AND THE BALKANS.

BERLIN, Thursday—I have received information from a trustworthy source which indicates that Austria expects to have to intervene in the Balkans in coöperation with Russia. Orders have been issued to prepare for the mobilization of the army. Commanders of the army corps have been told to grant no leave to officers, and horses liable to requisition have been called in and military, railway and transport officers have been already appointed.

SWEDEN AND DENMARK.

BERLIN, Thursday.—Dispatches from Stockholm announce that the Swedish and Danish Foreign Offices are revising the neutrality regulations which were drawn up in 1885, when war was expected between Russia and England. When this is completed, it will be submitted to England and Russia for their approval. The Swedish government in view of the Russo-Japanese war, has proclaimed Stockholm and Carlskron military ports.

INVOLVING ENGLAND.

ST. PETERSBURG, Thursday.—The active preparations of Denmark and Sweden, combined with the recent presence here of a special messenger of the Kaiser, is taken as representing what the Herald has foretold weeks ago. In case England becomes involved in the war, the Baltic will be closed by the smaller powers, under the agreement and protection of Germany.

England was aimed at directly in the late Russian note concerning the independence of Korea. The Novoe Vremya takes up the matter, saying: "England keeps silent now, when Russia demands the recognition of the independence of Korea, but will howl loudly when the time arrives, which will surely come, that Russia begins to drive the Japanese back. If England does not declare herself, Russia will have full right to consider the Anglo-Japanese treaty as directly against herself."

JAPANESE THINK THEY HOLD KOREA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Feb. 24.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Three weeks ago, it was thought in some quarters here that the opening of the war would be quickly followed by a movement of the Russian forces toward the south, Ping Yang being picked as their objective point. The appearance later of Russian scouts in the vicinity of Wiju tended to confirm this opinion and created an impression that there would be an early conflict in that vicinity.

If the Russians ever intended to make this movement, they have apparently been beaten by the rapidly-moving Japanese. The latter are said to have a sufficient force to check the Russians, thus insuring the possession of Korea as soon as they are capable of making an aggressive northern movement themselves. The small bodies of mounted Russians who were scouting south of the Yalu River speedily withdrew to the north.

Storms are interfering with naval operations. The Yellow Sea is being swept by gales, heavy snow is falling and the weather is bitterly cold. The forces of Japan are going to the front splendidly equipped to withstand the cold, but despite their preparations, both sides will suffer much during the next sixty days.

PORT ARTHUR'S WEAKNESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Feb. 23.—Advices are hourly anticipated here of the third naval engagement which has taken place at Port Arthur. It was known that the fleet under command of Admiral Togo has been in motion, but the nature of the operation about to be undertaken had not been disclosed to the Navy Department. It is thought here that Admiral Togo first attacked with his torpedo boats and then shelled Port Arthur. The opinion expressed by the foreign ministry here is, however, almost united against the ability of the Japanese troops to shell the place without dangerous exposure to the heavy guns in the shore batteries.

The Japanese, however are confident that the place is vulnerable at three points on the sea side, and point in proof of their opinions the explosion of a number of shells in the town upon the occasion of the night fight. The Japanese once possessed Port Arthur, and they have the most complete information in regard to the distances and ranges. A bombardment of the place should prove highly destructive, as it is narrow and cramped. A few shells thrown over the hills into the basin holding the bay and town could not fail to do serious execution. As the Japanese shells are charged with a high explosive and are very effective, it is believed possible to render the harbor untenable for Russian warships by the bombardment, and force them to put to sea and fight in the open.

It is thought there that the withdrawal of Admiral Alexieff from Port Arthur and the removal of headquarters and records to Harbin is an admission of the weakness of the place and of its inability to make a sustained defense. It is evident that the Japanese intend to make vigorous onslaught on Port Arthur. Its possession would deprive the Russians of a naval base and insure the Japanese a base for future operations on the Lao Tung Peninsula.

STAY OF MANDJUR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Feb. 25.—The question of the stay of the Russian gunboat Mandjur at Shanghai remains unsettled. Paul Lessar, Russian Minister to China, is said to be trying to intimidate the Chinese government in the matter, declaring emphatically that Japan has little chance of victory against a Russian army 500,000 strong. The court at Peking is vacillating on this question. Russia is also pressing China to declare the neutrality of that portion of the empire which Russia already occupies.

The price of saki, the popular Japanese drink, is rising on account of the scant supply. It is said that California wine may be substituted for saki.

PRAISE FOR THE RETVIZAN.

GALLANT WORK OF RUSSIANS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—[By Alantic Cable.] Great praise is given to the Russian battleship Retvizan, which lay outside the harbor entrance, for gallant work in beating off the enemy yesterday. Her part in the action shows that the reports of the injuries which she is said to have sustained in the attack of February 8, were grossly exaggerated.

The official dispatches do not make clear the exact number of ships sent in for the purpose of blockading the throat of the harbor, or whether the four vessels destroyed were beached by the fire from the shore batteries or by the fire of the Retvizan. Consequently, also, the unknown additional details are expected from Viceroy Alexieff in the course of the day. As he is at Mukden, the report of the commander at Port Arthur first goes to him, and then is forwarded to the Czar. The report that after daylight floating torpedoes were seen in the roadstead causes anxiety.

According to the latest advices, the Japanese fleet yesterday was still visible on the horizon. The news of the Japanese repulse was received here with great rejoicing, and was looked upon as partially wiping out the score against the enemy. The official bulletins were given out too late for editorial comment, but the news of the initial success of the Russian arms was prominently displayed. Not one of the newspapers here has yet received special dispatches giving the news of the Japanese repulse.

UNDERSTANDING WITH GERMANY.

There is a growing belief here that an understanding exists between Russia and Germany relative to the developments from the war, and the diplomats are giving more attention to the likelihood of other powers becoming involved. France's enormous financial investments in Russian funds and enterprises are estimated at close to $2,000,000,000, and it is feared that in case of Russian reverses which might threaten the empire, France might be compelled to go to the support of her ally. There are suspicions of the motives of Great Britain here, of a character to cause complications in that direction.

It is strongly intimated that the return of the Russian Ambassador to Great Britain, Count Benckendorff, to St. Petersburg was not solely to bid farewell to his son previous to the latter's reparture for the Far East with his regiment, but that it was also to consult with the Russian Foreign Office relative to the British expedition to Thibet.

The government is angry at the language used by Foreign Minister Lansdowne, as printed in the recent British blue-book, on the subject of Thibet, and Ambassador Benckendorff may receive instructions to reply in kind, if exchanges on the subject continue.

The conditions in the Balkans are also considered extremely critical, and altogether the diplomatic feeling is that if the danger of a general conflagration is to be avoided, every energy should be directed, not only to limiting the sphere of operations, but toward an attempt at mediation.

They are discussing the subject with great seriousness. It is not believed that Russia will be disposed, while smarting under the humiliation of defeat, to adopt mediation, but once a decisive victory is achieved, the diplomats are inclined to believe that, owing to the Czar's sincere aversion to war, he will welcome good offices.

The Novoe Vreyma declares Great Britain's failure to protest against the violation of the neutrality of Korea, whose inviolability was guaranteed by the Anglo-Japanese treaty, proves that the treaty was directed solely against Russia.

Some old believers in the schismatics of 300 years ago, who are among the wealthiest Russians, show a disposition to place a vast sum at the disposal of the government if the occasion requires. Scores of millionaires are among them at Moscow, where they enjoy valuable concessions granted by Catherine the Great. As they are not believers in banks, the money would have to come out of their private strong-boxes.

A special dispatch from Port Arthur says Peking and Tien-tsin report that there is a considerable dissatisfaction in Chinese circles at the neutrality of China, and that the Japanese Minister, M. Ouchida, is trying to force China to side with Japan.

It is asserted that Yuan Shi Kai, the Chinese commander-in-chief, is under Japanese influence, and that he secretly recommended an alliance between China and Japan, on the ground that if Japan gets Korea she would not take Manchuria.

AGAINST A PROTECTORATE.

BRITISH SEAMEN'S GENEROSITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—A special dispatch from Hongkong says the British Admiralty officials are serving out clothing to the Russian sailors rescued at Chemulpo and that the crews of the vessels forming part of the squadron have given half a day's pay to provide luxuries for the Russian wounded.

POWERS QUESTION JAPAN'S ACT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Feb. 25.—[By Atlantic Cable.] It is the belief in the highest official quarters that the powers will support the Russian view of the invalidity of the Japanese treaty with Korea, so far as it creates a Japanese protectorate over Korea, owing to the Emperor being under duress; but it is said that no immediate action on the part of the powers is required, as the question of the recognition of the protectorate will definitely arise when the terms of peace are considered.

In the meantime, official opinion is strongly sympathetic with Russia's position, and it is considered that Russia's note to the powers protesting against Japan's violation of Korean neutrality fully protects international rights as the protest antedates the official announcement of the conclusion of the treaty. The Foreign Office considers the announcement confirmatory of the view that Russia's protest to the powers was designed to reserve all her rights and to prevent international acceptance of the treaty establishing a protectorate.

BATTLE OF CHEMULPO.

CORRESPONDENT'S ACCOUNT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NAGASAKI, Thursday, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the course of a lengthy dispatch from Chemulpo descriptive of the naval engagement there, of which he was an eyewitness, a correspondent says:

"The Variag had reached Round Island, about three thousand meters distant from the Japanese ships, when the battleship Wallasa fired the first shot. The big projectile struck the Variag amidships, and within four minutes ten similar missiles had hit her, doing terrible damage. The Variag circled in a small radius, using all her guns and endeavoring to effect an opening in the ring of Japanese through which to use her great speed to escape. The Korietz performed the same movements, but she was too old and too light and did no damage, so the Japanese left her alone.

"The terrible cannonade continued for fifty-five minutes, after thirty of which the Variag was afire. After this, many of her guns were disabled. Nevertheless, she fought gallantly and finally turned and steamed slowly back to her haven. I was able to visit the Variag, and the damage done by the Japanese shells was terrible. The bridge had been shot away and the vessel's sides were riddled. Everywhere were the ghastly indications of slaughter and the dead were left aboard to receive a grave. At 3:30 p. m., she was scuttled, the decision to blow her up having been changed.

"On board the Korietz, time fuses had been connected with the magazine. At four o'clock, the Japanese vessels appeared in the distance, and, as the hour struck, the Korietz exploded with two terrific reports and pillars of flame, while columns of smoke blackened the sky.

"Single sheets of the ship's papers were carried away to a distance of three miles. The Variag remained apparently unmoved, but the Russians boarded her again and set her afire. She blazed for one hour and a quarter, and then, slowly keeling over, settled down at six o'clock, finally disappearing with a low rumble.

"Late at night, the Japanese sent a report that they had suffered practically no damage; but in conversation with the captain of the Variag, he said he was certain he sank a Japanese torpedo boat and seriously damaged two cruisers, one of which was badly on fire, which is very creditable. Moreover, Korean fishermen report having seen the Japanese destroy the remains of a sunken warship."

SAVING THEIR BEEF.

FEAR JAPS MAY GET IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The sailing of the steamer China for the Orient has been postponed from tomorrow to Saturday. On board of the steamer tonight workmen are removing the million pounds of beef sold to the Russian government by a local firm.

Three million pounds of beef had been contracted for by the Russian government, and the first two installments were shipped on the steamers Coptic and Korea. This was seized by Japanese officials, and it is believed the local sellers received orders at almost the last moment to remove the third shipment from the China.

PASS ARMY ESTIMATES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VIENNA, Feb. 25.—The Hungarian delegation passed the ordinary and extraordinary army estimates today, as well as a credit of $3,750,000 for the purchase of new field guns.

CENSURE RAILROAD EMPLOYEES.

OGDEN (Utah) Feb. 25.—The Coroner's jury in rendering the verdict as to the cause of the cut-off disaster last Friday, may be regarded as censuring the railroad employés, inasmuch as it states that the accident might have been avoided had the powder car been a greater distance from the engine. The principal witness examined today was Engineer Stanton of the water train. Nothing new was learned by today's examination.

WAR BULLETINS FROM MANY POINTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OMAHA (Neb.) Feb. 25.—Horace G. Burt, former president of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and Mrs. Burt were passengers on the steamer Korea, reported seized by the Japanese at Nagasaki. The Korea had passed Honolulu when the war broke out, and Burt could not be notified of the opening of hostilities. His friends here have had no word from him since he sailed from San Francisco February 2.

CAMPHOR IS HIGHER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Camphor is growing rapidly in price, owing to the war in the Far East. About a week ago it was 77 cents per pound. It is now 85 cents, and it is said to be extremely scarce, even at that figure.

TO RAISE THE VARIAG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Measures are being taken for raising the cruiser Variag at Chemulpo, according to a Times dispatch from Tokio. The vessel is said to be not seriously damaged, but the Korietz is a complete wreck.

TRANSPORTING THE REFUGEES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The British cruiser Amphitrite left Wednesday for Colombo with the Russian refugees who escaped from the Variag and the Korietz to the cruiser Talbot, says a Herald dispatch from Seoul. Those who escaped to the Italian cruiser Elba will leave today on an Italian gunboat for Hongkong, but their final destination is not decided.

DISMISSED BY KOREA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEOUL, Wednesday, 5:50 p.m.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Korean government has dismissed Yi Yong-Ik, and stripped him of all titles except that of general. He left this country for Japan.

SAVINGS BANK SECURE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The rumors that the savings bank will not meet the demands of payment of deposits in consequence of the war are emphatically denied by the Official Messenger.

RUSSIANS MOVING OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PEKING, Feb. 25.—The Director-General of Railroads reports that 100 Russian infantrymen, an officer, a gun and a large supply of ammunition, are at Yao Yang Ho and that 200 Russian cavalrymen and two guns have arrived at Lui Li Chang.

CONTRABAND OF WAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—Russia's views of contraband of war will shortly be laid before the powers. The technical committee of the Foreign Office is now considering the matter.

VANCOUVER JAPS' FUNDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Feb. 25.—The Japanese of Vancouver have contributed $10,000 to the war fund. The Japanese of San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver have now raised, inclusive of Chinese contributions, $235,000. In Vancouver, the contributions were from laboring men earning from 80 cents to $2 a day, the average contribution being $12.50 a man. The Japanese consul says: "A large sum will go forward from here on every vessel until the end of the war."

AMERICAN DESTROYER FLEET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORT SAID, Feb. 20.—The United States torpedo boat destroyer flotilla, escorted by the auxiliary cruiser Buffalo, has arrived here on its way to the Philippines. The vessels had a rough trip, but sustained no damage.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The Associated Press is authorized to say that there is no truth in the rumor current here that the Russian embassy at Washington will be entrusted to a charge d'affaires as a sign of the displeasure over the conduct of the commander of the United States gunboat Vicksburg at Chemulpo in refusing to join with the commanders of the other foreign warships in the protest against the attack of the Japanese fleet on the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz. The Foreign Office declares that nothing of the sort is contemplated.

GUNS FOR PUNCHBOWL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HONOLULU, Feb. 25.—Col. John McClellan, commander of the United States military district of Honolulu, is discussing with Gov. Carter the advisability of placing a battery of the largest guns on the Punchbowl crater, close behind the city of Honolulu. It is reported that consideration of this plan may be recommended, instead of the recent suggestions of the army board for a general shore line of fortifications, on account of the Punchbowl fortifications being quicker of completion and more effective than long-range defenses along the ocean shores. The Commercial Advertiser urges Gov. Carter to protest against the proposed placing of artillery on the Punchbowl. It declares that practice firing from that point would break every window in Honolulu. There is a scarcity of Japanese rice in Honolulu, and the dealers will be obliged to make importations from the United States.

CHESHIRE GOING TO MUKDEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Fleming D. Cheshire, the newly-appointed United States Consul to Mukden, one of the three American representatives named for Manchurian ports under the provisions of the treaty of last October, has arrived here en route to the Orient. Regarding the recent announcement that Russia would probably object to the new consuls assuming their functions in Manchuria, Consul Cheshire says he has received no advices on this point, and is simply following out instructions given by him in Washington to proceed at once to his post. He will sail tomorrow.

REGIMENT OF HEBREWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Leopold Moss of Chicago, who is in this city, has announced his intention of recruiting here a regiment of Hebrews for the Japanese army. Moss was a colonel on the staff of the late Gov. Altgeld of Illinois, and served as a captain in the war with Spain. Officials of the Japanese government here have repeatedly stated that the country's laws do not permit the service of aliens, so that Col. Moss's regiment is not at all likely to reach the front.

SALINAS JAPS SUBSCRIBE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SALINAS, Feb. 25.—The Japanese of this vicinity, numbering over 200, and augmented by numbers from Monterey, Castroville, and other towns held a meeting here this afternoon and immediately resolved, after many patriotic speeches, to raise a fund for the aid of their country in its war against Russia. Nearly one half of the number present also volunteered in case their services should be needed, though they are not liable to military duty. After a large sum had been subscribed and more promised, the meeting adjourned, with three cheers for Japan and America.

TOKIO, Feb. 25.—The views expressed by Emperor William of Germany before and after the beginning of the war, which are characterized here as broad and disinterested, have created a favorable impression and are tending to remove the prejudice which at one time existed against him.

THE CZAR CONFERS HONORS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—The Czar has conferred upon Gen. Kuropatkin the diamond insignia of the Order of St. Alexander Nevski. Lieut.-Gen. Fulton, assistant Governor-General of Warsaw, has been appointed prefect of St. Petersburg. The government of Warsaw has long been held up as a model to St. Petersburg and Moscow, nevertheless this appointment was wholly unexpected.

PICKS ADLAI FOR WINNER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A very shrewd Democratic politician, whose prophecies his associates listen to with respect because he does not make them haphazard, said today:

"Both Cleveland and Gray have become so associated in the minds of many Democrats with the end of all things in 1904 that I don't believe either would get a two-thirds vote at St. Louis. Hill and Gorman are out of the question. Cockrell's candidacy is used merely as a stalking-horse, and that Hearst boom makes you tired.

"Adlai E. Stevenson is a man who has a better show than any of the candidates you see mentioned in the Eastern papers. He has never given offense to either element in his party by bolting its candidates or condemning its platforms. If Bryan had not been, by force of circumstances, the essential candidate of the Democracy in 1900, Stevenson would have party in that campaign.

"Bryan still has grip enough party to make a two-thirds problematical for any candidate whom he cherishes a distance."

Laborite Livernash Aid to Unions.

Scott Sees the President— tal Cases.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. H. Livernash, representative in Congress from San Francisco, in a sketch of his life written by himself for the Congressional Directory, that he was elected to congress "as the candidate of the Union Labor party."

For some years, union labor in San Francisco and vicinity has been claiming that, so far as possible, government ships be built in navy yards. This request has been backed not only by the labor unions of California, but by labor unions and workingmen in other parts of the United States, and has been indorsed generally by Republican and Representatives from California for some years back. These Senators and Representatives have also been professed labor-union men.

Representative Bell of the Second California district is a Democrat and is the only one of three Democrats in the delegation from California for this Congress who has attracted substantial attention by qualities of ability. It occurred to Representative Bell that it would be a good idea to have two colliers provided for in this year's naval appropriation bill constructed in a navy yard. He thought, with many other Democrats and Republicans, that the construction of these two colliers in navy yards would go far toward testing the capacity of such yards for shipbuilding; and incidentally, he hoped that one of the colliers would be assigned to Mare Island for construction. So he prepared an amendment to the naval appropriation bill providing that one of these two colliers be built at some navy yard on the Atlantic Coast, and the other at the navy yard on the Pacific Coast.

This morning, Representative Bell went to the members of the California delegation and asked their help in supporting his amendment. They agreed, but when Mr. Bell met Mr. Livernash, the friend of union labor, the latter turned upon him, called him a cheap politician who was playing to the galleries, adverting a cheap trick to win labor-union support and used other rather violent language. Mr. Bell was astounded at such language from the man who is presumed to be the champion of anything that union labor wants, and, as a result, Mr. Bell and Mr. Livernash are not upon speaking terms and are said, further, to be wholly unlikely of ever being such again.

Mr. Bell would not discuss the incident today. The House of Representatives, however, thought so well of his amendment that it went half way with him and provided that one of the two colliers shall be built at some navy yard.

SCOTT SEES THE PRESIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Senator Scott of West Virginia had a long conference with the President today, discussing fully with him matters relating to national politics. Several men have been mentioned in connection with the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, but thus far the subject has not proceeded beyond the claim of suggestion. Among the names men proposed for the chairmanship are former Gov. Murray Crane of Massachusetts; Postmaster-General Henry C. Payne of Wisconsin, now acting chairman of the committee; Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, Senator Scott of West Virginia and Gen. Charles Dick of Ohio.

Mr. Crane [illegible] a personal friend of the President and one of his closest political advisers. The President desires, in the event of his nomination for the Presidency, that Mr. Crane should be satisfied in an important capacity with the conduct of the Presidential campaign, but it is known that the latter declines to undertake the responsibility of directing the campaign as chairman on account of his health.

THE CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—SENATE—The Senate met today, the Agricultural Appropriation Bill was again taken up, and a number of minor amendments, mostly verbal in character, were made.

Mr. Gallinger called attention to the appropriation of $15,000 for investigating maple syrups, saying that the same amount was appropriated last year, and suggesting that some results should have been announced by this time. He offered an amendment requiring that a report of progress be made to Congress. Mr. Gallinger's amendment was accepted.

FREE RURAL DELIVERY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—An amendment offered by Heyburn authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to prohibit interstate shipments of misnamed and misrepresented fruit trees, provoked a long discussion. It was supported by Messrs. Heyburn and Clark of Wyoming, and opposed by Messrs. Tillman, Lodge, Teller, Proctor and Bailey.

Mr. Teller, in opposing the amendment, spoke of the growing expense of the government. He said there had been no general demand for rural free mail delivery, and predicted that the expenses of that system would be increased to $100,000,000.

Mr. Bailey said there had been great criticism of Mr. Cleveland's administration because the total appropriations had reached $248,000,000. The people were now paying $600,000,000, without uttering much complaint.

Mr. Bailey also referred to the free rural-delivery system, saying that $30,000,000 is now being expended to carry mail to the people who would prefer to go after it. He predicted that it would not be ten years before government carriers would be delivering the hats and shoes of Mr. Warren, the Senator from Wyoming, at his door.

"Providing the Republican party remains in power," said Mr. Warren, interrupting, and Mr. Bailey assented to the condition, saying the success of the Republican party would be in the interests of the Senator's "kind."

Mr. Tillman interrupted with the observation that both parties are equally chargeable with responsibility for the rural free-delivery system, "and," he said, "I want to take equal credit for it." He said his conviction was that the system was a great improvement over the old, and said that if Mr. Bailey did not consider it a blessing he was "badly off."

Mr. Lodge sustained a point of order against Mr. Heyburn's amendment, and the debate continued. Mr. Clay defended the Agricultural Department against charges of extravagance. The Agricultural Appropriation Bill was then passed as amended and the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Appropriation Bill was immediately taken up.

On a point of order made by Mr. Nelson, the committee amendment providing that no bureau of the public service shall be transferred from one executive department to another was ruled out as general legislation.

The bill was passed, and at 5:40 p.m. the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—HOUSE—"Don't give up the ship," was the plea made to the House today by Mr. Meyer of Virginia, who opened the debate on the Naval Bill, and addressed himself to the pending amendment of Mr. Burton to strike out the provision for the battleship authorized in the bill. Mr. Meyer is to offer a motion to recommit the bill to the committee with instructions to eliminate the provision for two cruisers, and to make several other changes, and explained that if he were to follow his own judgment and desires, he would urge upon his colleagues the acceptance of the whole building programme.

"But," continued Mr. Meyer, "yielding to the judgment of many of my colleagues, I am quite willing to advise a somewhat more moderate programme."

Senator Gorman's announcement that the navy was "top-heavy," and that there were now too many ships, guns and men, was made the text for remarks by Mr. Mudd of Maryland. He said the statement of Mr. Gorman was important, in view of the rumors of the Senator's candidacy for the Presidential nomination. In Maryland, he said, Mr. Gorman had no great record for economy.

W. W. Kitchin of North Carolina said that the facts presented by Mr. Burton had not been answered in any way, although his Republican colleagues "had pulled" the Republican platform of Ohio on him, and declared him to be out of line with his party. Mr. Kitchin named various foreign governments, and asked after each: "Are you afraid of any of those nations?" His answer was "No." He said the only cause for fear was in the present occupant of the White House, adding, "and he will not be there long."

PROGRAMME JUSTIFIED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Mr. Gillett said the present status of the war between Russia and Japan justified the building programme in the bill.

In concluding the debate on the Burton amendment, Mr. Foss pointed to the scurrying to the interior of the country of the frequenters of summer resorts by the sea during the Spanish war. The rich, he declared, paid a visit to the banks and got their strong boxes and fled to the interior.

Mr. Burton's amendment was lost on a rising vote of 63 to 126. Mr. Burton of Ohio and Mr. Bishop of Michigan were the only Republicans to support the amendment, while fully twenty Democrats voted against the measure.

W. W. Kitchin moved to strike from the bill the provision for two armored cruisers.

Mr. Foss opposed the amendment, and Mr. De Armond of Missouri expressed surprise at the drift of affairs in this country as to the naval programme. Now we first found out how many and what kind of naval ships Great Britain, Germany, Russia and the others powers were building, and then we tried to keep up to or outdo them.

Mr. Kitchin's motion was defeated, 65 to 125.

An amendment was offered by Mr. Roberts of Massachusetts increasing the number of torpedo boats authorized from two to five, but without acting on it the House, at 5:05 p.m., adjourned.

BUSINESS.

Local wholesale business continues fair in volume. Bank clearings for the week ending yesterday were $5,531,-916.03, against $4,478,535.75 in 1903, and $4,224,650.84 for the corresponding week in 1902.

Belief that wheat supplies would be very limited before harvest, together with alarm in foreign markets over bear prospects took May option up to 109 and July to 98¾. The closing figures were lower. The average of the day's gains at New York for the most active stocks was above a point. The closing was strong, but very dull.

PRICE AND POSTAGE.

The following table shows the price of the Midwinter Number when sold at The Times office. The edition will be for sale at city news stands as well as out-of-town news agencies, wrapped ready for mailing. TOTEM TURNED DOWN.

A dispatch from Chicago notes that under a decision recently rendered by the board of election commissioners of Cook county, primary election ballots marked with the union label or any other device will hereafter, if cast, be treated as void, and will not be counted. This decision is manifestly in accordance with common sense and common fairness. In most or all the States, the election laws provide that there shall be no marks of any kind on the official ballots, other than those distinctly provided for and authorized by law. Notwithstanding this clear provision, the totem, or union label, has in many States been permitted on official ballots, in distinct violation of the law. Without a doubt, thousands of ballots which were thus rendered illegal under the law have been counted, in Chicago and other cities. Certainly, there is no valid or sufficient reason why an exception to the law's provision should be made in the case of the union totem, even if it were not a violation of the law to make any such exception. But inasmuch as it is a distinct violation of the law, there is but one course to pursue, and that is the course which the board of election commissioners of Cook county have pursued—and it is obviously a course which they ought long ago to have taken.

The unmitigated gall which prompts the custodians of the union totem to seek to have it placed upon public documents of any kind is something which ought to have received its quietus long ago. For all public printing the entire public are required to pay. Inasmuch as the vast majority of the people neither belong to unions nor believe in their policies and methods, the wrong and injustice of plastering public work with the union totem is manifest. The small minority of perniciously active workers should not thus be permitted to impose upon the vast majority of independent workers (comprising the general public) who work with their hands rather than with their jaws. The time will yet come—and it is fast approaching—when a candidate for office who allows the totem to be placed upon his election cards and other printing will be snowed under by an overwhelming majority of votes cast by independent and law-abiding citizens. Speed the auspicious day!

THE PACE THAT KILLS.

Suicide has become increasingly and alarmingly prevalent in this country during the past few years. Many causes might plausibly be advanced for this distressing condition of affairs, but the main reason for the increase of suicide may undoubtedly be found in the strenuous life that most Americans lead nowadays—the pace that kills. Sometimes it leads to paresis, sometimes to chronic invalidism, sometimes to sudden death, and not infrequently to insanity and suicide. The routine life of the average American citizen who is prominent in the world's affairs, whether as a manufacturer, a merchant, a banker, a stock broker or a statesman, is enough to excite the wonder of a thoughtful man who is able to get outside of things as they are, and look at them as they should be. What real enjoyment of life has, for instance, the stock broker, who spends the business hours of the day in a frantic struggle for advantage, snatching a hasty swallow of nourishment at noon, and then, perhaps, plunging into dissipation in the evening, in order to relieve his overwrought mind? What enjoyment in life has the average multi-millionaire? He is simply an overworked man who manages immense enterprises which take up all his time, and often keep him awake at night, and in return he receives—what? His board and lodging.

Happy the man who is content—the man into whose blood the deadly gambling mania has not entered, the man who seeks daily to do a little good, so far as it lies in his power, to be of some cheer to a downcast fellow-creature, to spend a little less than he earns, and to take a genuine, unaffected enjoyment in the beauties of nature. Such a man need not envy a millionaire, or the Emperor, or the statesman whose name is in everybody's mouth, nor will such a man ever commit suicide.

RUNNING A CITY.

One of the peculiar phases of American municipal life, and undoubtedly one of the chief causes of the corruption that is so common in American municipalities, is the carelessness with which citizens permit men to be elected to important offices to whom they would not confide the responsibility of running a little retail business of any kind—men who are sometimes corrupt and frequently incompetent. As The Times has frequently said, it is altogether illogical that in a city, or county, or State election we should devote so much attention to the nomination and election of men who merely have clerical offices to fill, and almost ignore the responsibility of choosing people who for the next term are to make the laws—either good laws or bad laws—for an important city, county or State, whether acting as members of a City Council, of a Board of Supervisors, or of a State Legislature. It is entirely unnecessary in this connection to specify any individual cases or to "name names," but any one who has reached middle life and has been at all observant may easily go back in his memory and call to mind a long list of men who have served as lawmakers in the city, or county, or State who have been either incompetent or corrupt—sometimes both.

It is time that good citizens should seek to bring about a change in this condition of affairs, especially in regard to city and county government, for that we have always with us as a power for good or harm, whereas—fortunately—the State Legislature sits for only a few weeks at a time. One of the most important questions to be considered in connection with an improvement of the caliber of our municipal lawmakers is in regard to remuneration. The salary of $100 a month, now paid to members of the City Council, is either much too small or much too large. That is to say, a first-class man of affairs, such as we should have to make laws for this city of manifest destiny, cannot, of course, afford to give his time to the city for a paltry $100 a month. If he is a first-class business man, holding a prominent position in the business world, he should be able to make, at the very least, five times as much as that, in his own business. It should be remembered that the time devoted by the Councilmen to their regular meetings only represents a small part of the time which they are supposed to devote to city affairs. There are board meetings, and special meetings, and matters of importance to be looked up between times; so that the Councilman who does his duty will find that he must put in from six to eight hours a day, six days a week.

On the other hand, if it is not thought proper to offer a fair salary to the Councilmen, then the position should be made an honorary one, as it was here until a few years ago, and an effort should be made to interest men of means, and ability, and unquestioned integrity, who have retired or partially retired from business life, and can accordingly afford to devote a considerable portion of their time to public duties. This class is not anything like so numerous in this country as it is in Europe, for Americans have a habit of keeping in harness till they die. Still, there is here quite a sprinkling of such men, who could fill the position of Councilman with credit and honor. As an extra inducement, it might be tacitly understood that a term as Councilman, filled to the satisfaction of the people, should place the official in line for election to the honorable office of Mayor, just as members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce are, in turn, elected to the presidency of that institution.

In this way we may perhaps succeed in placing the business of running a city on a somewhat higher plane, or at least in making it as practical and decent as the managing of the ordinary department store, or hotel, or factory.

And even Senator Hoar climbed into the Panama band wagon when it made its last round.

LEROY E. MOSHER—FAREWELL.

"To keep the lost one company."

YESTERDAY, under the sod of Rosedale, was hidden away a rare man, from whose mortal body the spirit had taken its flight to a better country, let us hope.

I knew Leroy E. Mosher well for more than a quarter of a century. During much of that period we were closely connected in the work of this journal, whose destiny and good name were very near to our hearts. I can say now that I never called upon my comrade and coworker to join me in the execution of any task, or in the performance of any duty, however arduous or severe, without a quick, ready and effective response. He was cheerfulness itself, no matter how strenuous the duty to be performed. He proved himself, over and over again, to be every inch a man—a manly man, brave, loyal, true and enduring. He was a steadfast friend, an exquisite companion, an ever-ready coadjutor, upon whom I could and did count with profound confidence. I learned to trust with implicit faith in his fidelity and devotion, and to lean upon him as one whom I had seen tried in many sore conflicts, and whom I had always found true—true as Truth itself.

He was filled with a high and chivalric pride in his corps. He never hesitated when the bugle sounded the "Assembly;" it was enough for him to know that Duty called him to march in line with "ours."

Now and here, when it is all too late to avail him—too late to reach his deadened ears—I bear willing testimony to his high courage, his unvarying loyalty to every trust, his splendid fidelity. Duty and Honor were his watchwords; he never failed nor faltered when the hour of trial came. He served this journal with marked devotion, with signal ability, and with conspicuous brilliancy. He was true to his family, his friends and his duty. He "kept up his end" in every struggle (and they have been many,) requiring loyalty, tenacity, strength and brave effort.

Mr. Mosher was a man of fine sensibilities, of fixed integrity, of high honor. He was permeated with patriotism; he loved his country and her matchless flag. For this he fought as a soldier when young, and in its emblazoned folds he was wrapped when the Great Captain, Death, gave him his last command.

He gloried in the name and achievements of his country, and reverenced that same banner of beauty and of glory that floats in majesty above the land which gave him birth. His soul was aflame with patriotic ardor; and after a third of a century of peace, when the war cloud again lowered over the land, he wanted to go where he might once more hear the clang of sabers and the shriek of shell.

Mr. Mosher was known as a prose writer of exceptional merit, his style being clear, direct, strong, incisive and graphic, enabling him to write with point and power, with force and fire. His verse, though not abundant, possessed originality, grace and singular beauty. He was peculiarly happy in the treatment of patriotic subjects; and his sonorous periods were often enough to make the reader imagine that he could see the shot-torn flag floating above charging battalions or bring to his alert ear the rattle of musketry and the boom of cannon. In his pen style he showed the versatility of true genius, coupled with the dash and élan of the literary lancer that he was. His written words were most often light, cheerful and debonair; and he could give graceful and generous praise where it had been fairly earned; but he could indulge in fierce excoriation when deserved. He never fell short of the mark when it came to exposing shams or uncovering humbugs, whether they were men or things. The felicity of his verse and the power and incisiveness of his prose gave to his writings exceptional merit and won for them popular fame.

Leroy E. Mosher cherished in his manly breast a gallant spirit; he possessed a sweet and a noble soul. He was an intrepid soldier in whatever cause he enlisted himself. Such a man—such a well-rounded and graceful character—could not help being loved and admired by his friends, coworkers and daily associates, and by countless thousands more. His companionship was a perennial delight. Close knowledge of such a true, sweet, simple and beautiful character is enough to make us rejoice that in human nature it is possible for such qualities to reside.

The world is better for men like him who has thus untimely gone before. His dust lies beneath the sod of his adopted California, which he loved, and his soul has passed the Dark River to the brighter Beyond. The good that he did in life will surely live after him, and his cherished memory will abide in the hearts of a.. who knew him here and who wish him eternal happiness in the impenetrable Hereafter.

Faithful soul—true comrade—gallant spirit—good friend, peace be with you forever! A last salute and a long farewell!

HARRISON GRAY OTIS.

The mysterious metal, radium, appears to be much more widely distributed over the earth than was at first suspected. It is now stated that radio-activity is the secret of the therapeutic qualities of most mineral springs. While radium is widely distributed, the trouble is that it is diffused in such small quantities that it is a difficult and expensive matter to extract it. There is also enough gold in the waters of the ocean to pay the national debts of the world, and leave a few billions over, but, so far, no successful method of extracting it at a profit has been discovered.

It is again announced that a method of photographing in colors has been discovered, this time in Chicago. Similar announcements have been made so frequently that most people will require to "be shown" before they accept the discovery of this important improvement as a fact. That success may eventually be achieved along this line is probable. In fact, in the present age of scientific wonders, it is a rash man who declares anything to be impossible.

It is nearly time for the rainmakers of various sorts, sizes and conditions to be getting in their work again. To be sure, we can worry along for a few days yet without any more moisture; but it is well to take time by the forelock in matters of this kind.

A Chicago paper tells us how to obtain radium in a very simple manner. Take common pitchblende, treat it with carbonite of soda, sulphuric and hydrochloric acid, draw off the sulphate, polonium, actinium and barium and you have it. After this explanation, there is no reason why even the very poorest of us cannot have radium three times a day if we desire it.

To a man up a tree it looks as though the Democratic party would split open so wide on national politics this year that the former fissures in that ancient structure will look like mere hair lines.

There is a smell of spring in the air these days, and the California humming girl throngs the streets of the old pueblo and the highways adjacent thereunto. What more could the heart desire?

A brother of King Peter of Servia has enlisted with the Russians. King Peter, himself, is generally able to satisfy his appetite for hostilities without leaving the royal premises.

It is reported that Colombia is preparing to invade Panama with her army. Colombia is getting ready to get her "army" locked up for disturbing the peace.

Wouldn't it have been quite a lovely joke if the police had pulled in some of those prominent citizens among those "also present" at the prize fight, as witnesses?

Col. Bryan continues to prophesy that the next President will be a Democrat. But the colonel has long since ceased to draw a salary as a political prophet.

A man from Coney Island has entered in the St. Louis airship race. Coney Island has always been noted as a place where people were able to fly high.

While China continues to protest that she is neutral, it is believed that she is putting in her spare moments concealing a flatiron up her sleeve.

PROMINENT PEOPLE.

Prince Louis Napoleon has been recalled from Geneva to St. Peterburg. He will probably be given supreme command of the Russian cavalry in Manchuria.

Cardinal Gotti has decided to discuss at the next meeting of the congregation of the propaganda the division of the bishopric of Rhode Island into two districts.

"Woody Crest," the home for crippled children maintained by Helen M. Gould near her mansion at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, will be reopened soon, greatly enlarged and improved.

W. T. Stead, exhausted by his efforts in London daily newspaper experiment, has been ordered by his physicians to take a complete rest, and has sailed to South Africa.

Rev. E. Henry Byrona, a Congregational minister at New Smyrna, Fla., is making an effort to arrange for a joint reunion of Confederate and Federal veterans some time this summer.

The Duchesse d'Uzes has espoused the cause of the French religious society schools, which the government has been seeking to suppress. Thus far she has met only defeats in the court.

Senator Ward of Fredericktown, N. B., was 100 years old on February 19.

James B. Morrow, for many years editor-in-chief of the Cleveland Leader, has resigned his postion and will retire from the editorial profession on March 1. He first became identified with the Leader as a reporter a score of years ago.

M. Caruse, the great tenor of the Metropolitan Company, New York, who has just sailed for home, made the following comment just at embarking: "I have but two criticisms to make of the American critics. They object to my clothes and my fat. When I return I trust that I shall have overcome those objectionable features."

Senator Weldon Brindon Heyburn of Idaho is a new man in the upper House at Washington, but he has made a distinctly good impression as a man of force with a bright future. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1852 of Quaker parentage. He was admitted to the bar in 1876 and has practiced law, chiefly in Idaho, ever since.

Tony Robert Fleury, the new president of the Society of French Artists, to succeed Bourguereau, carries his sixty-five years lightly. Straight and well built, he has the easy bearing of the finished society man. As a son of a great artist and member of the academy he has behind him all the traditions necessary for an artist's career.

A statue of Louis Joliet, the French explorer, will be placed in the little park in front of the public library building at Joliet, Ill., to commemorate the memory of the man for whom the town is named. Sigvald Asbjornsen, who made the statue of Lief Erickson in Humboldt Park, is the sculptor, and he has succeeded in imparting a winning strength of character to the face of the famous explorer.

Frank G. Carpenter, author of the series of interviews now appearing in The Times Magazine on the labor problem and allied subjects, is a graduate of Wooster University, from which he graduated in 1877. After that he was a newspaper man in Cleveland and other cities, and finally went to Washington as a correspondent. He has been a great traveler. He makes his home in Washington city.

TO LEROY E. MOSHER.

("The Stranded Bugle.")

This battered bugle yet again
Shall breathe the soul of melody.
Though its last earthly note doth cry
A wandering sound 'twixt sea and sky,
A moan of loss and pain.

This battered bugle—let it lie
Upon the tide of Time and Love,
Trusting within some kindly cove,
Drifting, at last some hour shall prove
Its music could not die.

Its music! Now 'mid falling tears
We, who have heard it, softly tell
How sweet and sad it rose and fell,
And how it charmed us with its spell
Through all our war-worn years.

O Thou who guardest all the deep,
This broken bugle Thou canst take Unto Thy mercy's breath and make
Diviner song whose strains shall wake
Within the gates of Sleep.

LOU V. CHAPIN.

VALE! MOSHER!

Vale! Mosher! Brave scribe, upon the strand
Where backward ocean rolls and sets the land
To service of the living man, you open wide
The gates of vast eternity, and on the tide
Of e'er-departing frail humanity depart,
Leaving to us a still and silent heart.
Farewell! Great Heart! thy printed words and songs,
With all the comfort that to them belongs,
Shall live in our remembrance. Thy life
To other men, to daughters—wife
Hath been of blessed use. Flowers and tears
We lay upon thy grave, and, filled with fears,
And yet with perfect trust in God's imperial reign,

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Lillian Blauvelt.

It takes a combination of qualities to make so fascinating a singer as Mme. Blauvelt. Granted so perfectly-trained a voice as hers, and you have one very essential factor; add to this a dainty personality and the subtle charms of gracious womanhood, and the resulting total is Lillian Blauvelt as she appeared before last night's fashionable audience at the Mason Operahouse. By the way, why can't we call her "Miss" Blauvelt, or "Mrs." Something or other? Or, plain "Lillian Blauvelt" would do very nicely. She is just a pretty personification of the fine American woman, and the Frenchified stagey "Madame" doesn't grace her winsome unconventionality.

Madame Blauvelt—after all, she has a right to be called that if she so chooses—gave a well selected lyric programme in four languages last evening. She sang her Italian arias as much Italiano as a prima-donna of La Scala, and her German numbers with as Teutonic an accent as if she were an ambitious fraulein just from the Berlin conservatory.

Her mastery of language is good—French, English, German and Italian—diverse as the countries of warmth or cold from which they come, seem equally easy tongues. She has not conquered all the schools of singing, and this she probably could not do, for the result might be a conglomerate jumble. Her method and style are eminently Italian. Once in her German ballads did she depart from this, the deep feeling and soft tenderness of Brahms' "O' Wuesst ich Doch," taking her out of the lyric sphere and making of Lillian Blauvelt the concert singer, Lillian Blauvelt the actress. Her English airs were given simply with the naive charm of a consummate but unassuming artist.

Her voice is a light soprano of brilliant quality almost perfectly trained. It would do any young student good to watch the way she breathes, and her superb chest and smooth legato phrasing in the most extended passages form a fine example of cause and effect. In places there is a tendency to sharpness, and a little shrillness of higher notes, but the restrained strength evident in all her tone-production modifies this slight defect. There is no especial warmth in her voice; she is not a creator of pulsing life in sound—rather a carver of cold but flawless marble. Do you recall the brilliant, jetting torrents of bubbling melody that came from the swelling throat of the last singing woodbird that you heard? That is how Lillian Blauvelt pours the trembling cataract of a trill between her even white teeth and produces momentary flashes of brilliant staccato.

If she would just increase her pneumatic supply a little more before the last noted of her songs she would be quite perfect.

It was a concert that was good to hear, and the audience liked it so well that she will give another one, appearing once more at the Mason next Monday evening. Her programme next time will resemble last night's offering.

Mme. Blauvelt was ably accompanied last night by Mrs. M. B. Tilton, and was kind with her encores. Her programme included the following classics and ballads by authors of today:

Part I.—"Son Troppo" (Galuppi;) "Amarilli" (Gaccini;) "Una Voce poco fa" (Rossini;) "Dle Lotusblume" (Schumann;) "Fruhlingslied" (Mendelssohn;) "O' Wuesst ich Doch" (Brahms;) "Will Niemand Singen" (Hildach;) "Les Vepres Sicilienne" (Verdi.)

Part II.—"Charmant Papillon" (Campra;) "Veille Chanson" (Bizet;) "Pourquoi" (Delibes;) "Bolero" (Dessauer;) "Stolen Wings" (Willeby;) "Ecstasy" (Beach;) "'Twas April" (Nevin;) "My Bairnie" (Vannah;) "They Say" (Randegger.)

POPE AND SETH LOW.

Archbishop Farley Introduces Former Mayor to Pontiff, Who is Exceedingly Gracious to Americans.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, Feb. 25.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Pope received Archbishop Farley in private audience today. Regarding the Baltimore fire, the Pope referred with admiration to the report he had received that Baltimore would rebuild without help, and exclaimed: "It is the true American spirit. You do everything on a grand scale, even in the case of fires."

Archbishop Farley introduced former Mayor Seth Low and Mrs. Low, John D. Crimmins and others. The party was accompanied by Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American college. When the Pope heard Mr. Low's name he remembered him immediately, and pointed to a table on which lay the engrossed resolution bound in black morocco, and mounted with silver, sent at the time of the death of Pope Leo. The Pontiff congratulated the ex-Mayor, saying that he knew that although he was not a Catholic, he was a good Christian, and gave each of the visitors his hand to kiss.

The Pope afterward addressed all present, Archbishop Farley translating his remarks. The Pontiff said he could not adequately express the gratification which he experienced at receiving Americans at the Vatican. America was known in his heart for her greatness as a nation and her generosity as a people. The Pope then gave the Americans his benediction and extended it to the members of their families, adding:

"This blessing comes from a full heart."

While tears came into his eyes, affecting those present, the Pope continued:

"I must give you something."

His Holiness began rummaging in his drawers among papers and others things. He finally discovered some medals, and gave a silver one to each of the party. He also gave gold and copper medals to the archbishop and and ex-Mayor.

AMERICANS FEAR LOSS OF TRADE.

RUSSIANS CANCELLING ORDERS IN ST. PETERSBURG DAILY.

Appeal Taken to Consul-General Watts Who Has Written to the State Department—London Post Thinks Dewey's Guns Shattered a Superstition.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The irritation against the United States on account of the supposed unfriendly attitude of that country toward Russia, which was slightly noticeable throughout the negotiations, seems to have become daily more pronounced, since the Vicksburg incident at Chemulpo, when the commander of this American gunboat is said to have refused to unite with the commanders of other foreign warships at Chemulpo to protest against the fighting which resulted in the loss of Russian warships, the Variag and Koriets, and the fact that the Vicksburg did not take on board survivors of the Russian ships.

American business men here are really concerned about the possible effect on trade. Within the last few days, orders for American goods have been countermanded, the only explanation given being that prospective purchasers did not desire to buy American goods under the present circumstances. United States Consul-General Watts has been appealed to in the case of an American firm which had a large contract for school supplies, the contract having been peremptorily canceled. Orders for the importation of a big consignment of wood pulp have also been countermanded, the intending purchaser saying in his letter that he could not be expected to do business with American after the Vicksburg incident. Mr. Watts has felt it to be his duty to write to the State Department pointing out the state of public feeling here and the great prospective damage to American trade unless measures were taken to allay the irritation.

Americans here believe that an official explanation of the Vicksburg incident would be opportune and have the excellent effect. The government, officially, has not taken notice of the incident, being without direct official advices from the Far East on the subject. In government circles, however, it is seen plainly that Russian susceptibilities have been wounded, and the fear is expressed that should Washington now disregard Russia and proceed to the exequaturs for the newly-appointed American consuls at Mukden, and Antung from Peking and attempt to send those officials to their posts, a really unpleasant incident might be created.

Russia does not want to be placed in the position of refusing to allow these consuls to enter upon their duties, but with a state of war existing and commerce at a standstill, military considerations are paramount, and Russia might consider herself warranted in interpreting such a course on the part of the United States to be political rather than commercial. The refusal of Russia to allow Mr. Morgan, the newly-appointed American Consul at Port Dalny, to go to his post at present, is based solely on the military situation, which may compel all foreigners to leave Port Dalny. The sincere hope is expressed that the United States will not embarrass Russia further by pressing the question of consular representation at this time.

JAPAN PAYS WHISKY BILL.

TOKIO, Feb. 25.—The Japanese government today paid the famous White whisky claim by handing to United States Minister Griscom a draft for $115,000 in favor of the American Trading Company. The claim arose from a customs decision rendered in 1890, holding an importation of 3000 barrels of whisky to be alcohol, and increasing the duty. Japan at first rejected the claim for repayment of the amount alleged to have been overcharged by the customs department, but Minister Griscom, on arriving at Tokio, renewed it and pressed the case with firmness. His success in securing payment is very gratifying to American commercial men, and a settlment of the matter is regarded as another mark of the friendliness of Japan for America.

At Denver, the Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society has been organized for the purpose of establishing a free hospital for the purpose of treating indigent Jewish consumptives who go to Colorado for their health.

"TAPS" SOUNDED OVER MOSHER.

SOLDIER AND JOURNALIST IS LAID TO REST.

A mournful blast from a bugle, yet sweet and tender as a mother's lullaby, when she rocks her fretful babe to rest, a limpid cadence dying on the evening breeze until the last pathetic note was scarce more than a sigh from the throat of melody.

The "taps" was sounded for Leroy Mosher as the tired soldier, poet, journalist, business man and faithful friend was laid to rest in the silent peace of the dead."

The funeral of Mr. Mosher took place yesterday afternoon, and the large attendance of comrades, fellow-workmen and citizens prominent in all walks of life was a marked tribute to the man whose untimely death was a shock to the community. The love and esteem in which he was held was also attested by the numerous floral tributes that were heaped upon his grave.

A public service was held at his late residence, No. 417 West Washington street, at 1:30 o'clock. This was attended only by the mourning relatives, pallbearers and a few friends. Rev. Robert J. Burdette officiated.

The last-taking of the widow and friends from their beloved dead was a heart-rending, but after it was accomplished, the body, followed by the mourners, was taken to Simpson Auditorium, where the public obsequies were held. In front of the auditorium, the detachment of Stanton Post, G.A.R., was drawn up in open ranks between which the casket was borne into the building, while the comrades stood with heads uncovered.

A large delegation from the Sunset Club, members of the Builders' Exchange and other organizations with which Mr. Mosher had been affiliated, and many other people who were among his friends and admirers were present.

The services were opened by the singing of "We Shall Meet, but We Miss Him," by the Euterpean Quartette.

Rev. Robert J. Burdette then read the funeral service and delivered a short address, in which he spoke feelingly of Mosher's many endearing qualities and the helpfulness with which he faced all difficulties until his burdens became more than he could bear. Burdette said in part:

"In his years, he had lived a man's life. Out in the open, under the blue; among the trumpets, amid the thunder of captains and the shouting. The battles that beat against his life were such as come to men in the market place, in the camp, on the battlefield; in the pitiless competition of the commercial world; in the fierce contentions of the political arena. Where the hand-clasp of friendship is as loyal as the vow of the foeman is true. In the morning time of his youth, he had looked death in the face in the shock of battle, and all his life was he animated by the courage of the soldier, for a man he had a soldier's record. For a cowardly ally he had a righteous contempt. He hated a lie, and despised treachery. His word among men who best knew him—and these were his best and truest friends, was as good. He lived in the daylight, and every man he met fairly looked in the eyes. A man in the ranks, at the elbow touch of the alignment, and his comrades trusted in his step, tried once and again, and found true. They weighed his words as men test and measure one another in the forum, and they never found him wanting. His friendship was warm and generous. He believed in his fellow-men, and a man's love, to his sympathetic impulse, was essentials of his worth.

"His ideals were high, and his aims were in the path of the eagle. But into the gentleness of his life the bitterness of disappointment entered as the sensitive soul when impossible ideals cannot be realized; when the height that ambition has made unattainable, cannot be reached. But he knew its own bitterness, and the world which he loved to help he was hopeful as ever; his song was clear and resonant with hope and cheer. Even in the overclouded days, when he alone believed himself a failure, every line that he wrote was a shout of encouragement to the tired workers and strugglers, the voice of a wounded soldier, fighting under the death stroke, still cheering on his comrades to the victory which he believed was sure for though denied himself. And this was the bitterness of his life; the native valor of his soul rejoiced, with a soldier's unselfishness, in the triumph which he saw was none the less glorious because he was shut out from it. Though it was marred by many a discordant note in its progress, his song was ever an anthem of hope."

Floral offerings were brought to a close by the singing of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by the Euterpean Quartette. The line of carriages filled with friends and sympathetic friends following the hearse conveying the remains to the Cemetery, and many others joined to the burial ground in order to pay their last respects. The cemetery Stanton Post, G.A.R., held the services, and the veteran given a soldier's burial by his comrades who had been before.

The pallbearers who performed the last sacrificial rite of the G.A.R. were: Edgerton, commander; Lascomb, chaplain; W. S. officer of the day; N. C. comrade; W. S. Daubenspeck, comrade; H. H. Bartlett, comrade.

The last word was said and sprigs of laurel and cypress and rosemary were laid upon the bier together with "Old Glory." Then Thomas sounded "taps." The mournful melody died away, and was lowered into the grave. The pall-bearers were Gen. H. Hough McDowell, Harry E. Frank X. Pfaffinger, C. E. and Will E. Chapin. The honorary pall-bearers were George W. Stewart, J. R. Newton, S. McGroarty, John Bond and W. S. Livengood.

Among the striking floral pieces was a column with a wreath of ivy and a scroll and broken rose buttons, while dashing across were waves carrying a yacht. This was the offering of Mr. Mosher's co-workers in the editorial and business departments of The Times.

The composing and proof-room contributed a beautiful piece bearing "Gates Ajar," with the initials "M." in crimson rosebuds, a field of violets.

The Sunset Club, the Builders' Exchange, the Fire-Pulp and Plaster Company, the Los Angeles Lighting Company, Stanton Post, G.A.R., and a host of other organizations and individual friends and relatives also sent beautiful floral offerings of various designs.

CRIBBERS OUSTED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 25.—In the absence of her husband, Billy Nauderman, the defendant in a complaint made by the Purity League, charging that property owned by him was used for immoral purposes, Mrs. Nauderman, also known as "Dutch Emma," has taken the responsibility of ordering out the occupants of the crib property under their control, with the understanding that the prosecution shall be withdrawn. As Nauderman is owner of half the shacks in the red light district, Mrs. Nauderman's action causes a stir. The occupants were routed out on short notice. The Purity League people say they must have a plea of guilty before they consider the overtures. There are still fifteen or twenty women in the district, and the Purity League managers say the owners of the cribs must oust them or be prosecuted.

The following-named dealers refuse to sell The Times because they lack the courage to stand up against the small faction of local labor-unionists and their newspaper allies who have joined forces in boycotting The Times in San Diego, viz., Snyder, No. 634 Fifth street; Avey & Jones, No. 949 Fifth street; Sam Taylor, No. 855 Fifth street, and Percival Wood, No. 1214 E street. The latter, especially, has shown double dealing, hypocrisy and cowardice by his course. Independent citizens who have a contempt for the boycotting know where to find The Times.

CORONADO BEACH.

GEORGE GOULD EXPECTED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

HOTEL DEL CORONADO, Feb. 25.—Mrs. George Gould says she expects her husband to join her here soon. Mr. Gould is arranging his business affairs so that he may spend a few days here before proceeding north.

Among yesterday's arrivals was Hiram W. Sibley, one of the greatest seed merchants in the world. He is touring the Pacific Coast in his private car, Sunset. His party includes John H. Stedman, Leonard L. Allen, H. P. Brewster, W. L. Thompson, Frederick P. Allen, all of Rochester, N. Y.

A Raymond & Whitcomb excursion party, numbering ninety-five, arrived here yesterday. Judge Conrey of Los Angeles was among the arrivals. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Nichols of Manitou, Colo., are here. Mr. Nichols is connected with the Cliff House at Manitou, and the Maryland at Pasadena. Other recent arrivals include: Mrs. E. A. McRea, the well-known landscape artist, who laid out Lincoln Park, Chicago, and who is now with the Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads, as landscape artist; S. B. Raymond, formerly treasurer of Cook county, Ill., accompanied by his wife; W. J. Watson, a Chicago banker.

IMPERIAL.

FIRST LARGE DATE VENTURE.

IMPERIAL, Feb. 25.—The Imperial Date Company has been formed, composed of eastern capitalists, to grow Neglet Noor dates for commerce. A shipment of trees will arrive from Algiers in May or June, and will be planted in orchards of about two acres each. This is the first effort to grow dates on a commercial scale in the United States, and is the forerunner of extensive importations. Next winter a member of the company will go to Algiers and bring back a large consignment of trees.

BRANCH TO CALEXICO.

The graders on the Southern Pacific road from Imperial to Calexico are within two miles of Calexico. A finishing crew will be put on at once, and track laying will begin by March 15.

VISITORS IN THE VALLEY.

W. F. Holt and wife of Redlands, Superintendent R. H. Ingram and wife, George A. Parkyns and wife, and other officials of the Southern Pacific with their wives are visiting the valley.

Another party of visitors is composed of Elder L. Miller of Elgin, Ill., editor in charge of Dunkard publications and chairman of the World's Missionary Board of the Dunkard church; Elder S. J. Rosenberger, evangelist, of Covington, O.; Rev. Edward Keiser of Lordsburg, Cal., and J. S. Kuns of Covina, Cal., accompanied by George L. McDonough, colonization agent of the Union Pacific Railroad, of which company they were the guests.

PLANTING COTTONWOODS.

Secretary D. D. Lawrence of the Imperial Chamber of Commerce reports the distribution of over 7000 cottonwood trees, two carloads of which were brought from Yuma by the chamber. They were sold at cost, 5 cents apiece, to be planted as street trees. A third car has been ordered.

Yesterday's Forecast and Report.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Feb. 25.—[Reported by George E. Franklin, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.01; at 5 p.m., 30.06. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 54 deg. and 69 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 91 per cent.; 5 p.m., 30 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 4 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 13 miles. Maximum temperature, 63 deg.; minimum, 36 deg. Rainfall past twenty-four hours, trace. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions. The storm is central this morning in Utah and Colorado. Rain is reported from all the California stations north of the Tehachepi, and snow from Oregon and Washington. Rain has fallen heavily in Western Nevada. Carson City reports 3.94 inches in the past forty-eight hours. Snow has fallen from the Rocky Mountains to the Upper Missouri Valley. The temperature has fallen on the Pacific Slope, except on the southern coast, where it has risen.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Cloudy, unsettled weather tonight and Friday, with showers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Weather conditions and general forecast. The following are the seasonal rainfalls to date, as compared with those of same date last season, and rainfall in the last twenty-four hours:

Stations—	Last twenty-four hours.	This season.	Last season.
Sacramento	.08	10.14	11.31
San Francisco	.01	12.45	11.49
Fresno	.19	7.25	5.72
San Luis Obispo	.36	6.62	11.65

The pressure has fallen rapidly over the northern half of the Pacific Coast, and conditions are favorable for the approach of another storm. Southeast storm warnings are displayed along the coast from Port Harford northward, and advisory messages have been sent to southern points. The following maximum wind velocities are reported: Eureka, 32 miles an hour from the southeast; North Head, 34, southeast, and Carson City, 36, southwest. The following river readings are reported: Marysville, 19.8 feet, falling; Red Bluff, 2, falling; Tehama, 16.5, falling; Sacramento, 27.5, rising. The crest of the present high water will probably pass Sacramento Friday. Ample warnings have been sent to river points. Forecast:

For Northern California: Rain Friday; brisk to high southeast winds.

Nevada: Rain Friday; cooler; high southwest winds.

WE SELL MONEY-MAKERS.

SOLID INVESTMENT PROPOSITIONS THAT WILL STAND THE CLOSEST INVESTIGATION. WE CAN ESTABLISH YOU IN A BUSINESS WHETHER YOU HAVE $500 OR $50,000.

We have three clients who want to invest between $4000 and $6000 each, in first-class general stores. These propositions must bear a very careful inspection and be strictly good things.

We have a man with $5000 who will purchase a partnership interest in a general store. He is a hustler and knows the business thoroughly, and has the ready money.

The above items must be taken care of at once, so if you have a business to dispose of that will meet them, come in with it quickly.

WE HAVE CLIENTS LOOKING FOR GOOD INVESTMENTS.

MONEY WANTED—

WANTED—
SAN DIEGO.

San Diego has at last waked up to her great future, and property of all kinds there is beginning to move. The writer has an option on a large body of land suitable for subdivision. This land is located in the northerly suburbs of the city; the only direction in which the city can grow, and is growing, and is the only large tract of level and desirable land to be obtained suitable for subdivision. My option calls for a VERY LOW price for the land, with liberal release clause. Will take about $20,000 cash to handle it, for which I desire to organize a syndicate, and in which I will take an interest. For interview and further information, address B, box 4, TIMES OFFICE. 28

dians, the Panama government has displaced Inanaquina as the principal chief, and has named Henry Cl... whose headquarters are at the mouth of the Rio Diablo, to be Governor-General, with a commission in the army.

San Blas is very friendly to the Americans, and files the Panama flag. If the Colombians carry out the plan to attack they cannot reach the railroad section as fast as vessels can be sent from the United States with news of the advance arrives.

ELECTION UNDECIDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The presidential election in Colombia is still undecided, according to a Herald dispatch from Bogota. Gen. Reyes has a small majority, and it is generally believed the electoral vote will declare him President Marroquin with Gen. Gonzales Valencia, Vice President.

NO IMMEDIATE PAYMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Secretary Shaw was at the sub-treasury today, where he received a number of callers, including E. H. Harriman, I. N. Seligman, James Stillman and Vice-President P. Snyder. Respecting the Panama Canal payment, the Secretary said that no call will be issued upon depository banks for payment of the $50,000,000 involved until the Attorney-General had passed upon the validity of the Panama Canal Company's title. It is suggested that the Treasury Department will find it necessary to send a representative to Paris to investigate the phases of the litigation now pending there, and if this is done, payment of the $40,000,000 to the canal company will be indefinitely delayed.

In an interview with an Evening Post reporter, Mr. Shaw is quoted as follows: "No money will be paid out till we are sure of a clear title. I do not see why we are sure of a clear title. I do not see why we will secure it beyond all doubt in time, although it may take a long time to complete the formalities and get the papers in shape."

"Will it be necessary for our government to send a representative to Paris?" was asked.

"It may be," Mr. Shaw answered. "The call on the depository banks will be made in time to have the funds in hand a week or more before the transfer has to be effected. If I thought we had to pay the money over to the Panama in ten days, I would send out the call by wire immediately. The bankers are today fully prepared for it and could finance the withdrawals without difficulty."

BATTLESHIPS AT GUANTANAMO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

GUANTANAMO (Cuba) Feb. 25.—Six United States battleships are covered at sea off this port tonight and today. The auxiliary cruiser Prairie sailed for Colon today. She is expected to bring back a detachment of marines from the Isthmus.

CELEBRATING TREATY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

COLON, Feb. 25.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Dixie embarked marines here today, being Maj. Cheatham's division, and left tonight for Chiriqui Lagoon. Her ultimate destination is declared to be Philadelphia.

The celebrations over the canal treaty have been almost continuous since that day. The band of the United States flagship Olympia played a selection of Panama and American national airs at the railroad office yesterday. During the night the railroad offices were resplendent with electrical illuminations. There were also work displays in every part of the town until this morning.

TWO PERISH BY FIR

Flames at Colorado Springs Su... to Have Been Started by Tra... Fatal to Girl and Man.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Feb. 25.—Two lives and possibly a third were lost in a fire that broke out in o'clock this morning and threatened the entire business section of the city. The dead are Maud Lowrey, a 16-year-old girl, and Michael McGrath, a laborer. The property loss is $100,000. The girl perished in her room. The remains of the man were found in the debris. Three cheaply-constructed buildings were destroyed. Three horses burned in their stalls and three others had to be shot.

The fire is supposed to have been started by tramps striking matches in a livery stable near by. The wind fanned the flames to the other buildings and the entire fire department was called out.

INVESTIGATE CHICAGO SU...

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The City Council passed a resolution authorizing the Mayor to appoint a special committee of three Aldermen to investigate the present workings of the building department. The action is said to be the result of the report of the fire marshal on the Iroquois fire case. The Mayor has reconsidered his recent action following the Cleveland Theater fire in violation of the new theater ordinance.

FTERS VAIN BL...

being themselves convinced that they will be knocked out of the box, so far as the matter comes to the public, Sidney Thompson said last night:

"This last filing of mine is for the special people who were beginning to get interesting in these watches and wanted more nor less than a chance to be made in the hope of getting as much as possible of those 'credit contracts' into renewing their payments. The watch company will do anything but anxious to compromise the case, as it would do if it had a case to stand upon. I think anyone who has any further money into the hands of this 'credit company' is making a serious mistake and an unwise move. If all stand pat and fight there will be no further payments of a serious nature."

UNROE GETS A BLACK EYE.

...t He Does Not Care, for He Thinks it Lucky.

...ll Have the Better of Weight Over Sharkey.

...man Disagrees With ...Boots—Track News.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Munroe will have a shade the better of the weights when he steps into the ring with Sharkey next Saturday night. Today, at his training quarters, the miner tipped the scales at 134 pounds, while the ex-sailor failed to reach that mark by just sixteen pounds.

"When I started in to train for Munroe two weeks ago," said the sailor, "I weighed about 211 pounds. I was feeling fine and in good condition. In the first bout I never in good condition before. In my battle with Jeffries, for the whole seven that I did very little training. During my training period I have taken off just about twenty-nine pounds in weight. Still, I am strong, feel better than I have ever been before, and will put up the best fight of my career."

Munroe looked as though he had just come out of a real encounter with Sharkey today, after a lively bout with Manager McCoy." Munroe's left eye came in contact with one of the Hoosier trainer's fists. As a result, the miner now has a badly-discolored optic. The injury does not trouble Munroe in the least. In fact, he believes that is a means to get a black eye so near the fight. McCoy and Munroe do considerable boxing, and the pair cut a merry pace, each being compelled to look out for serious damage.

JOCKEY BULLMAN'S TROUBLES.

LEAD TO LOSS OF JOB.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jockey Bullman has had a disagreement with Booth and Hollenbeck over the riding of Formaster in the Derby, and the stable and jockey have parted company. Booth believes, apparently, that Bullman was guilty of careless riding when he tried to send Formaster through on the rail at the first turn. It was at that point that Johnny Daly, on Judge, bumped Formaster and forced him to take the last position. Opinions are divided as to the merits of the controversy. Some are inclined to blame Bullman for trying to get through too small an opening, while a majority of the disinterested racegoers are satisfied that Bombardier would have beaten Formaster if the latter had not been bumped or hindered.

"In future I will ride as a free lance," said Bullman.

LOCKED CLERK IN BOX CAR.

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 25.—A daring and desperate attempt to carry away the contents of the Southern Pacific safe at the East Side freight office was made tonight by three masked highwaymen.

After robbing M. E. Butler, the night clerk, of his ready cash, and ransacking the office for articles of value, they informed Butler that he must throw open the safe by the time they counted three or have his brains blown out. Baffled in this, they marched him 100 yeards up the track to a box car and locked him in until they could make good their escape. He remained a prisoner for nearly an hour before he was discovered by a passer-by.

FAILS TO REACH PORT.

ASTORIA (Or.) Feb. 25.—The schooner W. F. Garms, from San Francisco to Portland, has thus far failed to reach port. The vessel was sighted off the mouth of the Columbia River ten days ago, but could not get in, owing to the rough weather. Later a tugboat went to her assistance, but on account of the heavy seas it was compelled to release her.

Last evening it was reported that the Garms had arrived, but it now appears that the schooner was the A. F. Coats. The Garms may have been driven north.

NITRATE RUNS A GRAND RACE.

Durnell's Stake Horse Shows True Form at Last.

Makes a Show of Field and a New Record is Set.

Jane Holly, Joe Yeager's Pet Sprinter, Appears.

Running like the stake horse that he is; played literally off the boards by C. E. Durnell and his connections, and making his field look out of place, Nitrate yesterday ran one of the best races of his life and for the first time since coming to Ascot Park showed his true form. Opening in the betting at 6 to 5, the flood of Durnell money poured into the ring by his owner and friends speedily beat the price down to even money, and from evens to prohibitive odds. Off flying and in front, the bay son of Tea Tray made a runaway of the feature event, never was collared, and flashed under the wire in 1:53¼ for the mile and an eighth, breaking the track record by half a second and establishing a figure for the distance that will probably stand longer than today. On the popular victory the ring, notwithstanding the short odds, suffered one of the worst jolts of the meeting. One horse stood out in the race like a raised letter on a blind man's book; the public, notwithstanding Nitrate's previous failure to run up to his form here, was willing to back him again, and those who thus wagered their money had not an anxious second from start to finish. Never less than a length in advance, he was challenged once in the stretch by Bragg, who ran a grand race in order to land the place money for his backers after getting away none too well. The effort had been too much for the Curl entry and a good ride by Mountain missed the long end of the purse by a full length.

Again in the fifth another fleet performer could not be overlooked on past performances. Jane Holly, running in the name and colors of J. C. Yeager, holder of a world's record at the distance, was immediately installed an odds-on favorite at 4 to 5, but even that short price could not keep the talent off, and gold piece after gold piece dropped into the boxes until 11 to 20 was chalked up against the Yeager trick. As was almost a cinch she ran the heads and hearts out of her field and under a perfect ride by little Hildebrand finished her length in front of Col. Bogey, her only competitor, who distinguished himself by outfooting Emshee for the place in a fine burst of speed almost at the wire. The time was 1:15.

When Murad flashed past the stand winner of the opening event for 4-year-old maidens and upward, the public waited with bated breath to hear her bark. It was a poor bunch, with Inaugurator doped the best. Off poorly he was never prominent until the finish; with a luckier start probably he would have been the winner. There was many a piker's dollar brought home by the victory of Murad; she opened at 15 to 1, but was backed to 8 to 1 by the long chance-taking fraternity.

Blue Miracle, piloted by Mountain, annexed the verdict in the second event without great difficulty, Marta and Neko finishing as named. The six furlongs was done in quick time—1:14¼—and racegoers were rather surprised later on that Jane Holly did not at least equal it.

Sir Hugh's victory in the hurdle handicap at a mile and an eighth again proved the wisdom of the talent, who picked the winner in J. V. Kirby's swift sprinting fencer. Coming right back and repeating his showing of the other day in noteworthy style, Sir Hugh can not be denied his share of the jumps from now on, and will be a good one to watch hereafter, here or elsewhere. Nothing else in the race had any business with him; he finished three lengths to the good and as he pleased, galloping easily.

The sixth came near being a bonanza for the books and would have proved a much-needed gold mine for the ring but for a quiet tip which whispered "Fustian" just before the bugle blew. Straggler, hotly handed out the night before and reserved by many for a good thing to wind up with, ran a very disappointing race and finished next to last, showing no speed and tiring very badly at the finish. He even stumbled once. Fustian, opening at 6 to 5 on a parity with Straggler, received comparatively little of the early play, but about post time the ticket writers dug out "Fus" until they had scrivener's cramp. Charlie Durnell's Iras made up much ground in the stretch after a rather inferior ride at the upper turn. Victor Gilbert's Moor got away, but dogged it badly, being a contestant for last honors throughout. Little Joe Lewis figured Fustian was good enough to show the way, and moved into the lead at the quarter, steadily increasing his advantage up to the final jump.

TAFT KNOWS THE SUBJECT.

WASHINGTON, Feb., 25.—Secretary Taft today gave a hearing at the War Department to a number of persons interested in pending legislation relative to the limitation of Philippine commerce to American bottoms. Those present included representatives of shipping, shipbuilding and exporting business. The arguments touched every phase of the situation, with which Secretary Taft appeared to be very familiar.

The only novel proposition today was one that seemed to emanate from Secretary Taft himself, looking to a combination of the pending Frye shipping bill, excluding foreign bottoms from the Philippine trade with the tariff reductions scheme proposed by the Philippine Commission.

CHINESE LABOR ONLY SOLUTION.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Rt. Rev. Joseph C. Hartzell, missionary bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church for Africa, who has just returned from a tour of the African missions, extending over a period of nine months, during which he traveled about 50,000 miles, said to a representative of the Associated Press today: "The missionary work in Africa is progressing well." Dealing with the much-discussed question of the introduction of Chinese labor into the Transvaal, Bishop Hartzell said: "In order to meet the unusual emergency, I see nothing for it but the importation of Chinese, under strict regulations providing for their eventual return to China."

INDEMNITY SCHOOL LAND.

SALEM (Or.) Feb. 25.—Attorney-General Crawford today rendered an opinion to the effect that if indemnity school land is purchased from the State and is divested of its growth of timber, it afterward being found that the State cannot convey the title to such land, the purchaser is entitled to repayment of the purchase price from the State; but that if the title to such land is found to be with the United States, persons removing the timber therefrom are accountable to the government for such devastation.

GUFFEY COMPANY'S LOSS.

GALVESTON (Tex.) Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The case of T. J. Oliver against the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company was decided today in the Appellate Court. The Guffey Company loses its mineral rights on 835 acres of land in the Sour Lake oil field, conservatively valued at $500,000. The land was leased, conditional on its immediate improvement, which the defendants failed to undertake, and cancellation resulted.

PUTS INTO PORT, DISTRESSED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The schooner Sausalito, Capt. Rasmussen, fifteen days from Gray's Harbor, for San Pedro, put into port tonight in distress. She left the northern port about the same time as the schooner Emma Utter and weathered the storm in which the latter vessel was wrecked. The Sausalito will need considerable repairing before proceeding to her southern destination.

CRUDE PETROLEUM REPORT.

Democratic Leaders Meet.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—William J. Bryan, David B. Hill, Norman F. Mack of Buffalo, James M. Head of Tennessee and J. M. Guffy of Pennsylvania—the latter three members of the National Democratic Committee—met tonight in a room of the Hoffman House. After they came out, Bryan declared "there is no politics in this at all."

Women Garment Makers Strike.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 25.—Three hundred women garment makers struck today against a reduction in wages.

BOTH SIDES OF STORY.

Bert and Morley Give Out Statements.

Latter Stands on League's Rules and Precedent.

Bert Says He Did Not Take Arbitrary Action.

No news of any consequence developed yesterday in the selling out of Manager Morley and the Los Angeles Baseball Association by Bert, Harris and the Pacific Coast League in general. Morley stated his position last night. He stands solely upon the league's rules of order and precedent, without regard to the rights and wrongs of the case. He says:

"In the first place, I contend that the Pacific Coast League has no authority whatsoever to takke a player belonging to any one of the clubs, or give him away for some benefit that may accrue to the league. Our law is not State law, but it is baseball law, and as such is just as binding in our business. There is no precedent for such an action as this, and the by-laws do not provide for it. Bert's telegram indicates the league has assumed this right.

"Second, Dillon has just executed an affidavit showing he had signed with me before Hanlon's claim of his signature—on September 1.

"Further, I claim the representatives of the major leagues, Messrs. Hart and Johnson, expressed themselves perfectly satisfied with the list we submitted to them. Hanlon, acting for the minors, refused to take the responsibility. Now he plays the minor association to get a major league player for his club after the major leagues have expressed satisfaction. I must hand it to Mr. Hanlon—it is a foxy man who can fool one side of a baseball fight, and he must needs be a genius indeed who can pull the wool over the eyes of both parties as Hanlon has done. In submitting this counter-proposition to us in the Dillon matter, he has taken up a matter in behalf of the minors which is none of their business. If this matter ever had a right to go that far, it should come before the National Board of Arbitration. But our ultimatum was the player list in toto or no affiliation. Now I call for a living up to that ultimatum."

Morley wired Ban Johnson as follows yesterday:

"Have the National Association jurisdiction over Dillon, who is claimed by Brooklyn? Did not you and Hart represent both major leagues and vote that we could retain all players then claimed?"

Dillon is afraid he will be forced to go east against his will, as he desires to play ball this year and hardly expects anyone to pay him for laying off.

BERT'S STATEMENT.

MAKES EXPLANATIONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Jim Morley, manager of the Los Angeles team, was notified by President Bert yesterday that he was the only magnate to cast a negative vote against the terms of the National agreement, he called in his secretary and wrote out his resignation.

At this end of the road Morley's action did not create the consternation that his Los Angeles supporters expected it would.

President Bert said today that he had not been officially notified that Morley had resigned, though John Brink is quoted in the morning press dispatches as having sent him a telegram announcing his retirement and protesting against the action of the league.

"I would just like to say a few words about the whole matter," said President Bert, "In the first place, I don't want to be considered as acting in an arbitrary manner. Just before we adjourned at our last meeting Manager Harris made a motion, which was carried, that I be given power to call for a mail or telegraphic vote on matters which I might deem of great importance, and would not want to take the responsibility of myself. Now, Harris and myself had power to settle this whole matter ourselves, for the league gave it to us, but when it came to relinquishing players and entering into such a big contract, I decided to call for a vote. It was a matter of such vital importance to the league that I wanted all the directors to vote on it. I sent them all messages, and Morely's vote was the only dissenting one. Fisher, Harris, Swigert, Cohen and Ewing all voted to accept the terms. I have learned later that Manager Ely of Portland is opposed to letting Castro go, but he had no vote on the matter. President Swigert, who is now here, voted for his club. Ely is a practical baseball man and pretty level headed, and when he gives the matter additional thought, I believe he will fall in line and agree that we have acted for the best interests of everybody. By us giving up three players it might appear to some that the Eastern leagues are getting all the better of the deal, but this is not the case. When we went into session with Johnson, Hart and Hanlon there were eighteen players in dispute, and they were scattered among our six clubs. When we adjourned fifteen of them had been awarded to us and three lost. As I have said, I have only carried out the orders of the league. The directors have voted to go into the national agreement and give up three men, and I am simply conforming to their notions, which I believe are for the best interests of baseball."

FIVE LIVES LOST AT. MINNIE HEALY MINE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Feb. 25.—Five lives were lost by a cave-in of earth and rock in the famous Minnie Healy mine this afternoon. The dead:

THOMAS HAGGERTY, shift boss.
THOMAS FURLONG, miner.
WILLIAM DWYER, miner.
IKE ABRAHAM, miner.
ANTON TRINETTI, miner.

The accident occurred on the sixth floor of the 1000-foot level. Early in the day, the foreman was informed that the ground in that place was very soft and in danger of falling. He withdrew all the miners who were working there. This afternoon, Shift Boss Haggerty took Furlong, Dwyer, Abraham and Trinetti into the place to bulkhead and otherwise strengthen it. Just how the fall came will never be known, as not one of the five men was left to tell the tale.

The noise of the fall was heard in other portions of the mine, work was at once suspended and every one went to the rescue. The bodies of Haggerty and Trinetti were brought to the surface early this evening, but it is likely to be several days before the other victims are found.

President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago has suffered a relapse of his recent attack of appendicitis, and again is under the closest attention of his physicians. His exact condition is not known to other than his physicians and members of his family, but it is feared at the university that his recent trip East caused his malady to return in a more serious form.

At Kishineff, Russia, two brothers named Petreske were placed on trial, charged with having taken part in the Jewish massacres. Each was sentenced to four years penal servitude.

Nominated for Congress: Ninth Indiana District, Charles B. Landis (Rep.) renominated.

At Jackson, Ky., the grand jury returned indictments against B. F. French, attorney for Curtis Jett and Ed Callahan, former Sheriff of Breathitt county, on the charge of subornation of perjury in the late Jett-White trials.

Two washouts on the Union Pacific near Baskin, about twenty-five miles east of Ogden, have delayed traffic for almost twenty-four hours on that line. Trains are said to be running as usual at midnight.

SAN JOSE'S POPULATION.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 25.—Maj. W. G. Hawley, postmaster of San José, has just copleted a careful house-to-house census of the population served by city carriers, which he finds to be 35,023 against 27,387 by the census of 1900. This is exclusive of The Willows and other suburbs covered by rural delivery. He finds the population within the corporate limits of San José 27,864, as compared with 21,618 by the census of 1900.

DOG SAVES TWO LIVES.

BAKER CITY (Or.) Feb. 25.—A mysterious poisoning case is reported from Pleasant Valley. Engineer Legg, on the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company road, noticed a peculiar taste in his tea last night, and, suspecting that the tea was poisoned he put some of it in milk and gave it to a dog. The dog died in less than ten minutes, showing symptoms of strychnine poison. Mrs. Legg also tasted of the tea and was taken violently ill.

HANNA LEFT SEVEN MILLIONS.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Hanna left $7,000,000. An inventory reveals that the estate is more than double what it was first reported as being.

AT NEW YORK HOTELS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the Marlborough, C. P. Thompson and wife.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Engel and Colleagues Escape.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—In the United States Court today, James R. Engel and his colleagues, who were accused of the alleged swindling of the government in several timber deals, were acquitted, and the charges against them were dismissed. With Engel, were associated Richard H. Lewis, W. S. Lewis, A. W. Kiddle and A. S. Parsons.

Peddler With Money a Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—P. Thompson, a crippled peddler, committed suicide today on the Jackson-street wharf by shooting himself in the head. In one of the pockets was found a check payable to himself for $365. A Wells-Fargo money order calling for $50 was also found among his papers.

New San Francisco Bank.

San Francisco, Feb. 25.—The Board of Bank Commissioners have issued a license for the establishment of the South Berkeley Bank. The institution is capitalized at $25,000, of which 40 per cent. is paid up.

OBITUARY.

Charles J. Willey.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 25.—Charles J. Willey, Assistant Surveyor-General of the State, who has held important positions in that office for a number of years, died today at his residence in this city. Deceased was a native of Vermont, aged 60 years. He was a member of the Knights Templar and Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Col. J. T. Grayson.

PORTLAND, Feb. 25.—The Oregonian has received news of the death of Col. J. T. Grayson at Cincinnati, today. Col. Grayson was one of the wealthiest mining men of the Northwest, and had made Portland his home for a number of years. According to the Oregonian's advices Grayson arrived at the St. Nicholas Hotel in Cincinnati at 6 o'clock tonight apparently in good health. He complained of feeling fatigued and retired about an hour after his arrival. Later he was found lying on the bed breathing heavily and unconscious. He died shortly after. Heart disease or apoplexy is believed to have caused his death. Grayson was general manager of the Alpine Consolidated Gold Mining Company.

Indicted for Conspiracy.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The grand jury has returned three indictments against six strikers at the works of the Elssendrath Glove Company. The indictments charge a conspiracy to injure one employe, conspiring to assault another and riot.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Storm up Coast.

Car Struck Him.

S. H. Shank was struck by a car at Sixth and San Pedro streets yesterday afternoon. He was thrown from his wagon and received painful but not serious injuries.

Meetings Will Close.

The series of meetings held the past two weeks in the Second United Presbyterian Church, Washington and Santee streets, will close this evening. Rev. R. L. Welch of Redlands will preach. There will be a juvenile chorus.

Damage Suit Dismissed.

The suit of Cora B. Vernon vs. the Southern Pacific Company for $20,000 damages for the death of her son, Charles Walter Vernon, as the result of the Owl wreck at Byron, was yesterday dismissed in the United States Circuit Court on motion of plaintiff's attorney.

City Engineer Happy.

City Engineer H. F. Stafford has bought a Cadillac automobile from Norman W. Church with the $1000 which the Council appropriated for that purpose. The machine is 8½ horsepower, and is fitted to travel through sand and withstand hard usage. It is a snap for the engineer.

College Orators.

Following is a corrected list of the several colleges and their representatives who will appear tonight in the intercollegiate oratorical contest at Simpson Auditorium: Pomona College, George E. Hume; Whittier, E. B. Healton; Occidental, Charles F. Bazata; University of Southern California, Charles F. Seymour.

Meeting of Teachers.

There will be a general teachers' meeting tomorrow forenoon at the High School. Bishop Conaty will speak at 11 o'clock in the auditorium on "The Teacher as a Trustee." Numerous phases of pedagogy will be treated by other speakers, including Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, who is to deliver an address on the work of federations.

Robbed of Her Rings.

Miss Irene Cramer of No. 364½ South Los Angeles street reported to the detectives yesterday the loss by theft of two diamond rings valued at about $100. She went to Burbank Hall yesterday afternoon to attend a dancing school and left her rings on a piano. When she returned a few minutes later her rings were missing.

Old Songs Revived.

A special rehearsal was held yesterday for the folk song entertainment to be given tonight in Unity Church under the auspices of the Southwest Society of the Archaeological Institute of America. The society has been hard at work collecting the fast-disappearing Spanish and Indian folk songs of California ever since its organization, and a unique entertainment is promised, to which all interested in the work are invited free of charge.

Large Auto Party.

A large party of prominent Angelenos went to Riverside yesterday morning in automobiles. They will return Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Nat Myrick and guests occupied one; Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Stimson drove another, as did Mr. and Mrs. H. Holliday. Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Buss, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Braly were also in the race. While the men are all moderate drivers, there was considerable rivalry for first place in the procession.

Alleged Shoplifter.

Mrs. Victoria Adams, aged 45, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Rico on a charge of shoplifting. She is alleged to have entered the store of Jacoby Brothers and the Broadway Department Store, and from the two places she is charged with having stolen about $9 worth of goods. Under a recent ruling of the Supreme Court, a shoplifter may be prosecuted for burglary, and it is probable that the accused will have to face such a charge.

Gives up Railroads.

H. H. Shattuck, a large cotton merchant of Boston, has become such an experienced and enthusiastic automobilist that he shuns the railroads. He has spent some time touring Southern California in a horseless and arrived from San Diego yesterday, having enjoyed a continuous run without a breakdown of any kind. He expects to leave Tuesday for San Francisco by way of Santa Barbara and Del Monte.

Book of Student Days.

"Blue and White," a book produced by the winter class of 1904 of the Los Angeles High School, will be issued today. The work is prettily clothed in denim of azure hue. The dedication is to the faculty. Miss Bessie Foubla is the editor-in-chief. Among the other managers of and contributors to the work are George Power, Charles H. Homer, August J. Marx, Miss Eileen Salyer, Miss Jennie Hawk, Miss Ethel Fuller, Miss Ethel Mee, Lynn Darrow, Frank Laird, Ed Adams, Miss Hilda Budington, Clarence Weber, Dewitt Browning, Miss Anita Ward, Isabella Mattern, Ruby Fuller and Edna Modie. The work abounds in illustrations.

ROBBED CONVALESCENTS.

Charge, Against Boston Manager of American Surety Company, Who is Arrested for Larceny.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—Wallace H. Ham, manager of the American Surety Company's Boston branch office, was arrested today on a charge of larceny, the total amount involved being $108,000, according to Chief Inspector Watts. The company is a new concern.

Ham is 48 years of age. He is married, and has several children. Although the sum mentioned in the warrant is $108,000, the American Surety Company, in a statement issued today, said that the net shortage was $190,000, and that the accounts of St. Luke's Home for Convalescents and of St. Paul's Church, this city, for each of which Ham was trustee, were affected, as well as those of the surety company.

MAKES FULL CONFESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—President Henry L. Lyman of the American Surety Company said today that Wallace H. Ham had been the Boston agent of the company for nearly seven years, and was highly recommended when he secured the position. The Boston branch office of the company is considered the most important in the country, and the volume of business, which it transacts is enormous. It is said Ham has made a full confession.

FANCY SILKS for SHIRT-WAIST SUITS

Today another lot of fancy Summer silks arrived, hundreds of new styles, patterns you have not seen before—and will not again when these are gone. They are styles confined exclusively to this store and they come in but one and two dress lengths each, so there is no danger of any of them becoming common. It's well worth your while to look over the assortment in its completeness today.

You may choose from a line of Cashmere Taffetas—heavy, soft, mellow silks that we can recommend for wear. Greens, blues, browns, grays and garnets with white hair-line stripes and small, regular checks; soft Swiss taffetas in black and white, white and black, blues, greens, grays, etc. checks, narrow hair lines and stripes. Louisines, in fine, broken or even pinhead checks and small shepherd plaids, browns, greens and blues in the different shades.

Here the lines are the strongest—the assortment more varied; Louisines and Taffetas in dozens of new basket weaves and novel, irregular checks, jacquard and embroidery effects on changeable grounds checked or plain.

Fancy mixtures in Barathea, Louisines, Tricotines and Taffetas in pretty camelion effects. The whole range of Spring colors, from the lightest to the darkest is represented. Greens, blues, browns, tans, castors, purples, lavenders, and the new aubergone; grays, black and white, white and black, gun-metal and jasper grays.

Styles and colorings are similar to the last named but in heavier, finer, wider goods for dressy costumes, fashions for particular people.

New colorings and designs will be among the season's most popular material for street or calling gowns. Many single, exclusive dress patterns are shown in these. They are always soft, light weight and comfortable for Summer use, and where is the silk fabric that is as satisfyingly serviceable as a good foulard.

FRUIT POISON NEARLY KILLS.

H. J. Toy of Denver Suffers After Eating Figs.

City Health Office to Make Rigid Investigation.

Figs, evidently poisoned, almost killed H. J. Toy of Denver at the Hotel Cecil yesterday. But for heroic measures adopted by the attending physicians it is likely the life of the Colorado man would have been sacrificed because he loves the popular California fruit. Dr. G. E. Ap Lynne of No. 314 West Fourth street, worked for over four hours before he was able to declare his patient out of danger.

Mr. Toy purchased a package of dried figs at a fruit store and ate quite a quantity of them in the afternoon. Shortly afterward he was seized with intense pains in the stomach, which were accompanied by vomitings. When Dr. Ap Lynne arrived he found Mr. Toy in a critical condition, as the poison had affected his heart. The symptoms resembled arsenical or ptomaine poisons, but the heart action was so weak that it required hard work to restore its normal condition, and not until 9 o'clock was the sufferer's condition considered safe.

Mr. Toy stated last night that he is positive that the figs were the cause of his trouble, as he had eaten nothing since breakfast, and was seized with the pains in his stomach a short time after eating the fruit. He is at loss to account for the presence of arsenic in the figs, but is inclined to the belief that the fruit was picked from a tree which had been poisoned in order to kill birds—as this method is sometimes employed by fruit growers whose orchards are injured by members of the feathered tribe.

The poisoning of Mr. Toy was reported to the City Health Officer, who had an agent purchase some of the figs, and an analysis of the fruit will be made today by City Chemist Day. Dr. Powers states that fruits have not been fully investigated since the office of City Chemist was created a month ago, because the attention of the chemist has been taken up with fish, olives and milk, but a rigid inquiry will be conducted in this case. The fruit which caused the trouble was packed by Rosenberg Bros. of San Francisco, and was put up in paper packages.

Through the investigation of the Toy poisoning another case was brought to light yesterday which is similar in many respects. The young daughter of C. W. Fleming, manager of the American Type Founders Company, received as a present a box of crystallized fruit put up by a prominent Los Angeles house. After eating a small quantity Miss Fleming became seriously ill, but not until some time afterward was her illness attributed to the confections. Two other members of Mr. Fleming's family suffered from the effects of eating the fruit, but their cases were not as serious as that of Miss Fleming, who has not fully regained her health. Mr. Fleming does not think for an instant that poison was placed in the fruit by the person who sent it to his daughter, but he is positive that poisonous ingredients were used either for preservation purposes or that in some accidental manner before crystalization, the fruit became impregnated with arsenic or other poison.

Dr. Ap Lynne says that in Mr. Toy's case he is positive that a quantity of deadly poison was eaten, but he is unable to decide whether it was ptomaine or arsenical. He says he has known of cases in the packing of figs where the fruit has contained a worm chrysalis which later developed, and after steaming, a poison was created which is as deadly as the ptomaine of canned meats.

A complete and thorough investigation by the City Health Department may show where the trouble lies.

NO FARCE THIS YEAR.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 24.—The Senior Farce Committee has decided not to give the usual farce during commencement week, but to stage Gilbert and Sullivan's opera "Patience." This action was taken by the committee as a result of the poor success of the farces of the last few years. There are a number of excellent voices among the men and women of the university, and many persons have expressed their willingness to take part in the production. The opera will be given on the evening of May 12.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The recent concert trip taken by the Girls' Glee Club and the University Orchestra was a decided success. The programme was well received and the clubs were delightfully entertained.

The Stanford Debating Committee has received word from the University of California submitting the question for the intercollegiate debate. The question is: "Resolved, That in cities of the United States of over 40,000 inhabitants a system of municipal government concentrating executive and administrative powers in the Mayor should be adopted." The committee will act upon the question at a meeting next Monday, when the side to be supported by Stanford will be chosen.

The annual intercollegiate chess tournament with the University of California will be held this year April 8, at the Mechanics' Institute in San Francisco. This will be the fifth match between Stanford and California. The first three were won by California and the fourth was a tie.

PROTECTION OF MINORS.

City School Superintendent Foshay has issued a circular letter to principals and teachers calling attention to the statutes prohibiting the sale of liquor and tobacco to minors.

WAGNER'S "PARSIFAL" MAY BE SEEN HERE.

If it is given here, Los Angeles audiences will have an opportunity to hear the treasured work whose New York presentation was the eastern sensation of the year.

If arrangements now under way are carried through, the complete Damrosch Orchestra, numbering sixty of New York's best players, will render the instrumental score. They will be under the leadership of Walter Damrosch himself, most noted Wagnerian conductor in America.

The vocal feature will not be neglected, and the four solo parts will be given to a tenor, soprano, contralto and bass from the Metropolitan Operahouse in New York city. Twelve of the original "flower maidens" of Heinrich Conreid's notable production will also come, and a local chorus will be formed to assist.

The preliminary negotiations are conducted by S. Kronberg, the impresario who brought Mascagni and his bothersome aggregation from Italy. Kronberg had troubles enough with the erratic Italian maestro to teach him a world of lessons in the handling of musical aggregations, and he believes that he would have no difficulty in bringing artists and material here for a complete production in miniature of the world's most interesting music-drama.

No regular theatric performance of "Parsifal" could be attempted here, but the music may be given with all its primal impressiveness, in the hands of soloists familiar with the traditions of Beyreuth. To stage the religious play in any way that would be at all in keeping with its subject and traditions would require the expenditure of thousands upon thousands of dollars, and many months. Conreid's stage settings, scenic accessories and costuming in New York cost more than $100,000, and though the performances were given to large crowds in a great auditorium at top-notch prices, the whole thing was a total financial loss.

Conreid expected that it would be a loss. He was backed in his venture by the Metropolitan stockholders and "Parsifal" was given merely to demonstrate that America could be first in the presentation of an original musical work never attempted outside the little Bavarian town in which its composer spent a great part of his later life. Any stage attempt not backed by a syndicate as wealthy as the millionaire group behind the Metropolitan would be an absurdity.

If Los Angeles has a "Parsifal" production it will be given in May at Hazard's Pavilion. It is peculiarly fitting that it should come at that time, as the second greatest religious body in the world will be in session in this city. "Parsifal" is all religion—a postscriptural story turned into dramatics, and set to a music that has no equal for strange and beautiful originality in the melodic libraries of the world. Its legend is an elaboration of the mystic tale of the Holy Grail and its guardian knights. There is no love interest, no conflicting world-emotions. It is all a musical-dramatic extract of the legends of the early church.

Mr. Kronberg has been in consultation with several local managers, and was yesterday in San Diego.

ARCADE DEPOT WILL BE MADE LARGER.

PLANS are being drawn for the enlargement and remodeling of the south wing of the Arcade depot. An official of the Southern Pacific Railway Company made this statement yesterday afternoon. The waiting room will be doubled in size and a third gateway to the tracks will be opened, thus offering better facilities for handling the heavy summer business.

The fact that the improvements are not to be very extensive and almost of a temporary nature, is taken as an indication that the probability of a union depot is not very far off. Officials have nothing to say in regard to the union project, neither denying nor affirming, but from information gathered here and there the inference is that the union depot is to be built, and built where the Arcade now stands, and including the property lying east between Fourth and Palmetto streets to the river. The Southern Pacific is connected with the Santa Fé by a Y turning east at Seventh street and the Santa Fé has three spur tracks running in near Palmetto street, in the rear of the Arcade. It is stated in real estate circles that the property mentioned is controlled by the Southern Pacific, although not listed in the name of the company.

The plan of improvement for the depot includes the tearing out of the partitions inclosing the parcel, bar and dining rooms, throwing the space now occupied by them into the main waiting room. The west wall of that portion of the building is to be moved out twenty feet, flush with the main entrance, thus giving additional space 150 feet long and 20 feet wide. The departments which are to be displaced will be put in the south end of this addition, which will be one story high and built of frame, to correspond with the rest of the structure.

It is a well-known fact that the business of the Southern Pacific has entirely outgrown its quarters at the Arcade. The waiting room often has as many persons standing in it as there are sitting. In summer time the arrival of a beach train creates a stampede which the two gateways cannot handle, the crush at times being almost unbearable. The impatient crowd, unable to find seats, naturally banks up in front of the exits, and arrivals find it as hard to get in as it is to get out. While the plans for the enlargement have not been definitely decided upon, the improvements which are to be made will greatly relieve the congested condition.

STEALS CHILD FROM MOTHER.

Sensational Development in Moore Divorce Case.

Father Kidnaps Sick Daughter from Her Bed.

A sensational and unexpected scene in a domestic tragedy was enacted in Pasadena yesterday when A. J. Moore kidnaped his two-year-old daughter, took her in her nightclothes from her invalid mother's side, and brought her to this city in spite of relatives and officers. Moore claimed to have an order from Judge York for the child, and when the authenticity of this was disputed by his wife's brother, he forced his way into the house, seized the child and escaped.

The incident is a sequel to the Moore divorce case. Some time ago Moore, a carpenter, who lives at No. 716 East Fifteenth street, sued for divorce on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The divorce was granted, the two older children were given into the custody of the father, and the youngest child, a girl about two years old, was given to the mother, as the little one was sickly and required constant nursing. Mrs. Moore took the infant to her Pasadena home.

Yesterday morning Moore appeared at Mrs. Moore's home and demanded possession of his daughter. He claimed to have an order from Judge York for the child. The mother and child were both sick. Mrs. Moore's brother, L. S. Anderson, suspected Moore of crooked work, and demanded to see the court order, and refused to deliver the child without it. Moore, having no such order, forced his way into the house, took his child from her bed and started down street with her.

Anderson at once summoned a policeman, and the two started on bicycles in pursuit of Moore. They soon overtook him, but the officer declared he could not see that Anderson had any more right to the possession of the child than had Moore, and refused to interfere with the latter, who went his way. Anderson then came to this city, hunted up an attorney and learned that Judge York had issued no order for the child. Judge York was at once told of the action, and issued an order to deliver the child to Anderson, and also cited Moore to appear today and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

Anderson and Deputy Sheriff Brakesuhier last night went in search of Moore, but he was not at his home, and could not be found.

CARS DERAILED.

An accident occurred on the Southern Pacific at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at Cabazon, just the other side of Beaumont Mountain, caused by the breaking of a wheel on the fourth car from the engine. Nine orange cars and a car of ice were derailed and traffic was delayed for several hours. A wrecker was sent from Los Angeles. The contents of the cars were not damaged and no one was hurt.

Three large Raymond & Whitcomb excursions are playing a progressive game through Southern California. What is known as the "First Mexico tour" of forty-eight people will leave San Diego tomorrow for Pasadena and remain there until March 4 at the Maryland and Green Hotels. The same day the "Second Mid-Winter" will leave Pasadena for San Diego to stay there two days and then go to Riverside. There are sixty-one in this party. On Monday "Tour J," of seventy-five will arrive in Pasadena from Riverside and spend one week. The tours are so arranged that the show places have something all the time without getting the sightseers all in a bunch.

March 12 has been selected as the date for the Chamber of Commerce excursion to Riverside to participate in the formal opening of the Salt Lake railroad to that city. A handsome special will leave this city early in the morning, bearing officials of the road and the delegation. They will be greeted at Riverside by the Board of Trade and a noonday banquet will be given at Ye Glenwood Tavern. Speeches are to be made and the affair promises to be notable. The train will pass beneath a magnificent floral arch in making its entrance to the city.

Former Judge Kelley, general solicitor of the Union Pacific, will leave tonight for San Francisco, after having spent two months in Los Angeles as the guest of Joseph Kelley of West Third street. He visited the principal points in Southern California in his private car, and yesterday took a party of twelve to Santa Monica.

A 500-horse-power generator is being installed at the South Park car house of the Los Angeles Railway Company.

Arthur Scott Jennings, general auditor of the Santa Fé Coast lines, with headquarters in Los Angeles, died Wednesday afternoon at his residence, No. 2001 Union avenue of consumption. He leaves a widow and one child. The remains will be taken to Chicago for interment. General Auditor Whitehead of the Santa Fé was called to Los Angeles, as the death of Mr. Jennings was expected. He will appoint a successor in a few days.

QUICK WORK IN BALTIMORE.

The Baltimore News has made a demonstration of the possibilities of quick work in the replacing of a large newspapers plant. Last Monday, two weeks after the complete destruction of its former establishment, the News resumed publication in its new home in which a battery of twenty-one linotype machines, three quadruple perfecting presses and the various auxiliaries of an up-to-date newspaper had been assembled within the fortnight.

Cottage Prayer Meetings Prove Successful—Fourth of the Series Announced for Tonight.

The cottage prayer meetings being held under the auspices of the Ministerial Union on the Friday evenings of February, have been well attended and it is thought have resulted in much good. The fourth series will be held this evening at the following places: Mrs. Case, No. 129 Bixel street; Mrs. Rice, No. 2003 South Grand avenue; Mrs. Palmatary, No. 225 East Elmira street; Mrs. Ahlport, No. 1107 West Tenth street; Mrs. Roach, No. 428 Custer avenue; Mrs. Beebe, (3 p.m) No. 1432 Union avenue; Mrs. Fondersmith, No. 1115 East Twenty-second street; Mrs. Alford, No. 329 East Twenty-fifth street; Mrs. Jones, No. 529 Patton street; Mrs. Newby, No. 2643 Magnolia street; Mrs. Geissler, No. 1521 West Eighth street; Mrs. Bowler, No. 822 South Broadway; Mrs. Robinson, No. 1747 New Hampshire street; Mrs. Jefferson, No. 830 East Sixteenth street; Mrs. Stricklin, No. 813 Linden street; Mrs. Owens, No. 2916 New Jersey street; Mrs. Moulton, No. 2022 Atlantic street; Mrs. Fuller, No. 738 Banning street; Mrs. Froseth, No. 910 East Thirty-third street; Mrs. Nelson, No. 267 South Burlington avenue; Mrs. Hayden, West Tenth and Denver avenue.

CAST ON WATERS, BREAD RETURNS.

ACTRESS HELPS INDIGENT AND STRIKES IT RICH.

Amelia Gardner Takes Mining Stock as Pledge Rather Than Injure Pride, and Now It Turns Out Valuable—Still Going up.

Amelia Gardner, new leading woman of the Neill-Morosco company, discovered yesterday that bread cast upon the waters surely does reeturn, even after many days.

AMELIA GARDNER.

York City, she was the means of helping an indigent actor to California. He was sick and had nearly fallen hopelessly into the ravages of consumption. The actress took pity upon him and his struggling little family, and volunteered money from her own pocketbook to suppy the tickets.

She didn't want anything in exchange, but rather than hurt sensitive hearts and injure pride she took several hundred shares of mining stock as a pledge. She believed the stock was worthless, and doubtless the giver did also, but he had nothing else to proffer her. He came to Sunshine Land, finally got well, and is now drawing an excellent salary in the East.

Yesterday Miss Gardner, to whose name the transferred shares stood upon the books of the Eastern corporation, received a telegram saying: "C. & E. quoted 106 and still going." She was at a loss to know just what this strange cryptogram meant, until her maid reminded her of the musty papers lying in the bottom of her smallest trunk—where she keeps the diamonds ready for the press-agent's made-to-order thief.

"C. & E." she found, upon investigation, was her pawn of kindness, which had never been redeemed. She insists that she will share her good fortune with the man and woman to whom it once meant so much.

Miss Gardner, by the way, has never been seen upon a Los Angeles stage. She is a good-looking woman, has an excellent flow of language, and is a charming hostess. She is laid up with a sprained knee, the result of a wrench upon an old hurt sustained some years ago while playing "Cigarette" in New Orleans.

She has literary talents also, and is very much impressed with Amélie Rives' novel, "Tannis, the Sand Digger," which she thinks could be worked up into a clever dramatization.

MILLS MEETINGS.

Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills addressed two large audiences yesterday in Unity Church, in the afternoon on the topic, "What Jesus Taught About Property," and in the evening on "Who Is the Infidel?" At the close of the evening meeting there was a supplementary address by William E. Smythe of San Diego, telling of the effects of Mr. Mills's work in that city a few months ago. This afternoon at 3:30 in Unity Church Mr. Mills will give a special address entitled "The Gateway to the Kingdom," and this evening the meeting will be held in Cumnock Hall. The subject this evening will be "How Can a Man Get Acquainted with God?"

COLLECTOR ARRESTED.

C. Buckley was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement. Buckley is said to have been representing himself as the Merchants Law and Collection Company, with headquarters formerly at No. 112 N. Main street and later at No. 134 North Spring street. J. F. Zellinger is the complaining witness against Buckley, and the former alleges that he gave the collection agent an account which was liquidated by the debtor, but no return was made by Buckley Zellinger's transaction amounted to only $2.50.

WAR SPIRIT IN SWEET NAMES.

Flowers Give Titles to Japs' Patriotic Clubs.

Purpose is to Sustain Mikado In His Struggle.

Expect to Raise Much Money for War Fund.

"The Japanese Chrysanthemum Club"—isn't that a charming and typically sentimental name for an association of Los Angeles Japs who would carry into their life here the flavor of the land of the peach-blow and cherry blossom, the bamboo tree and that queen of flowers, the loved chrysanthemum?

But under this euphonious name, which suggests quaint tea gardens, dancing Geisha girls, and flower-bedecked booths and jinrikishas, there creeps the dominant idea of grim-visaged War. Not the war of the average tea fight, which is a more or less wholesome diversion in all lands, but the war that is to the death, and which is a struggle for the supremacy of nations.

The Chrysanthemum Club is a patriotic war club of American Japanese, who intend to do everything in their power to sustain the Japanese empire.

The articles of incorporation for the new club will be filed within a few days. They have been prepared by Attorney D. H. Laubersheimer, who is also attorney for the Japanese Commercial Society in this city.

HAS WIDE SCOPE.

Mild enough is the expressed object of the Chrysanthemum Club. The incorporation papers say it is "an organization for the mutual benefit, enjoyment and social intercourse of its members; but with no object of pecuniary profit." Los Angeles is the place of business, and the directors are Tatusa Oyama, K. Hashi, K. Kinoshita, M. K. Nakagaki, M. Ishibashi, prominent members of the Japanese colony here.

Back of the alleged pleasure-seeking object of the club it is said there is a determined movement to benefit the Japanese empire in its war with Russia. Not only is it the intention to stir into flame the patriotic fervor of the members, but it is purposed to reach out until all the Japanese on the Pacific Coast have been brought within its influence and placed in readiness to respond to any call for aid from their island home.

The formation of the Chrysanthemum Club is to be followed by organization of others. The next is to be known as the "Peach Club," then will come the "Cherry Blossom Club," and this poetic idea will be followed out in the creation of societies with undercurrents much more serious than would appear from the charming names given them.

TO HELP WAR FUND.

There is already in existence in California a patriotic association known as the "Hoko Kwai," which has as its purpose the collection of money to be sent to Japan for the war fund. The headquarters are at San Francisco, and the Japanese Consul at that place, K. Ugeno, is the president. A branch for Southern California is under the control of three directors, D. K. Nelno, Hippo Iijima and R. G. Yuasa.

Through voluntary contributions this association expects to send at least $100,000 from Southern California before August 31, as a contribution to the war fund; and it is expected that the northern part of the State will raise a still larger amount.

The patriotic spirit is high with the local Japanese. Since the beginning of the war over one hundred men have started from Southern California for their native land, and others are preparing to leave.

Night before last there were two patriotic gatherings in this city, at farewell banquets given in the two Japanese restaurants, at No. 130 San Pedro street and on North Main street, in honor of two prominent Japanese who started for the seat of war. These men are T. Okamoto, an interpreter, and T. S. Fuki, a cavalryman. There were spirited addresses and songs.

RAZOR BRINGS QUICK DEATH.

GEORGE BOSSLER COMMITS SUICIDE BY CUTTING THROAT.

Early Theory of Murder Dispelled by Dying Man's Mute Confession. Found Under Wagon and Died After Removal to Hospital.

A mysterious death, evidently self-inflicted, occurred yesterday morning at the Police Station after the victim had been rushed to the Receiving Hospital in an ambulance.

George Bossler, who resided with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Green at No. 543 Banning street, was found in a dying condition at 7 o'clock, lying under a wagon in the rear of No. 114 Wilmington street. His throat was slashed in three places, and a large black-handled razor was beside him.

Bossler was about 32 years old, and is reported to have been a man of good habits. It is said that Wednesday night, after Bossler had retired, a man came to the house and asked to see him. Mrs. Green told the caller that Bossler had retired, and the man said to tell him to be sure to come to work in the morning.

Yesterday morning Bossler left the house about 6:15 o'clock to go to a packing-house, Green says. He says he had with him a $20 gold piece, some silver change and a $40 gold watch. These were reported missing when he was found with his throat cut.

Sensational rumors were circulated to the effect that Bossler had been murdered, but this theory was exploded by Policeman Roy Allen, who was among the first to reach the wounded man. Allen says Bossler understood his questions and plainly acknowledged by bowing his head that he had cut his own throat.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Finance Committee discussed the license problem at the session yesterday. Many changes will be made.

Judge Wilbur has to decide whether a sister has fulfilled her trust as guardian of a young brother when the lad drifts into State's prison. This is the point in the Kinglebock will contest, though the money involved is little.

The undertakers' ordinance has been attacked in the habeas-corpus case of James Cussen, and its constitutionality maintained. The fight will be before Judge Smith.

When overshadowed by death Henry Mosgrove, the Spring-street cloak dealer, made a will appointing the Los Angeles Trust Company executor for his estate. The total value of the property is $87,000.

AT THE CITY HALL.

MANY CHANGES WILL BE MADE.

FINANCE COMMITTEE WORKING ON LICENSE LAW.

Plan to Tax Each City Business Man so Much a Quarter Believed Open to Objections—Linecas Inspectors May be Transferred.

A discussion of the license question engaged the Finance Committee at the regular session yesterday afternoon. Many changes in the present ordinance are under contemplation, and it may be several weeks before all the proposed amendments are in proper form for submission to the Council.

The plan, suggested by the secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, to tax every business man in the city a certain amount each quarter was given brief consideration by the committee yesterday. It was suggested, as an additional feature of this plan, that the tax should be made payable at the office of the Tax and License Collector, and that in case of delinquency the license fee should be doubled.

This suggestion met with the approval of the committee, and it may be tried in connection with the present license ordinance, in the event that no radical change in the method of licensing is decided upon by the Council.

In the opinion of the Finance Committee the plan to tax each merchant so much a month, or so much a quarter, would be open to the same objection as every other license scheme ever devised—the poor man who did but little business would feel the burden and the rich merchant would benefit. Under the existing system the license fees on some classes of business are based upon the volume of business done, but in many instances it is open to the same objection.

The Finance Committee also regarded with favor a plan to put the license inspectors under the City Clerk, who is charged with the enforcement of the license ordinance. This would involve merely a transfer of one or two men from the Tax Collector's to the City Clerk's office. The former official now has both the inspectors and the collectors.

It is presumed to be the duty of the license inspectors to inspect all places of business, and see that they have taken out the required license. At present, however, the amount of collecting is so great that both the collectors and inspectors confine their work chiefly to collecting, it is said.

If the ordinance should be changed so as to require the payment of the license fee at the City Hall, the work of the collectors would be confined to delinquent licenses, and more attention could be given to inspection.

The license law provides that the city Clerk shall enforce its provisions, but that official is not given a single man by the Council to carry out the ordinance. This duty now devolves on the collecting department.

Representatives of some of the life insurance companies appeared before the committee yesterday, and offered numerous suggestions regarding amendments to the license on insurance companies, their agents and solicitors. The committee took the entire license question under advisement. Another meeting will be held very soon in which the City Attorney, Clerk, Tax Collector and members of the Council will participate.

KIRBY RESIGNS.

WAS INJURED BY FALL.

Tom Kirby, book-keeper in the office of City Treasurer Workman, resigned his position yesterday because of injuries received in alighting from a moving street car. Kirby was a general favorite at the City Hall, and his resignation will cause genuine regret.

Kirby had but one arm, and in jumping off a street car some weeks ago he injured his remaining hand in such a manner that it will be some time before he is able to resume work as a book-keeper. The accident was the more unfortunate, as Kirby was lately married, and the injury was quite a blow to the young benedict.

The place will be filled by N. T. Powell, who was clerk for Justice C. O. Morgan in the Police Court for two years. Powell has been doing the work since Kirby was injured, and has proven entirely satisfactory to City Treasurer Workman.

If the Council acts favorably upon a request that will be preferred by the City Treasurer next Monday, Powell will be known as chief deputy to the City Treasurer. He will do the work of the book-keeper and receive the same salary, but by changing the designation and duties of the position he will be empowered to assist in handling the money. This work is now performed solely by the City Treasurer and his cashier.

Park Board Meets.

At the session of the Park Commission yesterday morning Superintendent Legrand was instructed to report a plan for general retrenchment in the department, as the construction of pipe lines and reservoirs has depleted the park funds. The Park Commission decided to make needed changes in the animal quarters in Eastlake Park.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

DEAD MOTHER'S SOLE DESIRE.

MRS KINGLEBOCK WISHED HER BOY WELL TRAINED.

Now the Young Man is in the Folsom Penitentiary and His Guardian Sister is Taken to Task by Others in Court.

Because the hand of his dead mother reaching from the grave was not strong enough to protect him, Herman Kinglebock is in the penitentiary. But the old mother tried to shield and guard her boy even after she should be laid away. She made a provision in her will that if Clara Hartman, one of her daughters, would look out for the then little fellow and train him so that he grew up to be a good man, the little boy's share of her estate should go to the daughter in addition to the share she received. But if, on the other hand, Clara neglected her brother Herman and did not act rightly by him, then he was to himself inherit the share left to him and receive her portion as well.

That provision of the will has split the Kinglebock family. The estate of Mrs. Josephine Kinglebock is very small, but there is a hard fight. Mrs. Bertha Powers, also a daughter of the deceased, is administratrix, and as the estate is about ready for distribution her sister Clara and brother Oscar are contesting.

Yesterday the administratrix and several other witnesses testified to the cruelties perpetrated upon the boy Herman by Clara Hartman. Mrs. Powers said she had lived for a number of years North, but that when she visited here she found Herman was allowed to roam the streets, and next she discovered he had been taken in charge by the Humane Officer and put in the Orphans' Home. Her sister did not appear to give the boy any attention, and he slept in a cellar with rags to cover him.

Mrs. Powers said that she took the boy with her to Traver and though he was a little fellow he went to work, and remained at Traver until later, when she moved to Fresno. After he did return to Los Angeles, the witness said, she again took her brother back to Fresno when she came South six years later. But her aid had only been spasmodic and Mrs. Powers said on June 19 of last year Herman Kinglebock was sentenced to three years in State's prison at Folsom for robbery. He is now 19.

Mrs. Anne Pratt and Mrs. C. W. F. Adams, as well as one or two other witnesses, corroborated these statements. They said Mrs. Hartman would whip the boy unmercifully, and on one occasion the neighbors saw the lad tied up on the back porch with a horse-line and then beaten. At times, too, they would hear him screaming from the inside of the house. These were almost every-day occurrences, the witnesses said.

It is contended that on such a showing as this Mrs. Clara Hartman has not only forfeited the share of the estate left by the mother to Herman Kinglebock, but also any claim to her own share. The estate consisted of a house and lot at First and Ohio streets, which was sold by order of the court. It was bid in by Mrs. Hartman for $855, and then the sister who is administratrix was induced to consent to allow Clara $169.50 as rebate, this to be charged against her share. But later Mrs. Powers discovered that she had done unwisely, though under advice from her attorney, and with a new attorney she is seeking to recover the amount. In consequence of this payment Mrs. Powers has only $477.50 on hand to distribute when she ought to have the amount heretofore paid out.

Mrs. Clara Hartman, however, was not silent under the accusations leveled against her. She is a dashy-looking woman of a decidedly brunette type, and when upon the witness stand was beginning to retail all the family tittle-tattle when the court choked her off. With regard to the ill-treatment of her brother, Mrs. Hartman made a general denial. She confessed that she had slapped him, but said she had never done the things that previous witnesses alleged. He was an unruly boy, she said, but she had treated him kindly and done the best she could.

Further hearing was continued until March 17. The court record shows that Herman Kinglebock is an inmate of the penitentiary. And there stands the provision of the mother's will regarding the reward to the daughter if she should rear the boy in the way he should go.

MERCHANT'S ESTATE.

PROBATE ON MOSGROVE WILL.

On Wednesday Henry Mosgrove, the Spring-street cloak dealer, died at the California Hospital, and yesterday the Los Angeles Trust Company filed petition for probate of the will. The instrument was drawn and signed last Sunday, and was witnessed by John R. Haynes. The total value of the estate is set out to be about $87,000.

In the petition it is alleged that no legatees or devisees are mentioned, and the following are the heirs-at-law: Anne Mosgrove, the widow, who lives on Sutter street, San Francisco; the children of Sam Mosgrove, brother of deceased; Ella Mosgrove, West Adams street; Bessie Poindexter, Alameda; Maud Buffington, Whittier; Henry Mosgrove, at some place in South Africa; the widow and child of William Mosgrove, a nephew of deceased. Also sisters and brothers of the late Henry Mosgrove living somewhere in Ireland.

WORKED OUTSIDE.

YOUNG PLUMBER ACCUSED.

A youth named H. P. Stephenson was arraigned before Justice Pierce yesterday on the charge of having embezzled $57 from his employers, A. O. Johnson and B. H. Miller.

Johnson and Miller carry on the Independent Gas Company on East Fifth street, and Stephenson was one of the workmen sent out to work on outside jobs of plumbing. It is alleged that about January 28 he did work at Prospect Park for which he was paid $57, and instead of handing the amount over to his firm retained it for his own use.

In contradiction of this statement Stephenson avers that he took small contracts on his own account when he could get them, and that the money he is accused of embezzling was paid to him on such work, and that it was in no sense money due to the Independent Gas Company.

These two versions of the affair will be inquired into when Stephenson comes up for examination March 15. Meantime bail was fixed at $750, which will probably be given.

VALUED THE HAT.

JAP'S BANK OF DEPOSIT.

U. Watanabe, the Jap burglar who broke into Eastman's curio store at Long Beach and took a lot of jewelry and other articles, was arraigned before Justice Young yesterday on another charge. About the same time that he looted the curio store Watanabe went into the house of T. J. Bolton at Long Beach and stole an overcoat.

The little Jap was planning, so it is said, to return to Japan in order to report for duty in defending his country in the war now going on. Before leaving, however, he sought to make a raise in order to pay his way, and took the coat because it would be useful on the sea voyage. When arrested Watanabe was wearing the overcoat and had a bunch of charms stolen from the Eastman store hanging at the end of his watch chain. When an officer went to the County Jail yesterday in order to bring the defendant into court he noticed that the Jap was guarding his hat very closely. The officer grabbed it and found hidden under the band more of the jewelry taken from the Eastman store.

UNDERTAKER FIGHTS IT.

CITY ORDINANCE ATTACKED.

James Cussen, who was arrested for violating the city ordinance in establishing an undertaking parlor at No. 1135 South Flower street, it being specified in the ordinance that no such establishment should be maintained within one hundred feet of any church, schoolhouse, or private residence, was before Judge Smith yesterday morning on habeas corpus.

City Deputy District Attorney Beebe represented the city and Attorney M. M. Meyers appeared for the defendant. In behalf of Cussen it was contended that the ordinance is unreasonable in its terms, and is class legislation as well as being in conflict with the Constitutions of the State and the United States. The main point of objection was that the ordinance is not general in its application to persons carrying on the same business in the same district.

The ordinance exempts businesses already established from the penalty prescribed. After arguments the case was continued one week to permit counsel to file a list of authorities.

DRINKS MINUS MEALS.

MRS. BICKEL IN TROUBLE.

There have been more or less riotous times at Chatsworth Park for some time past, and Mrs. C. H. Bickel gets a certain amount of the credit for it. She runs the hotel out there and has a hotel license, but it is now charged that many of her patrons were not able to get away with a meal every time they took a drink and that rather than disoblige good friends the hostess cut short on the meals and long on the drinks.

This alleged plan of retailing, while gratifying to the thirsty souls out at Chatsworth Park, gave rise to a good deal of disturbance, so it is said, and finally led to the arrest of Mrs. Bickel. Yesterday she was arraigned before Justice Young on the charge of a violation of the liquor ordinance, and was held in $200 bail. Pete Lopez, the sometime Constable at San Fernando, and who is said to have an interest in the hotel run by his mother-in-law, accompanied Mrs. Bickel into court yesterday, and was earnest in his assertions that the case would flatten out when investigated.

COURT NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

MEDICAL SERVICES. W. H. Holmes has begun suit against Charles L. Hoffman and Elizabeth V. Hoffman on a claim for $352.50 assigned by Dr. Arthur C. Thorpe. The amount claimed is alleged to be due for medical and surgical services rendered by Dr. Thorpe to the defendants at their request.

HILLMANS AGAIN. The case of Helen Hillman against Henry T. L. Hillman occupied attention of the court for a short time again yesterday. The wife went East about two years ago and has only recently returned here. She avers that she went with the consent of her husband, while he says that she skipped out of her own volition. In any event, it is charged that the husband did not contribute to his wife's support, and now she is asking for maintenance and for the custody of the little boy. After a short hearing the matter was continued.

SMITH DIVORCE. Mrs. Jule Smith was granted a decree by Judge Allen yesterday divorcing her from Alfred J. Smith, on the ground of cruelty.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT. Cecil H. Smith, one of the proprietors of the Pacific Foundry Company, yesterday was cited to appear before Justice Pierce on a charge of contempt, and fined $20. He paid. Some days ago Deputy Constable Richardson went to the foundry during working hours to serve a subpoena on an employé. Smith told the deputy that employés could not be seen till quitting time, and refused to allow the serving of the subpoena.

INSURANCE CLAIM. Iola B. Moore has begun suit against the Union Casualty and Surety Company of St. Louis to recover $2500, the amount of a policy on the life of her deceased husband, Frank C. Moore. Moore was riding a bicycle down Broadway July 19, and between Third and Fourth streets was struck by a buggy shaft and run over. He died from the effects of the injuries he received on August 25. The insurance company, it is alleged, have refused to pay the claim.

SPLIT DIFFERENCE. When Allan Dodd claimed over $1200 from the Svea Insurance Company for damage done to his house on South Figueroa street, the company responded by paying into court $187, and proffered that amount. After hearing all the evidence in the case Judge Conrey yesterday split the difference and allowed the plaintiff $639.02.

H. MOSGROVE DIES.

Los Angeles Merchant Expires in Local Hospital—Leaves Store and Ranch Interests.

Henry Mosgrove, for a long period a merchant in this city, died Wednesday night at a local hospital, aged about 60.

He was a native of Belfast, Ireland, and came to California with his brother, Sam, about forty years ago. They conducted a dry-goods store in San Francisco for a number of years. Henry Mosgrove came to Los Angeles about eighteen years ago and opened a ladies' cloak and suit house which he conducted to the time of his death.

HER SNICKERS CAUSE WRATH.

Angry Roast for Woman at Griffith Trial.

Slangy Insanity Expert the Star Witness.

Doctors Testify Defendant is Not Insane.

He thought she was hissing him.

Rogers had been arguing with vehemence. The efforts of the District Attorney to dodge Rogers's forefinger as it pumped up and down in front of his nose seemed to strike a portly woman in red sitting in the front row as funny.

She tried to suppress her laugh, but it went sliding out between her teeth with the sound of a hiss.

"Someone is hissing me," he said, with a pressure of wrath on every syllable. His eyes fell on this woman, whose face was scarlet.

If looks could kill, she would have been borne tenderly out to the coroner's office.

"There are a lot of old women ——" he began.

Breaking off, he hurled words at this woman, who looked as though she wished she could evaporate.

"There is a woman," said Rogers, glaring at her, "who comes to every case I try and does this. She brings her lunch so she will not lose her place in court. I understand she is Broome's sister."

(Brooms was the man shot by Melrose, and the slayer was successfully defended by Rogers.)

Rogers stood muttering wrathful remarks about the woman while Judge Smith toasted her from the bench, saying he had feared some such thing would have this woman put out of court if the offense was repeated.

The woman breathed a sigh of mighty relief when the eyes of the crowd were transferred from her to Dr. Joseph Kurtz, the star witness who has coached the lawyers for the prosecution in medical lore for this case. He was on the stand when court closed.

EXPERT STIRS 'EM UP.

The expert did not couch his language in heavy medical phrase, but tore it off in street talk.

Dr. Cohn used to run a hammam bath in Los Angeles, but won his position by standing 98⅓ per cent. in a competitive examination.

"Course I couldn't look into Griffith's box," he said crisply, "box referring to the colonel's skull, "but from his visible acts he was sure sane all right."

He said Griffith was drunk—not crazy.

Dr. Cohn came joyously to the witness stand feeling his oats; left regretfully after a cutting cross-examination by Attorney McKinley. He had a lovely time.

Cohn had read the whole library of medical books piled like a bulwark in front of Rogers. He gave the impression that he took Dr. Spitka to bed with him and read Dr. Peterson at family prayers—then contradicted them all.

He said that Griffith didn't do the shooting according to the etiquette for crazies.

"Why," said the doctor, flinging out his hands excitedly, "he wouldn't have asked her all these questions if he were crazy.

"Why, he'd a plunked her full of lead and thrown the revolver at her head and said, 'Now you're dead and I'm glad of it.'"

Mr. McKinley started to interrupt, but Cohn shouted at him: "Now, hold on. Don't you cut me off. You can't do all the talking."

"All right," said McKinley, gracefully, "we want to know all you know."

"You'll get plenty of it," said Cohn, exuberantly.

But Dr. Cohn had gone on at a gallop.

"Why," he said, "he wouldn't a asked her about Briswalter. An alcoholic insane never gives a whoop about another party. Not in a thousand years!"

"We've done it four or five times already," retorted Rogers, savagely.

For which remarks Judge Smith called him down.

Dr. Cohn was bound to have the last word. "You put it one way, then you put it another way—and it don't go," he shouted.

When they finally tried to flay him with the medical books, he said he did not recognize the books as authority.

"There's no such thing as an authority in medicine. Half of 'em are diametrically opposed to the other half."

What the books say about grandiose ideas didn't "cut any ice" with him, he said.

"Let me see. You were appointed to your position by Gov. Gage," said McKinley.

"No, sir," said the witness, loudly. He said he won the job in a competitive examination.

"Why did you come down here?"

"At the request of the District Attorney and Mr. Gage."

"And your salary is still going on?"

"Hope so," said the witness, anxiously, as though he had never thought of it before.

McKinley started to ask him another question, but Cohn blustered back: "Now look 'a here, Judge McKinley, when I came down here I expressly stipulated that if I came to the conclusion that Griffith was crazy I should either return or testify for the defense."

Cohn was examined for two solid hours; was then finally excused.

"DRUNK—NOT CRAZY."

He stuck to it stoutly that Griffith was drunk and probably meant to kill his wife for money—not crazy at all.

One of the long questions asked Dr. Cohn indicate that Griffith missed the time of his life in not having the D. T's. The jimjams were described and they must be highly entertaining—rats, grinning beasts, naked girls, bells, whistles, brass bands, snakes, locomotives, bats flying around him, threatening voices, devils, plaintive wails, dogs jumping upon him and whole menageries circulating around.

There were but three or four witnesses called yesterday, one of the last of the day being Dr. Rheinhardt Wernick, a well-known specialist of this city, who has been a member of the County Lunacy Commission for seventeen years. He said Griffith was sane, in his opinion.

Rogers saw a chance he had been looking for for days.

"Suppose that Dr. Brainerd, Dr. McBride, Dr. MacGowan, thoroughly examined this man—had known him for years—and declared him sane."

The witness nodded to show his understanding.

"Would that alter your opinion?"

"I have the highest respect for those three gentlemen—that is I don't know Dr. McBride, but the other two."

"Is not Dr. Brainerd recognized as the highest authority on insanity in this State?"

An objection to this was sustained and Rogers was not allowed to pursue the matter further.

SANE, SAYS DR. KURTZ.

The defense metaphorically turned in the riot call when Dr. Kurtz, the prosecution's star, came to the stand. He is a portly man with piercing blue eyes and an excitable way of talking. He has been eminent among local physicians for years. When it comes to cross-examination, there will be "doings," as he is noted for a keen wit.

Rogers—who also is—watched him as a cat watches a rat hole during the few minutes he was on the stand.

He expressed the belief that Griffith was sane.

Said Griffith did not have genuine delusions; had known Griffith for years.

"Does jealousy constitute a delusion?" asked Mr. Gage, referring to the colonel's alleged delusion as to the chastity of his wife.

"If jealousy were a delusion, the insane asylums could not hold the insane," he said.

Mr. Gage laughed, and when the defense moved to strike out the answer, he consented that it might go out. "Although it was sensible remark," he added.

"We take an exception to that remark," said Rogers.

Dr. Kurtz said that the main characteristic of alcoholic insanity is a delusion in regard to the regenerative organs, which delusion Griffith did not have.

As regards Griffith's idea as to his wife's conduct, witness said it was an idea very common to ordinary drunks.

He said also that Griffith's delusions did not stay with him with sufficient fixity. Many of the prosecution's doctors have mentioned this, contending that Griffith would have been too sure, had he been afflicted with this mania, to have questioned his wife at the point of a pistol regarding his suspicions.

Regarding the "grandiose ideas" which have been made much of by the defense, Dr. Kurtz said that the colonel's conceit was not the proper brand to constitute an insane delusion.

"If he thought he was God, or a great general, or something like that it would be a grandiose idea; simply bragging about his wealth and thinking he could tell good stories when they were bad, would not constitute a delusion."

He was then excused for further testimony today.

NEEDS LOOK AT LIVER.

One of the doctor experts said yesterday that he could settle this matter of Griffith's sanity to a certainty if he could take one peek at the coating of the colonel's liver.

Even the hope of vindication by this means, however, did not prompt the lawyers for the defense to offer up Griffith as a sacrifice to science and justice.

They cross-examined him until even Judge Smith rose in anguish and protested his weariness of spirit.

When Gage protested against Rogers repeating certain erudite medical questions to Campbell, His Honor said in a voice of suffering, "They all sound alike to me."

A general laugh; the other lawyers joined.

Rogers turned on the judge as savagely as it is prudent to look at a judge.

"We take an exception to that," he said, grimly.

"What, to my laughing:" asked Gage, turning in surprise.

Rogers gave a snort of derisive scorn.

"Oh, you," he said, contemptiously, "Its a joy—it does not last forever—but while it lasts, it is a joy to hear you laugh."

Gage (mockingly:) "I charge you nothing for the joy or the pain that it brings you."

CAMPBELL ON STAND.

"When you left the witness stand yesterday, didn't Dr. Kurtz (the consulting expert for the prosecution) meet you in the hallway after court adjourned, and call you sundry names for not answering my former cross-examination right?"

Dr. Campbell admitted shyly that he met Dr. Kurtz and that the doctor seemed excited; but didn't tell him how to testify.

"Sort of walked up and down your anatomy?" suggested Rogers.

Rogers had a long discussion as to whether Dr. Brainerd, who testified for the defense, or witness was the more heavily equipped as to medical knowledge.

Rogers drew a book on him.

"Oh, I could read to him out of an almanac," said Gage, sneeringly.

Rogers: I take an exception to that remark.

Gage: Oh, well, take your exception.

Rogers: Thank you. I take another exception to that.

Dr. Campbell's verdict was that Griffith's actions were those of a sot, not of an insane man.

MORE OF PEREMPTORY
Piano Prices

Today and Tomorrow Ends the Great Sale of High Grade Investments.

The Geo. J. Birkel Co.'s Clearance of Surplus Stock a Wonderful Success.

It's All Because of Discontinuing Outside Agencies.

We want everybody in Los Angeles, and everyone within reach of Los Angeles, to come today or tomorrow and see for themselves the wonderful possibilities for money-saving that this sale offers.

If you've an idea of buying a piano any time in two years, prices and terms are offered that will not only enable you to buy now, but make it decidedly to your interest to do so.

But bear one thing in mind; this sale positively closes at 10 o'clock tomorrow night, and you may never have an equally advantageous opportunity to own a high-grade instrument.

Steinway, Kranich & Bach, Estey, Emerson and other standard makes are included—all at cut prices.

Many other makes are offered today and tomorrow, averaging from $75.00 to $175.00 less than regular values; from $75.00 to $175.00, mind you, from prices asked for these same instruments in the large Eastern cities.

Two Baus upright pianos—oak and mahogany cases—regular $350.00 and $400.00 styles, in the sale at $198 and $215.

Another upright piano, oak case, late model, worth $275.00 in a regular way, in the sale for $138.

PIANOS AND PIANO PLAYERS.

Several pianos and players are offered in combination today at greatly reduced prices. Here they are:

New walnut upright piano, value $275, and a $250 walnut pianola—the latter used a few months; the two for $350.

New oak upright piano, $350 model, and a $250 slightly used oak pianola, the two for $375 today.

New mahogany upright piano, value $350; and a $250 Angelus Piano Player, the latter used a few months—both for $385.

New Emerson walnut upright piano—regular $450 model—and a Chase & Baker walnut piano player; the latter used 30 days—both for $475 today.

Second-hand ebony Steinway upright, in thorough repair, originally $900; and a $250 ebony pianola, used 6 months—the two for $575 today.

Today and tomorrow—then regular prices, never before were pianos sold for so little; never were terms more favorable—a few dollars down and balance in easy monthly payments. Expect you?

PUT IN COFFIN, THOUGH ALIVE.

Murdered Consort With Knife and Stabbed Himself.

Double Bloody Deed Done by Luis Antiveras.

Luis Antiveras, a Mexican, aged 38, stabbed and killed Refugia Ramirez, a common-law wife, near Eastlake Park yesterday morning. After having taken the life of the woman he used the weapon—a simple case knife—on himself and made frightful gashes in his abdomen, from which he died last night at 10:20.

INSANELY JEALOUS.

Antiveras's deed was apparently without provocation. It followed a violent dispute. Why he should attempt to take his own life is something of a mystery. Peon friends of the murdered woman say that he was insanely jealous of her.

The slayer came to Los Angeles recently from Durango, Mex. For several weeks he had been living at No. 555 High street with the woman, who was about 40. Yesterday morning they started for San Gabriel in search of work. After walking along the Southern Pacific tracks for about two miles the pair began to tire and decided to return to the city. Antiveras told Detective Talamantes that the woman refused to board a car and this desire on her part brought on the quarrel.

The two were about 100 yards from a gang of section laborers when Antiveras attacked the woman. E. E. Downey, the section boss, had his attention called to the altercation, and immediately sent C. Jaurez and A. Rodriguez to investigate the trouble. When the men reached the couple the woman was dead, slashed in a half-dozen places, and the murderer was groveling with a severe gash in his abdomen.

George Davidson, a youth living at No. 145 Henry street, had been sitting on a fence not far distant and witnessed the tragedy, but it appears that no one was close enough to prevent the enraged man from executing his murderous designs.

LIVE MAN IN COFFIN.

The dead woman was removed to Crowe Bros.' undertaking establishment. It was at first thought that Antiveras was dead, and he was placed in a coffin, but when he showed signs of life he was removed to the Receiving Hospital. Drs. Smith and Freedman worked hard to save the man's life and, after stitching the severed tissues, sent him to the County Hospital, where he passed away.

The Ramirez woman has a grown daughter in the city and another child by Antiveras. An inquest will be held at Crowe Bros.' this morning.

BOOK CONCERNS TO BE UNIFIED.

President of University of Southern California Returns from East With Cheering Predictions of Great Attendance at Coming General Conference.

Full of enthusiasm for what will undoubtedly be one of the largest and most important meetings of the Methodist General Conference in its whole history, Dr. George F. Bovard arrived home from Cincinnati late yesterday.

Dr. Bovard is chairman of the General Committee of Arrangements for the conference which will meet here in May, but had gone to Cincinnati to attend a meeting of the Book Committee, of which he is also a member.

"Everybody I met," said Dr. Bovard, "was enthusiastic about the conference, and predict one of the greatest gatherings in its history. The General Conference Commission, which locates and transacts all business in connection with the quadrennial meeting, reported that the amount of money paid in the guarantee fund is greater than it was at the same time four years ago, and expressed satisfaction and gratification at the prospect before them.

"Every indication points to a very large crowd, and the committees will have nothing undone to make the attendance as large as possible, in order to repay the Chamber of Commerce for its generous outlay, if for no other reason. But I am sure nobody will be disappointed on that score, as our success in securing a single fare for the round trip, covering the entire country, removes every doubt on that subject, and I expect to see every hotel in the city crowded to its utmost.

"In fact, they are beginning to come already; there were several on the train with me when I arrived today, who came to remain until after the conference, and located themselves in rooms near Hazard's Pavilion so as to be close to the place of meeting."

Dr. Bovard expressed himself to the effect that he hoped there would be a general decoration of the city during the month of May, in order to give it something of a holiday appearance, and showed a keen interest in the Broadway boulevard scheme, expressing the hope that it would be successfully carried out before that time.

BOOK CONCERN AFFAIRS.

The subject of the unification of the various branches of the Methodist Book Concern is one in which Dr. Bovard feels a very deep interest, not only because he is a member of the sub-committee having that matter in charge, but because he is enthusiastic in the belief that it is the only way in which the vast publishing interests of the church can be properly and economically handled.

"The sub-committee on unification of the publishing interests," he said, "reported in favor of one head house—to be known as 'The Book Concern,' with branch houses at New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago, and depositories at San Francisco, Kansas City, Syracuse, Boston, and other principal cities. This report was unanimously adopted by the Book Committee, and will be presented to the General Conference when it meets in Los Angeles, in the form of a recommendation that steps be taken to at once consolidate.

"We now have a manufacturing establishment on Fifth avenue, New York, where ground is too valuable to be occupied, and it is the unanimous opinion of the Book Committee that this establishment, to which I have referred as the head house, should be located, not in but near one of the large cities in the Middle West, where land is cheap, and that house should be responsible for the entire business in connection with our publishing interests. There appears to be but little doubt that such a course will be adopted by the General Conference."

The Book Committee is composed of twenty of the foremost Methodists in the United States. Dr. Bovard representing the Pacific Coast, and its recommendation carries with it great weight. Its advice is usually followed, and it is fair to assume that the consolidation of the publishing houses is an accomplished fact.

Urged to express an opinion as to where the central house would be located, Dr. Bovard declined to say what he thought, but there is no doubt about the committee having Chicago in mind as the proper place.

He says that the net profits of the Book Concerns last year exceeded $350,000, a considerable increase over the preceding year, and the committee declared a dividend of $110,000 in favor of the superannuate fund. This dividend was but $75,000 last year, and but $50,000 two years ago.

Before returning home, as president of the University of Southern California, Dr. Bovard visited the colleges at Evanston and Abington, Ill., to see what he could find there that might be turned to advantage in his own institution.

HARD HIT IS "CUMULATIVE."

CONCERN ADMITS THAT MAIL STOPPAGE IS BODY BLOW.

Avers in Court That Continuation of Postal Fraud Order Will Cause Its Get-Rich-Quick Business to be Broken up.

The Cumulative Credit Company has filed in the United States Court a bill through which it seeks to obtain an injunction restraining Postmaster Lewis A. Groff from further confiscating mail directed to the get-rich-quick concern. This action is as was predicted in The Times yesterday. Last Monday the fraud order issued against the Cumulative Credit Company by the government went into effect, since which time none of the funds that are constantly forwarded through the mails to Orlando K. Fitzsimmons—"Cumulative" Fitzsimmons—have reached that schemer's itching palm.

It hurts. In fact, it is admitted in the bill filed yesterday that the business of the Cumulative Credit Company will be "embarrassed, broken up and destroyed," if the confiscation of its mail, under government order, be allowed to continue. It is apparent that the well-directed "fraud order," will be a knock-out blow to Orlando.

It is doubtful if the court will issue the injunction prayed for. All the necessary papers in the fraud order matter have been forwarded from Washington, and are now in the hands of the postal authorities here. These will enable them to show at once their authority for confiscating the complainant's mail. The court will probably decide the question this morning.

The complaint recites that the Cumulative Credit Company has sold 7500 of its certificates, and has paid up and canceled 2500, leaving in force 5000, which is taken as a basis for the statement that since its inception June 1, 1903, the company has built up "an extensive and profitable business," throughout the country, "a large part of which is conducted by correspondence carried on through the United States mails." For five months prior to February 23 last, it is alaiged its receipts through the mails of payments upon outstanding certificates averaged $2500 a week.

The company denies sending through the mails circulars containing false statements respecting the plan, scope or intent of its business, or any false promises; or that it ever attempted to obtain money by false pretenses. It claims to be engaged in a legal and legitimate business, conducted according to business and legal methods.

The complaint continues: "Sundry persons, believing the business of your orator to be competitive with their business, complained to the Postoffice Department that complainant was not engaged in a legitimate business."

It is also alleged that the statutes under which the fraud order was issued have no application whatever to the conduct or carrying on of the Cumulative Credit Company's business, and that the fraud order is in violation of the Constitution of the United States, being "vicious, illegal and void."

What will become of the Cumulative if that injunction be refused?

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Conversation.

The war between Japan and Russia was one of the principal topics at the meeting of the Conversation and Book Review Club. Mrs. Charles Sawyer introduced Mrs. Emma M. Greenleaf, who addressed the club upon the Russo-Japanese War. Following the speaker there was a general discussion. Another special order of the day was the telling of stories. Among those participating in this were Mmes. Last, Wilson, Spahr, Seek, Hamilton and Andrews. By way of preface to a graphic review of "Silas Marner," which followed, Mrs. Greenleaf gave an analytical outline of the elements essential to the make-up of the ideal novel. Miss Nette Kirkham rendered a violin solo at the close of the meeting, which was warmly encored.

East Whittier.

The East Whittier Improvement Club, one of the pioneer suburban clubs, held an interesting meeting this week, at the home of Mrs. Fannie Thompson. The war between Russia and Japan was treated in several papers, Mrs. Fletcher telling of the causes which led to it, and Mrs. Barton of the status. Current events, directed by Mrs. Reed, included many subjects, among them the following: "The New Baltimore," Mrs. Sanborn; "New Uses of the Lemon," Mrs. Thompson; "Cuban Independence," Mrs. Cook; "Camino Real," Mrs. Bickel; "Mark Hanna," Mrs. Reed.

The club decided to celebrate Arbor Day on March 17. The grounds of the East Whittier school will be set with trees and ornamental shrubs.

Los Angeles and Del Monte.

The colored map, with statistics on opposite page, which appeared in the Sunday Times of February 21, will be printed separately in colors, on heavy paper, for preservation and reference, and will be on sale at all book stores and at The Times office at 25c.

New Entrance to Times Office.

While the Business Offices of The Times are being remodeled, the entrance to both advertising and subscription departments will be on First street at the eastern extremity of the building.

NOW IS THE TIME USE HYOMEI

Cures Catarrh and Prevents Colds. No Stomach Dosing, Just Breathe It.

At this season of the year, catarrhal troubles are very prevalent, and nearly every person suffers to a certain extent.

Catarrh is actually the result of a succession of colds and can be easily prevented if the proper treatment is followed.

Hyomei is a natural yet scientific cure for the colds and grip troubles that lead to catarrh, as well as a positive cure for the disease itself.

The complete outfit costs only $1, while extra bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Dean's sell Hyomei on the "no cure, no pay" plan, and will refund the money if it fails to give perfect satisfaction. You take no risk whatever in using Hyomei. It is the only treatment sold under a guarantee of this nature where a leading local druggist agrees to return the money if the treatment fails to cure.

TALKS WITH TRAVELERS.

"At three different periods I have arranged to tour California and disaster has befallen me each time," said Mrs. J. C. Burrows yesterday, "but, as you see, I am not yet discouraged. I am almost afraid to boast though for fear the fates will yet interfere with my progress northward."

Mrs. Burrows is the wife of United States Senator Burrows of Michigan. She is registered at the Angelus from Kalamazoo. After spending several weeks in Southern California, Mrs. Burrows will proceed northward, and later to Honolulu.

"When at San Francisco we are so near the Hawaiian Islands—so near when regarded from a Washington, D. C, standpoint—I feel that it is an opportunity not to be missed. I am delighted with your summerland State and I have to congratulate myself on escaping the rigors of this awful winter of the East. 'The worst ever known' is Mr. Burrows's comment in every letter written me. If the time ever comes when Mr. Burrows parts company with politics, I shall insist upon spending our declining years in California.

"What about Mr. Burrows's political aspirations? I don't think it can be said that he has any. For thirty years he has served his State and I think that in all that time the office has sought him. Some well-meaning friends may have had him in mind for the Vice-Presidency, but if there was the slightest danger of such a nomination being made I should enter a most vigorous protest. I have no desire to belittle the office of Vice-President, but I know of a no more exalted and dignified position within the gift of the people than that of United States Senator. I don't think Senator Burrows will be regarded as seriously upon the Vice-Presidential horizon.

"Since coming to Los Angeles, in fact only today, I have had one of the most pleasant experiences of my life. It was my good fortune, oh, so many years ago I hesitate to confess them, to graduate from the Woman's College at Rockford, Ill. Today with a party of others of the alumni of that dear old alma mater, I sat at an anniversary banquet at the Woman's Club house. Among those that greeted me was one of the first teachers I ever had at the college. It was delightful to meet old schoolmates under such pleasant auspices."

THE LAKE ISLE OF INNISFREE.

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there of clay and wattles made;
Nine bean rows will I have there, a hive for the honey bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings;
There midnight's all a glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always night and day,
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavement gray,
I hear it in deep heart's core.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

MR. AND MRS. A. C. THORPE of No. 1449 Constance street entertained last evening in honor of Dr. Thorpe's father, G. C. Thorpe of Minnesota. The evening was delightfully spent in music and conversation and a reunion of old acquaintances was enjoyed.

Light refreshments were served later in the evening. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Burlock and Miss Burlock of Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Ball, Miss Ball and Mr. Ball of Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Wyckman, Mrs. McClaughry, Mrs. Lawrence, Miss Mae Livingston and Miss Bessie Bedell, Mr. and Mrs. Field of Vermont.

Washington Party.

Last evening Mrs. J. B. Rowe of No. 123 West Ninth street was the hostess at a Washington whist party. The guests were members of the Trolley

MR. AND MRS. JAMES H. JENIFER.

Whist Club. The affair was really given in honor of Mrs Isabelle Nichols and Mrs. Mary E. McConnell of Pittsburgh.

About the rooms smilax was festooned and draped to form a bower of green, against whose soft background hatchets of red and silver hung in all sizes from the tiniest imaginable to one equal to cutting off Goliah's head. They were strung here and there, and scarlet carnations in high cut-glass vases stood in every conceivable place. A dainty luncheon was served to the guests at the small tables.

The gentlemen's prize was a pretty silver match box with a trolley car engraved on it's surface, and the ladies' was a souvenir spoon with a tiny trolley car in the bowl.

The guests of the evening included Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eucker, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Peck, Mrs. Isabelle Nichols, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Mary E. McConnell, William T. Noble, Mr. Hurd, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Judd.

Farewell Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brand of No. 607 Parkview street gave a farewell dance in honor of their niece, Miss Austeene George. Mr. and Mrs. Brand will leave on Saturday for their Hollywood home, Miradera.

The house had been made attractive for the occasion with Egyptian papyrus and smilax. Dainty programmes in the Martha Washington style with Miss George's initials intertwined in gold were souvenirs of the dance. Punch was served between the dances and later refreshments were served.

Whist Party.

Mrs. Frank W. Huggins of No. 1018 South Hill street gave a whist party yesterday afternoon to about forty ladies. The house was a symphony of violet tones. Crepe paper was used in varying shades of violet, while the blue-eyed blossoms were in clusters about the rooms. The score cards were heart shaped with violets painted on them, the dainty handiwork of the hostess. Violet candles and ices were served and punch also during the games of cards.

The first prize was a dear little blue and gold jewel box in Haviland china, also decorated by the hostess; the second a pretty cup and saucer, was hand-painted in violets.

Mrs. Huggins, who is a stunningly handsome woman, received her guests in a gown of black spangled net over silk, which was most becoming to her blonde beauty.

Iroquois Club.

Mrs. H. K. Williams and Miss Ida Sharpless were at home on Thursday evening to the members of the Iroquois Whist Club, having as their guest of honor, Mrs. Symondson of London, England. The party was given at the home of Mrs. Williams, which was transformed into a veritable flower garden, in honor of the occasion. Low bowls filled with violets graced the tables and beautiful roses were arranged in clusters about the rooms.

The mantel was a mass of delicate violets, while in the fireplace beneath, calla lilies bloomed.

The tally cards were in the shape of hearts, clubs and spades with dainty hand painting ornamenting them. The lights shone softly through shades of red crepe paper, and crepe paper was draped over the walls. After two hours at cards, refreshments were served.

Prizes were awarded as follows: The first ladies', a Bohemian glass vase, was given to Miss Symondson, the guest of honor. Mr. Miers received the gentlemen's prize, which was a handsome stein. Mr. Madison was awarded the consolation, a bisque dog.

Those who enjoyed the delightful evening were: Mrs. Symondson of London, Eng., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Symondson of this city, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murphy, Mrs. Dutzler, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Rest, Miss Relvig, Mrs. H. K. Williams, Miss Sharpless, Miss Badie, Mrs. Cullems, Mrs. C. Brown, Mr. Ettling, Mr. Lovery, Mr. Miers, Mr. Madison, Mr. Geldrich and Mr. Schwartz.

Jenifer-de Rerner Nuptials.

The marriage of James H. Jenifer and Miss Hortense de Rerner took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo de Rerner, at Pacoima, in the San Fernando Valley. The bride wore white crepe voile trimmed with lace appliqué and carried Bride's roses. The guests numbered sixty-four, and included friends from Wisconsin, New Mexico and Los Angeles and other neighboring places. A big red devil auto driven by Ed Cowan of Los Angeles whisked the bride and groom past the group of friends who at the depot were waiting to shower them with rice. Mr. Jenifer is postmaster of Fernando.

—o—

"Black Cat" Club.

Mrs. A. K. Brauer entertained the "Black Cat" Whist Club on Monday evening at her home, at No. 1807 West Adams street. The rooms were decorated in honor of Washington's birthday. Hatchet designs were prominent on the cards and souvenirs. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. F. Beaudezart, Mr. and Mrs. F. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Brauer, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanst, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hubbard and Miss Gerats.

—o—

Luncheon at Garvanza.

Mrs. C. W. Smith of Highland Park entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Garvanza Villa. Red poppies were displayed effectively and places were marked by hatchets tied with the national colors. Covers were laid for Mrs. Albert Phillips, Mrs. Fred Knight, Mrs. M. Botsford, Mrs. Carl G. Packard, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Joslyn, Mrs. Frank H. Miller, Mrs. F. H. Gannahl, Mrs. James Donovan, Mrs. Helen Enhling and Miss Sarah Hurst.

Birthday Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fellner of No. 161 West Sixteenth street gave a birthday dinner Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Louise Bernhard of Chicago, Ill. The house was profusely decorated with smilax and potted plants. The hostess was assisted by Miss Elvira Peters. Those present were Mrs. C. Rathgen, Minneapolis; Mrs. A. Struckmann, Oakland; Mrs. C. A. Platch, Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. S. Schmidt, Mrs. C. Langue, Mrs. B. G. Thompson, Mrs. W. M. Gillespie, Mrs. L. Syme, Miss Hertha Pahl and the Misses Olga and Agatha Dietrich.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. J. H. Carter of No. 503 North Figueroa street, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Edward Smith of Fon du Lac (Wis.) entertained last night in honor of the twelfth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Pearl. Lilies, smilax and roses formed the floral decorations. The guests were Ernest Carson, Ramona Carter, Robert Harper, Harry Cheesman, Kate Harper, Tillie Carson, Minnie and Katie Deutch, Nellie Duncan, Bertie and Nellie Cline.

—o—

Dinner for Seventy.

Last night, Mr. and Mrs. J. Korn of No. 742 Lake street, entertained with a large dinner party in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. There were four long tables arranged in the parlors, and they were spread with all sorts and kinds of tempting dainties, silver candelabra with rose-colored pink shades cast a soft light over all, and pink tulle was festooned over each table, together with smilax. French bows of tulle added to the beauty displayed. Seventy guests sat down to the elaborate banquet and during the evening violin, mandolin, and piano music was discoursed. Afterwards, the rooms were cleared and dancing was enjoyed, by those who cared for it, while in another room tables were arranged for cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Korn were the recipients of much beautiful cut glass and silver from their many friends.

Entertained at Cards.

Last evening Mrs. J. Roth Hamilton gave a card party at the home of her mother, Mrs. Jennie Kempton of No. 827 South Figueroa street. Mrs. J. R. Dyers of Milwaukee, was the guest of honor for the occasion. Progressive whist was the game of the evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Burrall, Mr. and Mrs. S Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Braly, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Doran, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ashley, Dr. and Mrs Herbert Requa, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hutchison and Mr. and Mrs. Beck.

Fathers' Meeting.

The last meeting of the Thirtieth-street Child Study Circle was made a "fathers' meeting," instead of the usual mothers' meeting. About 100 persons were present. Assistant School Superintendent Bettenger gave an address on the "Value of the Child Study Circles as Seen in the Superintendent's Office." Mrs. A. B. Cass, the local president, outlined the work of the circle, and there was a musical programme which included a solo by Charlie Rogers, songs by Charles Edson, harp solos by Miss Bond and a recitation by Marco Busette. After the programme refreshments were served.

—o—

College Luncheon.

The first annual banquet of the Rockford College Association of Southern California, was given yesterday at 1 o'clock at the Woman's Club House on Figueroa street.

Miss Mary E. B. Norton of Pacific Grove was the guest of honor. She taught in the Rockford College for more than thirty years.

Mrs. W. A. Baldwin acted as toastmistress for the occasion, and toasts were responded to as follows: "A Voice from the Past," Miss Mary Norton; "Paradise and the Peri," Dr. W. A. Edwards; "Memories of the Early Days," Mrs. J. C. Burroughs of the class of '64; "Rockford College and Its Needs," Miss Emily Reynolds, ex-president of Rockford College; "The Present and Future of Rockford College," Hon. John H. Sherratt, president of board of trustees, Rockford College.

The college colors, violet and white, were used effectively throughout the room. The small tables were ornamented with French baskets filled with violets and tied with fluffy bows of lavender tulle. Place cards were dainty violet conceits, and the central table had as a center piece a tall cut-glass vase of brake ferns set on a large mirror surrounded by violet and maiden hair ferns. Small vases of freslas were set about on the shining damask and single violets were sprinkled over the cloth. The head of the table was marked by a great bunch of parma violets, tied to the chair, and Mrs. Edwards, the toastmistress occupied this place. Those present were: Mrs. James Gilchrist, Mrs. H. H. Markham, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sherratt, Miss Scofield, Mrs. E. S. Cummings, Mrs. Belle W. Bice, Miss Emily Reynolds, Mrs. J. C. Burrows, Mrs. James Staggers, Mrs. B. Randolph, Miss Susie D. GENTLE PERSUASION.

Interesting Truths from Antiquated, but Revived Logic.

In all the research of scientists from the prehistoric days to the present time of hurry, skurry, nothing has ever been found that does its work with such gentle persistent and efficacious power as the Mormon Bishop's Pills. Where overwork or careless early habits are the cause of mental or physical drains, these wonderful nerve toners and manhood builders are unequaled at the price, 50c, or six bottles for $2.50. They are sold at Off & Vaughn Drug Co., 209 South Spring street. There is no time like the present for remedying the past when there is an opportunity for doing so.

WOOLEN GOODS. The week's developments in men's wear, woolens and worsteds have not been entirely satisfactory, complaints being heard in some quarters that the demands have not held up to the expectations caused by the improvement of the previous two weeks. At the same time business has been on a fair scale in the aggregate in both staple and fancy woolens and fancy worsteds. The latter, bearing out the predictions made early in the season that they would cut more important figure than during recent seasons. Some of the lines which have attracted buyers are so well sold that agents are already intimating early withdrawal of samples from the market. There are some irregular spots, but taken as a whole the tone of the men's wear division is steady. The overcoating demand does not improve, the market continuing dull and barely steady. Cloakings are showing signs of the approach of the new season, but actual business is quiet. Fall lines of woolen and worsted dress goods are being ordered quite generally, but not with any degree of freedom, except in a few leading favorites, and the tone is steady. There is no change in flannels or blankets. There has been a little more doing in cotton yarns this week, and prices have shown some irregularity, but are still generally too high for buyers' ideas. Worsteds and woolen yarns are in moderate demand at previous prices. Linen and jute yarns are firm and tending against buyers. (Dun's Review.

BEANS. Slight advances have occurred in pinks, with all varieties firm. Limas, while not much higher, are in excellent demand at quotations, with very prevalent feeling that higher prices will rule before the new crop comes in. While the stocks of limas are large the condition of the principal markets of the country warrant the expectation that they will move out very rapidly during the spring months.

RICE. Said a local broker today: "While prices have not advanced as much as was expected on account of the war, the market is in excellent condition, and while Japan rice is no longer an important factor in this market, a short crop in Japan, which is almost a certainty, will result in larger exports from this country, and ultimately cause an advance. There is a feeling of healthfulness among rice growers that they will be enabled to enter new markets the coming season."

COFFEE. Another decline of ...cents in the leading brands of ... package coffees was announced ... the quotations being $12.75 per 100 ... ...ages against $14.25 a few weeks ... There is no expectation that prices ... low grade coffees will advance ... present quotations in the near fu...

NEW YORK MONEY. In comment-[illegible] upon the slack money market in New York, where call money has ruled under 1 per cent., and time money has been easy at 4½ per cent., the United States Investor says:

"Probably, if the truth were known, the borrowing has only been shifted to trust companies. The cashier of a large bank remarked the other day that the decrease in deposits of trust companies with his bank. From this he drew the inference that these institutions were putting out money on call. Looking at it in one way, the banks are not sorry, since trust company deposits usually net them a loss. On the other hand, they are not pleased with the competition at a time when time money was becoming firmer. The result has been that rates have been easier this week. With the Panama payments provided for and bank clearings throughout the country falling away, showing lessened demands for business purposes, there would seem to be the likelihood of very tight money this week. It will become firmer this spring, as banking officials, but nothing like the 1903 stringency is probable."

WOOLEN GOODS. The week's developments in men's wear, woolens and worsteds have not been entirely satisfactory, complaints being heard in some quarters that the demands had not held up to the expectations caused by the improvement of the previous two weeks. At the same time business has been on a fair scale in the aggregate in both staple and fancy woolens and fancy worsteds. The latter are bearing out the predictions made earlier in the season that they would cut a more important figure than during recent seasons. Some of the lines which have attracted buyers are so well sold that agents are already intimating early withdrawal of samples from the market. There are some irregular spots, but taken as a whole the tone of the men's wear division is steady. The overcoating demand does not improve, the market continuing dull and barely steady. Cloakings are showing signs of the approach of the new season, but actual business is quiet. Fall lines of woolen and worsted dress goods are being ordered quite generally, but not with any degree of freedom, except on a few leading favorites, and the tone is steady. There is no change in flannels or blankets. There has been a little more doing in cotton yarns this week, and prices have shown some irregularity, but are still generally too high for buyers' ideas. Worsteds and woolen yarns are in moderate demand at previous prices. Linen and jute yarns are firm and tending against buyers.—Dun's Review.

BEANS. Slight advances have occurred in pinks, with all varieties firm. Limas, while not much higher, are in excellent demand at quotations, with a very prevalent feeling that higher prices will rule before the new crop comes in. While the stocks of limas are large the condition of the principal markets of the country warrant the expectation that they will move out very rapidly during the spring months.

RICE. Said a local broker today: "While prices have not advanced as much as was expected on account of the war, the market is in excellent condition, and while Japan rice is no longer an important factor in this market, a short crop in Japan, which is almost a certainty, will result in larger exports from this country, and ultimately cause an advance. There is a feeling of hopefulness among rice growers that they will be enabled to enter new markets the coming season."

COFFEE. Another decline of 50 points in the leading brands of eastern package coffees was announced today, the quotations being $13.75 per 100 packages against $16.25 a few weeks ago. There is no expectation that prices on low grade coffees will advance above present quotations in the near future.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS. Shipments of oranges continue heavy; 161 cars went out Wednesday. Seven cars of lemons were shipped, making the season's total 8201 cars.

STOPS THE COUGH.
Adam's Irish Moss Cough Balsam. Relief in a day. Prescribed by all doctors and sold by all druggists. Guaranteed. 25c, 50c.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Eggs remained fairly steady at yesterday's quotations. While receipts were large the demand took care of them, preventing a drop in price.

Potatoes are firm, fancy Salinas going at 1.90@2.00 with choice at 1.85.

Plenty of wild geese have been received yesterday and today. White are quoted at 2.00@2.50; gray at 4.00@6.00.

NEW YORK MARKET.
SHARES AND MONEY.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The tentative effort to turn prices upward which was in evidence the day before in the stock market met with better success today. The more favorable condition came from abroad again, just as the adverse factors from that direction have done at the previous efforts to advance prices. The improvement was of a negative character, largely consisting in amelioration of the depression abroad. The numerous failures which occurred yesterday among banking houses at various points on the continent served to clear the atmosphere and to create the impression that the weak spots were now uncovered and the mystery and suspense relieved. This was evidently the view taken in the foreign markets themselves. The extreme depression in Russian securities, which had been the cause of financial troubles in France and Germany, have been aggravated by the Japanese naval successes, and the latest affair at Port Arthur, which was something of an antidote to this, helped the bourses, which are largely committed to Russian securities. The beginning of the fortnightly settlement in London today failed to uncover any weak spots, and this again disproved some of the fears which have conduced to the recent weakness there. The buying of today was attributed largely to the short account. This assumption was based in part upon the fact that the turn in prices came without any change in the character of the news, or in existing conditions. But unchanged conditions, even when they are unfavorable, do not warrant an indefinite decline in prices. The professional traders have been watching the market keenly for several days past for signs that the now considerable decline had reached proportions to ratify the conditions which started it, or whether, in their own phrase, the market was oversold. Assertions were made that there was some slight buying from commission houses, attracted by the low level of prices. That it was not large is sufficiently attested by the volume of the market. The further rise in wheat and the fall in cotton were consistent in response to the war in Eastern Asia. There was less money offering here to loan on time, and the demand for longer periods showed an appreciable increase. The average of the day's gains for the most active stocks was above a point. The closing was strong, but very dull. Bonds were firm, but lightly dealt in. Total sales, par value, $1,336,000. United States 2s registered declined ¼ per cent. on call.

New York Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Tin was very weak in London, with spot £1 10s lower at £123 7s 6d while futures declined £1 to £123 12s 6d. The here was more or less nominal, but held lower in sympathy. Spot is quoted nominal at 28.12½. Copper was unchanged in London, closing at £57 7s 6d for spot and £58 2s 6d for futures. Locally, copper is unchanged. Lake is held at 12.50@12.75; electrolytic and casting at 12.37½@12.62½. Lead was steady and unchanged, at £11 16s in London and at 4.56@4.60 in the local market. Spelter advanced 2s 6d to £21 17s 6d in London. Locally, it was unchanged at 5.00@5.10. Iron was unchanged.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKET.
GRAIN AND PRODUCE.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Higher prices in the English grain markets imparted strength to wheat at the opening today. May started ½ to 1c higher, at 1.07@1.07½, while July was ½c lower to ½c higher, at 96@96¾c. It was intimated in a private crop report that the weather in various parts of the country had been unfavorable to wheat, and this served to make the pit crowd rather nervous. Toward the end of the first hour, the selling was of such an influential character, that the price of May declined to 1.06⅝, and July to 95c. As soon as the selling stopped, the market became stronger than before. Offerings became extremely light late in the session. Whether correct, or not, the belief gained ground that wheat supplies would be very limited before harvest. This, coupled with the alarm in foreign markets over what a spread of war may do, served to advance prices rapidly, until May had touched 1.09 and July sold up to 98¾c. Heavy liquidation occurred during the final few minutes of trading. The result was to suddenly carry prices downward, but the close was firm, with May at 1.07⅝, July closed at 96¼c. The sentiment in the corn pit was somewhat mixed. The close was about steady at 37½@37⅝c for May. The feature of trading in oats was the heavy selling by one or two of the principal longs, May closed at 46¾c. There was a big general trade in provisions. The feature of the market was the buying of packers and the great scarcity of offerings. The close was strong, May pork gaining 22½c; lard up 10 to 12½c, and ribs 15c higher.

The leading futures closed as follows:

BRITISH DISCUSS INCIDENTS OF WAR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Premier Balfour had sufficiently recovered his health to come from Brighton to this city today to preside at a cabinet meeting at noon. Prior to the meeting, the French Ambassador, M. Cambon, called at the Foreign Office and had an hour's talk with Foreign Secretary Lansdowne. The Ambassador returned here from Paris yesterday evening, and apart from an exchange of views in regard to the most recent developments of the war, on which subject the two cabinets are keeping in the closest touch with each other, there is good reason to believe that a settlement of all matters in dispute between France and Great Britain is on the eve of being arranged. Such questions as Egypt, Morocco, Newfoundland, etc., have been fully discussed by the two governments for some months, and the differences are being gradually eliminated, until practically nothing remains to prevent an early signature of a treaty removing all outstanding obstacles to a complete accord between the two powers.

BALFOUR IN THE HOUSE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Premier Balfour, who on his first appearance today in the House of Commons, since his illness, was greeted with warm applause, replying to a question, confirmed the statement made in these dispatches February 20 that there was no truth in the reports that Great Britain intended to seize certain ports on the Spanish coast in the event of a continental war.

Asked by what authority it was proposed to detain at Ceylon the 225 Russian sailors rescued after the fight off Chemulpo, Premier Balfour said the sailors had sought refuge on a British warship. Under the circumstances and until other arrangements had been agreed upon, the government thought it would be best fulfilling the obligation of neutrality by holding the men in British territory until the close of the war. The Japanese government, however, had intimated that it was willing that the sailors should return to Russia on giving their parole not to participate during the rest of the war. The British government was now in correspondence with Russia, with the view of settling the question on this basis.

GERMAN ADVANTAGES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons today, the Under Foreign Secretary, Earl Percy, said the government was not aware of any negotiations between Germany and Russia whereby, as announced in some newspapers, in return for Germany affording Russia certain advantages during the war, Russia would support Germany in regard to the Bagdad railroad question and a general extension of German predominance in Asia Minor.

NOT HELD FOR INDIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The War Office tells the Associated Press that there is no truth whatever in the rumor published yesterday by the Manchester Dispatch that the First (British) Army Corps had been ordered to hold itself in readiness to depart for India within a few days.

HERO ON DIRT WAGON.

Guides Runaway Team With Broken Reins, Saves Lives, and Will Accept No Reward.

The heroic action of James La Velle, a driver for Contractor Charles Stansbury, yesterday afternoon during a runaway on Broadway, saved human life. After it was all over the young man tried to slip away. He was stopped and a score or more of persons tried to reward him. He refused money, and said he had done only his duty. Many persons asserted afterward that the young man should receive public acknowledgment of his bravery.

At the south end of the Broadway tunnel, at the top of the Broadway hill, the harness on the team of young horses La Velle was driving broke, and they dashed down the hill, dragging the heavy dirt wagon. One of the reins broke, and the driver climbed down upon the doubletrees and grasped the end of the broken rein. Steadying himself against the footboard, he remained at his post, calling to those in front to get out of the way. A driver of a sewing machine wagon saw the runaways approaching, and jumped from his seat and ran into a hallway. His horse ran, but was stopped by A. B. Smith of No. 1229 Georgia street, who pursued on his bicycle.

Down a crowded street, guiding his frightened team with broken reins, the horses running as fast as they could go, La Velle went. Street cars and vehicles were dodged, and not a rig was touched. Near Sixth and Broadway the runaways were caught in a packet formed by other teams and stopped. Then La Velle tried to drive back by another street.

TUBING THRUST UP.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 25.—In opening the Shafter well on the property of the California and Sedalia lease at Sunset several workmen had a narrow escape from injury a few days ago. The well had been flowing a long time, but owing to the accumulation of sand, the output of oil was diminished. Superintendent Gordon suggested that the tubing be loosened, hoping that that would result in an increased production. The work had scarcely begun when the tubing—about 200 feet of it—was thrown out with terrific force, the string going through the top of the derrick tearing away the crown block and barely missing one of the workmen who was near the top of the frame. The flow soon decreased to the usual volume. The workman was meantime nearly smothered with oil, which covered him completely.

The United States Oil Company which is drilling on the northwest quarter of section 6 at McKittrick, is reported to have penetrated a fine oil sand in the well. The property is at a distance from what is generally considered the proven territory of the McKittrick field. The well is only down 700 feet.

The California Fortune Company, operating in the northern part of the Sunset field, is nearing the completion of another good producer. This company has been fortunate in its development work and has several good wells.

The Petroleum Development Company, the Santa Fé's oil corporation, is about to begin drilling seven new wells on its property on section 24, at Kern River. The material for this work is on the ground or en route.

SOUGHT DEATH; FOUND DEATH.

John Habstritt, aged about 40, was taken to the Receiving Hospital at 2 o'clock this morning from his room in a lodging house at No. 135 South Main street, and while being carried into the hospital he expired. The man's home was at Prescott (Ariz.) and he came here ten weeks ago to secure medical attendance. Early this morning E. D. Smith, a carpenter who rooms in the same house, found Habstritt almost unconscious, and placing him in a coupé took him to the Police Station, but he was practically dead when he was placed on the cot in the hospital.

Union's Treasurer Missing.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Walter A. Dawson of Brooklyn, 53 years of age, treasurer of the New York Housesmiths' Union, has been missing from his home since Tuesday and the police have been requested by counsel for the union to send out a general alarm to this effect. Before his disappearance, Dawson had on his person about $4000 belonging to the union.

THE POPULAR VOTE OF 1904

No article on the market, whatever be the purpose for which it was created, can be a phenomenal success and be universally popular unless it possesses great and unfailing merit. Inferior and worthless articles may flourish for a limited time if their praises are sung by sufficient clever and catchy advertising; but their days are numbered from the start and their finish is a foregone conclusion. This is an age of the survival of the fittest, and only articles of true worth endure.

The unparalleled and phenomenal success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from a business standpoint is not unnatural nor surprising. It is due directly to their unparalleled and phenomenal success in curing multiplied thousands of cases of dyspepsia throughout the English-speaking world.

The reason of the wonderful success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is so plain and simple that a child can understand. It is this and nothing more; they are natural in their workings and effects. They take up the work of the worn and wasted stomach and do it just as the stomach did when it was well and strong and able. They actually digest the food and do it thoroughly, completely and independently, thus giving the weak and weary stomach an opportunity to renew and regain its wasted strength. You forget that you have a stomach just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl and Nature restores and heals that organ and makes it well and strong.

A St. Louis business man says: "I was a confirmed dyspeptic for years. What I ate had to be forced down and most of it soured or lay like lead in my stomach and did me no good. I was in constant misery both in mind and body and came to be cranky, morose and irritable. My natural disposition, which was cheerful and pleasant, left me and I was alienating all my friends. The doctors did me no good. I got so I hated the sight or name of a doctor. My wife finally worried me into buying a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I began taking under protest, as I had no faith in anything or anybody. I was sore on creation.

"I had not taken a third of that box before I noticed a decided and most welcome change. I could enjoy a good meal and feel no bad effects followin it. I forgot my stomach and had a change to think about something else. I went ahead with my business in ease and comfort. Six boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a total outlay of $3.60 cured me completely and I have not suffered a pain from dyspepsia for two years. I have an appetite like a sixteen-year-old boy. I wish everyone who suffers from dyspepsia could know what a change this great remedy made in me."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box. All druggists carry them and the best doctors are prescribing them. You need not fear that you will ever be unable to get them; for, because of the good they have done mankind and the suffering they have relieved and the happiness they have caused, the fame and the success and the popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from generation unto generation will endure.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN
The Leading Specialist

There is no physician anywhere who employs the same general method of treating men's diseases as I employ. This fact is in itself a recommendation of my service. With proof of superiority added it becomes the highest possible recommendation. Results obtained prove my superior beyond all doubt or question. I cure ailments that others say they have cured and never can cure in their present forms of treatment. Not only do none treat as I treat, but none cure as I cure.

"WEAKNESS."

"Weakness" is merely a symptom of local disorder, usually an inflamed condition of the prostate gland. Its existence by a thoroughly scientific system of local treatment, the full and normal degree of strength and vigor is permanently restored.

Organic Weakness, Lost Vigor, Nervousness, Contracted Disorders, Kidney Ills and Specific Blood Poisons are among the diseases I cure.

Consultation, advice and interesting pamphlet all free at office or by mail. I Offer You Fair Fees and Square Treatment. Permanent Cures.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN,
Corner Third and Main Street.

Thoroughly Reliable
NOT GUESS WORK
The Treatment I Give is Followed by a Permanent Cure.
DURING 20 YEARS
My methods of treatment have been acquired and are built upon many years of experience, and are not in common use and are the most effective known.

A Treatment
With Merit in Every Application
Weakness
Decline of functional activity, strength and vitality is nearly always traceable to a disturbance in the functions of the reproductive system. Under my treatment functional equilibrium is restored, the nerve force reduced, the circulation is increased and strength renewed. My cures are absolute and permanent.
Contracted Diseases
Become chronic through improper treatment; painful caustic remedies reach the direct cause of stricture, ulceration and deep-seated inflammation of the urinary tract. Chance is that every case now chronic could have been cured in one week to ten days with the right treatment, scientifically applied. I am confident I can cure these ailments more quickly than anyone, and with less pain or inconvenience to patients.
Varicocele
My treatment effects a cure in four to six days, and the cure will be PERMANENT. Normal circulation is quickly restored, the pains cease, swelling subsides, the patient's strength and vitality improve immediately.

SWEET CHARITY.

Charity was the theme and Endeavor the game Grande last night and one hundred and fifty persons were there. It was all in the interest of the Childrens' Training School of the Pasadena Hospital. The favors were offered by the leading merchants of Pasadena and Los Angeles and were numerous and some very nice. Refreshments were served.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Miss Julian Shaw of Oakland avenue was a victim of the wet asphalt on East Colorado street yesterday. Her horse slipped, throwing and slightly bruising her.

Miss Clara Merrill, aged 36, a native of Wisconsin, died yesterday on Catalina avenue. The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the parlors of Adams, Turner & Stevens.

Next Tuesday preliminary work looking toward the paving of East Colorado street from Los Robles to the city limits will be set before the Council in a resolution of intention.

Miss Florence Borden of Fall River, Mass., won first prize in the Hotel Raymond golf tournament Wednesday.

The second of the popular Lenten recitals by Jessie Alexander Roberts will be given in Hotel Green music room this evening.

Fifty delegates to the county convention of Christian Endeavorers will leave here at 1 o'clock this afternoon on a special car over the Pacific Electric Railway for Whittier.

"Pasadena is advertised by its loving friends," said Chief of Police Freeman last night. "Yesterday we had a visit from detectives from Columbus, O., Omaha and Denver. They were much pleased with the city, and as they are men who go everywhere, this city will doubtless receive much advertising from them." The new quarters of the local police were inspected and much admired. Later the party visited Library Park and had a group picture taken.

Edmund Richardson, one of Sierra Madre's most successful trappers and hunters, succeeded in killing a large wild cat near his home yesterday, making a total of eight for the season.

OCEAN PARK.

NEW BATH-HOUSE ASSURED.

OCEAN PARK, Feb. 25.—Chairman Dudley of the Bath-house Committee said today that the bath-house is assured. About $50,000 of the capital stock has been subscribed and the plan now is to proceed at once with the construction of the plunge and bathrooms. For the present the highly ornamental features of the project will be abandoned. The original plan contemplates the construction of an auditorium with a seating capacity of 3000. The bath-house proper can be made ready for this season's business at a cost of no more than $100,000, and that will probably be done.

GATHERED ON THE BEACH.

The bakery of F. G. Neff on Pier avenue is in charge of a Deputy Sheriff. Mr. Neff had sold out and was about to surrender possession when creditors closed the place under attachment.

Rev. Frederick H. Post of Los Angeles will remove to this city at once with his family and will be at home in a Grand-avenue cottage. Mr. Post has been called to the pastorate of the new Episcopal Church here.

There will be a prohibition meeting at the Methodist Episcopal Church Friday evening to gather the friends of temperance together for a final rally.

T. G. Murphy, from Santa Ana and San Pedro, will start a new paper here. C. B. Irvine has retired from the Review, having sold his one-half interest to A. B. Bynon.

On Short Line Beach Harry Jenkins of Los Angeles is erecting a $1300 cottage. It is on Dorothy avenue. On the same street E. Powers of Los Angeles is building a $1200 cottage.

SAN PEDRO.

A PATHETIC FAREWELL.

SAN PEDRO, Feb. 25.—Charles Pierce, the alleged slayer of Mike Castellano, was arraigned in Justice Downing's court today upon the charge of murder. Pierce was represented by Attorney Duncan of Los Angeles, and the preliminary examination was set for Tuesday.

Mrs. Pierce, the wife of the accused man was present, and the parting between the woman and her husband was pathetic. She clung to him and kissed him time and again, bestowing upon him terms of endearment. This was, perhaps, the last meeting of the husband and wife, as over $100 has been subscribed to send her to her relatives in Virginia, which will be done as soon as arrangements for tickets can be made.

Pierce still refuses to discuss the tragedy and simply says he can remember nothing about it. He says he knows of no reason why he should have killed Castellano. He seems to be losing his nerve, however.

SIERRA MADRE.

CANDLE-SNUFFING EVENT.

SIERRA MADRE, Feb. 25.—Rare and pleasing suggestions of colonial days were presented Monday evening at the New England supper served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational Church. Flickering candles, set in old-fashioned candlesticks with snuffers near at hand, were the source of illumination. Each guest received a reminder of Washington in the form of a hatchet. The tables were decorated with little cherry trees. The colonial idea predominated in the menu.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson have been celebrating the fifty-second anniversary of their marriage.

B. G. Hunt, aged 56, of Clarence, N. Y., E. Brecker of Buffalo, N. Y., and Dr. Parker of Ocean Park were entertained Sunday by J. A. Thompson.

T. Brewster, a brother of Wilton Brewster, the superintendent of T. E. Yerxa's ranch, was thrown from a high wagon Monday. He struck on his head and received injuries on account of which he was taken to a Los Angeles hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorn of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Yerxa of Hollywood were guests of Mrs. Ida Nesmith and W. A. Yerxa Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthias have returned from San Diego.

Miss Martha Buck of Long Beach has for several days been a guest of Mrs. John Graham.

Rev. Mr. Case of Los Angeles, who has charge of Spanish mission work in Southern California, gave a stereopticon lecture at the Congregational Church Sunday evening.

Mrs. Jane Kemp and Mrs. Charles Couch and daughter of Los Angeles have been spending several days at their old home on Central avenue.

FINE TRACK WILL BE BUILT IN SANTA MONICA.

Intention is to Put the Old Polo Ground in Condition for Playing. Rewards Offered for Conviction of Dog Poisoners.

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 25.—Polo and polo races are to be revived here and it is promised that they will be among the leading attractions next summer. T. H. Dudley, G. L. Waring and J. B. Procter are the prime movers in forming an organization for the promotion of the sports. A large tract lying between Washington and Montana avenues and Seventh and Fourteenth streets, has been leased for five years. A track of three-quarters of a mile in length will be built, and a grandstand erected. The old polo grounds near the Seventh-street Park will be put into condition for play the coming season. It is the intention to have six days of polo and races on the week preceding or the week just following the annual tennis tournament.

PROTECTING CANINES.

Rewards are offered for the conviction of the dog poisoner. On the 12th inst., R. A. Rowan, a real estate man of Los Angeles, who with his wife is living at No. 324 Second street, this city, for the winter, had a valuable Newfoundland dog killed by the dog poisoner. Knowing that Santa Monica has been infested with dispensers of death-producing chemicals intended for canines for the past fifteen years, and being incensed at losing his valuable quadruped, Mr. Rowan comes forward and offers a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of the person who poisoned his dog. Mr. Rowan even goes farther than this as he offers another $100 for the arrest and conviction of any person found guilty of poisoning or causing to be poisoned, any dog in Santa Monica during the last two years, and an additional $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of any person who has been guilty of putting poison out where it could be taken by dogs. Mr. Rowan says these rewards hold good indefinitely.

RECEIVED NEW MEMBERS.

The Royal Arcanum entertained a team from Los Angeles last evening which came down to initiate several new members. A banquet followed the work.

LONG BEACH.

HONORED BY WOODMEN.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 25.—Neighbors of the Woodmen of the World honored C. B. Johnson, past counsellor of the Long Beach camp of that order last evening. Yesterday was his forty-ninth birthday. In recognition of the anniversary the camp presented him with a piece of imported bisque statuary and the officers gave him a diamond pin.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

The Young Woman's Christian Association has secured quarters in the new Masonic temple. The rooms are being made ready for occupancy.

Frances H. Greene and Cora Biedermeau were married at Wilmington yesterday, Rev. W. K. Beans of Long Beach officiating. The rite was performed at the home of the brother of the bride. She is ex-postmistress of Wilmington. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Greene took possession of their newly-furnished home.

An effort was made at the City Trustees' meeting last night to secure a lease of the pavilion on certain nights during the week for use as a roller skating rink, but the board peremptorily denied the application.

William Brady, who fell thirty-five feet from the Masonic Building yesterday, is not seriously injured, and will recover.

J. W. Benham and bride, who came here Monday, were given a sevencourse spread at the Julian by Thomas Croft and wife of Pasadena last evening. There were seven guests.

The remains of D. S. Wardlow, who died here yesterday, will be buried in the Artesia Cemetery tomorrow.

There was a gathering of Minnesotans at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Dawley, at Second and Main streets last night. About twenty-five guests were present, all of whom were neighbors in Minnesota.

WHITTIER.

MRS. C. W. ILER DEAD.

WHITTIER, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Carey W. Iler, wife of Rev. Mr. Iler of the Baptist Church, died today. Mrs. Iler had been in poor health for some years, her husband giving up the pastorate of a large Detroit church to bring her to this milder climate. They had been residents of this city but a short time, but both husband and wife had gained many warm friends. Funeral service will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Baptist Church.

This forenoon the funeral service for Miss Florence E. Jackson was held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, on the Lowell tract. Miss Jackson was a bright young woman, only 22 years old, and her death comes as a great shock, as she was ill only a little more than a week.

CLAREMONT.

TO LIVE IN A TENT.

CLAREMONT, Feb. 25.—Thomas Evans, an invalid son of a millionaire of Marion, O., was taken to the foothills north of Claremont yesterday. He was carried to Cables Cañon in an ambulance and will live in a tent. With him are his brother, David Evans and his family physician, Dr. Rhu.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

The committee appointed by the Claremont Church to prepare plans for the new edifice, went to Long Beach yesterday to examine several of the artistic church buildings there.

REAL ESTATE MEN TO BUILD.

C. C. Johnson & Co., real estate agents, have bought a lot on the north side of First street, west of the Claremont Cyclery, and will put up an office building.

Theater of War.

The colored map, with statistics on opposite page, which appeared in the Sunday Times of February 21, will be printed separately in colors, on heavy paper, for preservation and reference, and will be on sale at all book stores and at The Times office at 10 cents per copy.

LABOR.

TOTEM CHIEFS COMING HERE.

Buchanan Due Today, Miller to Arrive Next Week.

Unionism Will Make Desperate Fight in This City.

Warfare on Women and Individuals Continues.

C. E. Miller, national organizer of the Amalgamated Woodworkers, will be here next week.

They are coming to assist Los Angeles unionism in its now-active campaign against individual freedom. They will make a desperate effort to unionize this city and vicinity.

War has been started by unionism on individual workmen, to whom the ultimatum has been issued: "Join the union or leave the city." The plan is to "picket" the individual, make him the subject of derision, humiliate his wife, and expose him to indignities in order to force him to join a union.

The Central Labor Council has voted to assist in the warfare against the women who are conducting the Rival restaurant. Money has been voted to pay toughs to patrol the establishment.

The above are the main points in the day's developments in the local labor situation.

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

"Join some labor union or get out of the city" is now the ultimatum put to the independent workingmen of Los Angeles and vicinity.

But so far as this section is concerned this union flat is most laughable, in that it is the union men who are getting out of the city as fast as they strike. They are made to realize that here, at least, unionism is not in the saddle.

The international organization now insists that the individual, rather than the firm or shop, must be boycotted. "Picket the individual, not the factory," is the introductory sentence of Secretary Robert G. Wall's communication to local unions. Continuing, this bombastic laborite says:

THIS IS A JOKE.

"That is our motto. Make it unpleasant for those outside of the unions. Let them know that there is no place in your city where they can have rest.

"The old plan of picketing shops never did work well. You can have any man effectively picketed without getting into trouble. The man will be jeered when he leaves for his work in the morning and when he returns at night. Tradespeople will take up the cry and the man's wife will be taunted because of his refusal to join us. There can be but one consequence. The outsider will have to move or join us."

Such methods may be tolerated in Chicago, New York and San Francisco, but not in Los Angeles.

TROUBLE-MAKERS COMING.

This city will for a time remain a center of activity in labor agitation. Headed our way are several international organizers who have yet to learn the magnitude of the task of swinging Los Angeles into the union line. Others have come and gone, but Frank Buchanan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, will arrive today to try his hand.

Buchanan is the man who made the fight against Sam Parks of New York city, and after defeating him for the presidency headed the movement which drove him out of the organization. Buchanan will devote two months if necessary in forcing the adoption of union principles upon Los Angeles employers.

SKULL AND CROSS-BONES.

As a forerunner of Buchanan's work Secretary Wall's personal picketing plan has been adopted here. The first to be attacked is Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Citizens' Alliance. Every mail brings him threatening clippings from labor papers.

A feature of each communication is a skull and cross-bones. Mr. Zeehandelaar is warned to desist from operating along lines identical with those of the labor unions and under threat of dire disaster he is informed that boycott must not be met with boycott.

Buchanan's work here will be supplemented by that of C. E. Miller, national organizer of the Amalgamated Woodworkers, who will be here next week. Miller has a reputation as a booster of the bully order, and will attempt to dispel the gloom at unionism's headquarters acknowledged as there prevalent by the last issue of the Labor News.

MORE WAR ON WOMEN.

The application of the Cooks' and Waiters' Union for financial aid has been granted by the Council of Labor. This money will be used in the employment of toughs to patrol the walk in front of the Rival restaurant, who bawl their wares—ancient copies of the Labor News—in the ears of passersby, who, though they refuse to purchase, have the offensive publication forced upon them gratuitously.

In the meantime the Citizens' Alliance is busy and an early trial of the strength of the opposing organizations is anticipated.

POMONA.

STAGE RIDE ALMOST FATAL.

POMONA, Feb. 25.—W. S. Newton of this city and a party of eastern relatives had a narrow escape from death at Catalina Island Tuesday while taking the six-horse stage ride. As the party was rounding a curve on the hills, the driver gave the horses the lash and they swerved suddenly, completely overturning the stage throwing the occupants out and rolling the driver over the embankment, but he held to the reins. All members of the party were badly bruised, one man having his leg broken.

ELKS PROSPEROUS.

The Elks' lodge has made many improvements in the club rooms here. Handsome furniture has been installed and a new kitchen has been equipped, in the brick addition back of Union Block.

HARVEY-BURRITT NUPTIALS.

Mrs. Julia A. Harvey and Eugene L. Burrill, were married at Santa Paula today by Rev. F. W Scott of the Universalist Church. Mrs. Burrill has resided here for several years and owns a home on North Ellen street. The groom has been staying in Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Burrill will live in Pomona.

ENDEAVORERS TO WHITTIER.

Greatest County Convention Will Open Today.

Quaker Town Preparing to Entertain Many.

Six Hundred Delegates and a Strong Programme.

Christian Endeavor in Los Angeles county will be represented at Whittier this afternoon in what is expected to be and what gives every promise of being the greatest gathering of Endeavorers ever held in the county.

The Endeavor army has grown rapidly and is now made up of fully 3000 young persons in the county and about 30,000 in the State. Whittier is on the qui vive over the coming of the convention to the little Quaker town and will welcome it in the Quaker church. The whole village is practically given over to preparing a suitable reception for the guests. One of the things they are preparing to do is to entertain all who will stay over tonight, which looks as though it might prove a great task, as the officers anticipate an attendance of not less than 600 delegates, probably one-half of whom will be ready to stay through the night.

Enthusiastic Pasadena, which is in line for entertaining the next year's convention, has chartered a special flyer on the Pacific Electric Railway and will make a great show of earnest enthusiasm and numerical strength, under the leadership of such strong men as Rev. Frank M. Dowling and Mell Brownball.

Special cars will leave this city over the Pacific Electric Railway from Sixth and Main streets, today at 1, 3 and 6:30 o'clock p.m., returning tonight after the close of the convention. The railway officials have announced their readiness not only to supply cars at the hours mentioned, but will meet the demand throughout the day, as well as tomorrow morning, when specials will leave Sixth and Main streets at 8 o'clock.

THE WHITTIER END.

The working force of Whittier Endeavorers, which is handling that end of the convention as it has never been handled before, is composed of Miss Anna L. Tomlinson, president; Miss Jacobs, secretary, and convention committees under the following chairmen: Entertainment, Miss Mamie Osborn; Arrangements, Mrs. A. C. Johnson; Reception, Mrs. Reba Smith; Refreshment, Virgil Trueblood; Music, Arthur Jessup; Finance, Edward Bailey; Registration, Rev. N. T. Edwards. All of these chairmen are backed up by energetic committees, as enthusiastic as themselves upon proving that Whittier can be a royal hostess.

The recent opening of the electric line to Whittier has brought the people more in touch with the city than previously, though it is practically touched by three steam railroads, and many persons will take advantage of this opportunity to pay our neighbors a visit.

PROGRAMME ATTRACTIONS.

The revised programme was issued yesterday, giving in detail the events of the five sessions to be held during today and Saturday. Saturday morning and afternoon the convention will be subdivided into three sessions, under different department heads, but all the other sessions will be held in the main auditorium. Among the attractive features might be mentioned the following:

John F. Anderson of Pasadena will tell of world-wide endeavor and how he went around the globe "by a close shave." His only capital to start on was a razor. He will talk about it this afternoon.

A complimentary supper will be tendered to the visitors by the Whittier societies at 6 o'clock this evening, which will be the only strictly social event of the convention.

This evening Rev. William Horace Day of this city will deliver an address under the title "What Shall I Do With Myself?"

A new departure will be announced in Christian Endeavor work by Dr. Sara E. Wise of San Francisco, who will introduce the "California C. E. Hospital Association."

Other addresses will be by Rev. A. B. Prichard, J. E. White, president of the State union; Rev. C. S. Billings, Leonard Merrill and Dr. Anti-Saloon Chapman.

Good music there will be in abundance. The Whittier Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. Charles Williams, Arthur Jessup, Fred Groton and Allan Tomlinson, will sing frequently, and solos will be rendered by Mrs. B. W. Sutphen of Whittier, Miss Edith Chambers of Pasadena, Miss Kim Christin of Los Angeles and Miss Anna L. Tomlinson of Whittier. A large convention chorus, under Arthur Jessup, will render anthems each of the two evenings.

TALKS ON LIEN LAW.

Frank James Speaks Before Credit Men's Association and Gives Advice to Builders.

Advice to persons who are erecting buildings was given by Attorney Frank James last evening at the dinner of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association at Levy's. He spoke on "The Mechanics' Lien Law."

"That law deals with four parties—the owner of the soil, the contractor of the building, the material man, and the laborer," said he, among other things.

"The first step for a solid legal standing is the formation of a substantial contract of some kind. Make your contract valid, and all the courts in the world cannot make you pay more than the stipulated price. This applies also to the laboring man, and there is no reason why any man should not get his money if he observes the law.

"The Supreme Court has held that the contract price is the measure of the liability of the owner in all cases where the value of the building is over $1000, provided a legal contract has been made and filed as per requirements of the law. If I were to suggest improvements on the statute as it now is, I would say that all present provisions with reference to payment of price should be elimihated and the parties to the contract should be free to arrange payments to suit themselves. Our present law goes too far and lulls material men and laborers into false security. It should make them stand more on their own legs.

"There are some fundamentals that must be considered. Only that material is liable that actually goes into the construction of the building, and the contract must be for some one particular building. Some contractors have the habit of ordering a bill of lumber and scattering it around to two or three different jobs. It is doubtful if this bill could be collected under the mechanics' lien law.

"The statute requires that notice of completion be filed by the owner within ten days after the work is actually done. This is often violated, and then when the law fails to bring relief to the parties interest, the law is denounced."

J. F. Cramer, treasurer of the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Credit Association, was introduced, and made a brief speech. Another speaker was J. P. Mercer, of the Sheldon School of Scientific Salesmanship of Chicago. This is an institution which places the selling of goods on a level with the professions.

HOLLYWOOD.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 25.—Mrs. J. H. Whitley entertained sixteen ladies from Los Angeles yesterday at a luncheon at the beautiful Whitley home on Prospect avenue

TOO MUCH FOR "JUMPERS."

The sect of the "Burning Bush," a fanatical religious body which congregates over the postoffice, made night hideous in that neighborhood last evening with their Herculean efforts to drive the Devil out of an unconverted stranger who appeared in their midst. Incognito made bold to ask the chief disciple his authority for high jumping as a part of the essential formula of salvation, and was then made an object of shouting, screaming supplication on the part of nearly forty "jumpers" in the room. Finally seeing that the spirits of darkness were more powerful than the spirits of light, the sanctified arose, girded up their loins and thrust the intruder unceremoniously into outer darkness.

CUTICURA
Soap, Ointment and Pills the World's Greatest Skin Cures.
PRICE THE SET $1
The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants and the anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.
The greatest testimonial that can be offered the Cuticura remedies is their world-wide sale, due to the personal recommendations of those who have used them. From a small beginning in the simplest form, against prejudice and opposition, against monied hosts, countless rivals, and trade indifference, Cuticura remedies have become the greatest curatives of their time, and, in fact, of all time, for nowhere in the history of medicine is to be found another approaching them in popularity and sale. In every clime and with every people they have met with the same reception. The confines of the earth are the only limits to their growth. They have conquered the world.

FRIDAY'S SURPRISES

Success of Our February Trade Sales.

No merchandising efforts which have been attempted in this city for a long time have been as popular as our present February Trade Sales. February is the month usually supposed to be dull and under conditions would be, but we anticipated these things months ago and our New York Buying Organization in connection with our local buyers who from time to time have been in the Eastern markets by extraordinary efforts secured large quantities of merchandise direct from the factories in many cases at prices but little more than cost of making and material; so we have been able to place them before our public at money-saving prices. This is a final clearance now of not only the special merchandise, but also lots and broken lines from our regular stock, as next week we will begin to show all of the new Spring goods. As a Friday Surprise list we are satisfied we have never been able to place as many meritorious bargains in one day before our patrons and we are satisfied that you will appreciate the fact and purchase liberally.

tonight measured .34, making 4.19 inches for the month and 8.46 inches for the season. Last year at this time the record was 6.96. There is no dangerously high water in this section and no fears for the levees, except in the northern part of the country, where breaks occurred yesterday on the Mokelumne River. The overflow from the Sacramento may cause trouble later along the Mokelumne River, but no streams near Stockton are out of their banks.

EIGHTEEN FEET DEEP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
COLUSA, Feb. 26.—The Sacramento River at this place is 27.6 high. The levees are all intact. There is a weak spot near Princeton, twelve miles above Colusa; also one at Moon's Ferry, seven miles below, and another at Sycamore, six miles below Colusa. Men are watching these places and it is thought that the levees will hold unless another storm comes on, causing the river to rise still higher.

On the east side of the river, from Colusa, the whole country is flooded from four to eighteen feet deep. People on that side received warnings from the Weather Bureau and moved all their stock, so have suffered no loss, except where grain had been sown, which has been drowned out.

WET CAR CAUSES DEATH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
STOCKTON, Feb. 26.—C. P. Marsh, a car sealer in the employ of the Southern Pacific at Tracy, was killed there this evening by a train. He was on a wet flat car, slipped and fell between the cars. He was instantly killed and his body was ground to pieces. His son, a switchman there, was working on the same train. Deceased was an old railroad employé and was very popular. His remains were brought here tonight. F. P. Marsh, a brother, is roadmaster on the Southern Pacific at Stockton.

SAVED BY HIS BATH TUB.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 26.—The home of T. H. Starbuck, an elder of the Adventist Church, was wrecked by the storm today. Starbuck, who was in his bathroom at the time, was saved from death by his bath tub, which prevented falling timbers from reaching him. His wife and daughter, who were in the kitchen, were protected in a similar manner by the cook stove.

WORST IN SEVERAL YEARS.

SACRAMENTO LEVEE BREAK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 26.—The most disastrous levee break that has been known for several years in this part of the Sacramento Valley occurred shortly after the noon hour today at a point three miles below the southern line of this city. The trouble was caused by the seepage of water through a gopher hole, the water soon getting beyond control.

An Associated Press reporter visited the scene of the break this evening. The crevasse is about 160 feet long and the column of water is thirty feet high, pouring through the break like a Niagara. The roar of the water can be heard for nearly a mile as it rushes through the break. It is estimated that at least ten thousand acres of valuable land will be submerged.

The loss will reach thousands of dollars; but, by energetic efforts in closing the break, it is hoped to minimize the damage. The trustees of the levee district in which the the break occurred will hold a meeting tomorrow and arrange for dredgers and pile drivers to begin work within three days on the work of closing the break. In fourteen days, it is expected the break will be closed, and then the draining of the submerged lands will only await the going down of the accumulated waters in Snodgrass Slough, which empties into the lower Sacramento River, twenty-five miles below this point, near the confluence of the Mokelumne River.

There were rumors of five people having been drowned, but all such reports are unconfirmed. The upturning of a boat probably gave rise to this report. Boats have been kept busy all afternoon, taking people from the lower levee, but, so far as can be ascertained, all were safely rescued.

All down the valley the people were warned by telephone, and only those near the break were caught in the overflow and back water. About one hundred head of cattle were drowned, together with some swine and chickens. The injury to orchards will not be great if the water is drained off within the next month. In some instances the sand deposit will be of actual benefit to the rich adobe lands that are now submerged. There is no doubt that the lands will be drained in time to secure crops from all of them this season.

The break causes no trouble or apprehension in the city of Sacramento, as it is below the city limits. The back water may come up near the city limits, but the levees are impregnable and guard the city on all sides.

The American River, on the north of Sacramento city, has been raging for several days, but the strength of the storm appears to be spent and the waters are subsiding in all directions.

RAIN AT SAN RAFAEL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
SAN RAFAEL, Feb. 26.—The rainstorm throughout Marin county today was attended by a strong wind. Precipitation for the storm is .70 of an inch; for the season, 29.81, against 26.70 up to this time last year. Most all of the rain this season has come in this month. As a result many acres of land are inundated. It is still raining.

STREAMS RUNNING FULL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
SANTA ROSA, Feb. 26.—As a result of the storm the streams in this vicinity are all running full and considerable damage is reported to culverts and small bridges. A landslide on the California Northwestern road near Guerneville today blocked all traffic on the Guerneville branch.

BREWERY FULL OF WATER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—A portion of the Mission district and other low sections of the city were inundated today, as the result of the heavy downpour of rain. Owing to the continuance of the storm of the last few days, the sewers were inadequate to carry off the water. Streets became impassable to pedestrians, board walks floated away, and many houses were flooded. In the Enterprise brewery the water was four feet deep. Toward evening, the rain ceased and the waters subsided rapidly.

TORNADO STRIKES PORTLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 26.—An unoccupied house belonging to William Thomas, in the path of a tornado, was today demolished. Luckily, no one was in the building when the storm struck it. The building occupied by the grocery store of W. T. Henton was wrecked, and the stock scattered in every direction. No one was injured, though several people had narrow escapes. Davis's store, just across the street, was damaged to such an extent that the stock is practically ruined.

LARGE DREDGER SUNK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ANTIOCH, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The large dredger Sierra, which has been at work on the levees on the Sacramento side of Sherman Island, has sunk. It is supposed that a submerged pile stove a hole in her bottom. The Sierra cost about $78,000. It will cost at least $4000 to raise her. There is great apprehension felt for the safety of the levees on the Sherman, owing to the high water and the fact that this great machine is now out of commission.

CAPT. HARTS'S SEIZED BAGGAGE.

CONDEMNATION SET ASIDE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Judge De Haven has set aside the order of condemnation of the goods seized in the baggage of Capt. William Harts of the Engineer Corps, U.S.A., last July, when he arrived on the transport Thomas from Manila. The court also countermanded the order to the United States Marshal to sell the goods. The order was set aside on the application of the captain's attorneys, who stated that they were not aware that the case was coming up.

Capt. Harts also filed a claim on the goods seized. He will now fight for the goods and the $1971 penalty imposed for smuggling.

NEGLECTED RIGHT TOO LONG.

OPINION IN PERALTA SUIT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—United States District Judge Billinger of Portland, sitting in the place of District Judge De Haven, handed down an opinion deciding the famous Peralta suit, involving $30,0000 worth of property on the Oakland water front, in favor of the United States government.

The suit was brought some years ago by Vicente Peralta, one of the heirs to the Peralta estates, claiming that the patent issued by the United States government to the Piralta family in 1850 was obtained by fraud and did not include or comprehend all of the lands claimed by them.

Judge Billinger refused to reopen the case, on the ground that Peralta's grantors signed the decree of confirmation of title to the lands at the time the patent was issued to them by the government.

Peralta probably will appeal the case.

AWARDED THIRD DECISION.

TILE MEN WIN THEIR CASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—For the third time in the last six years, the firm of Lowry & Daly, tile, mantel and grate dealers, has been awarded a decision over the firm of W. W. Montagu and others. The last decision has just been given at Washington, D.C., in the Circuit Court of Appeals.

In 1897, Lowry & Daly brought suit against Montagu and the Tile, Mantel and Grate Association on the ground that it was nothing more or less than a trust. They further stated that the association had injured their trade to a great extent, and, that, according to what is known as the "Sherman act," the association was unlawful. Lowry & Daly were awarded $3000 damages and $750 to cover lawyers' fees. The defendants claimed that $750 was out of reason and the case was carried to the Circuit Court of Appeals at Washington.

The firm under the latest decision is given $3000 and $10,000 for expenses of suit.

WARDRIP PAYS PENALTY.

EXECUTED AT SAN QUENTIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SAN QUENTIN, Feb. 26.—Charles Wardrip was hanged today for the murder of Hugh Duffy at Sacramento. The drop fell at 10:30 a.m. Wardrip made no statement on the scaffold and met death bravely. Only about thirty spectators were present. Just three minutes elapsed from the time the guards strapped Wardrip in the death chamber until he dropped to his death. Wardrip was anxious to meet death and was "game" to the last. He mounted the scaffold unassisted.

P. H. Duffy, brother of the murdered man, was present today and was much affected by the execution. Just after the drop, Duffy fainted and had to be carried out of the room.

REWARD FOR WARDRIP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 26.—The State Board of Examiners has ordered that the $500 reward offered for the capture and conviction of Charles Wardrip, who was hanged at San Quentin today, be divided between Dr. Maier of Salt Lake City and Carl Dalberg, a former companion of Wardrip. Dr. Maier receiving $400 and Dalberg $100.

The board has also ordered that the $250 reward offered for the capture of Albert Seavis, the negro convict who escaped from Folsom Prison last July, be divided equally among Engineer Edward Waters and Brakemen Harry Gibbs and G. N. Hair, on whose train the escape rode from Roseville to Auburn. The men mentioned gave the information which led to Seavis's capture by Sheriff Keena. Keena declined to make any claim for the reward.

SPOKE ON CALIFORNIA.

GOV. PARDEE AT STOCKTON.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
STOCKTON, Feb. 26.—The Stockton Chamber of Commerce gave its third annual banquet tonight, nearly four hundred being in attendance. Gov. George C. Pardee was the special guest of the evening and responded to the toast "California," in which he eloquently breathed his devotion to the State of his birth. Arthur H. Ashley was the toastmaster.

Secretary Colvin B. Brown of the Chamber of Commerce spoke on "Year Three and Its Results;" Dewitt Clary responded to "The Future of Stockton;" Rufus P. Jennings of the California Promotion Committee spoke on "Stockton's Place Among the State's Promoters," and James A. Louttit discussed "The Ladies."

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS FROM THE WORLD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The Japanese are representing to the Chinese in Manchuria that they will be guilty of a breach of neutrality if they in any way help the Russians to preserve order in Manchuria during the war. The Japanese have warned the Chinese not to interfere with the Chuchuns, bandits who have organized for guerrilla warfare against Russia.

FRANCE NOT BELLICOSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—In view of the attitude assumed by the French government immediately after the agreement between Japan and Korea was entered into, diplomats do not consider the latest developments of alarming nature. It is now regarded as certain in Washington official and diplomatic circles that the French government wants to keep out of war.

MORGAN AN OBJECT LESSON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The refusal of Russia to allow E. N. Morgan, the newly-appointed American consul at Port Dalny, to go to his post was brought about by Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch. Grand Duke Alexander, who is the Czar's brother-in-law and leader of the war party, convinced the Czar, much against his will, that Morgan's rejection offered an opportunity to broadly intimate to the United States Russia's displeasure that American sympathy with Japan is expressed so openly.

JAPAN'S HOLD ON KOREA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
TOKIO, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The preliminaries of Japan's campaign on land have developed so far as to render practically impossible a formidable invasion of Korea by Russia. Japan's present position in Korea has been gained by strategy and skill of the highest order. This position can be changed only by the most disastrous reverse to the Japanese arms in Manchuria, when operations begin there.

THAT ARMED ALLIANCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Representatives of European powers were not surprised tonight to hear that the Korean troops been ordered to take the field with the Japanese. They have been expecting that the agreement that was signed at Seoul, Tuesday night, would end in an armed alliance, sooner or later.

HILL HANDLING PARKER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—David B. Hill has assumed control of Judge Alton B. Parker's candidacy, and, as a result of the conferences at the Hoffman House during the past three days, has announced that he will oppose Charles F. Murphy, and will demand an instructed delegation from New York for Judge Parker.

"BIFF" ELLISON DEAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Frank ("Biff") Ellison died tonight from pneumonia, at his home in this city.

HARBIN GETS THE "NEWS."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
HARBIN, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Only fifteen inhabitants remain in Dalny. The Japanese intend to bombard the city. After the bold attempt of the Japanese to block the channel at Port Arthur, a great naval fight took place. Twenty-eight fighting vessels were in the Japanese fleet. The attack lasted fourteen hours, but the Japanese failed to achieve their purpose, being repulsed by the forts. Several Japanese vessels were sunk.

RUSSIANS SIGHT THE ENEMY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
TOKIO, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Russian and Japanese scouts sighted each other this morning at Sukchen, twenty-five miles north of Ping Yang, but did not come into collision. The Russians are moving southward of Tumen River, where the roads are extremely bad.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Gets Job at St. Louis Exposition.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—James W. Maguire, an appraiser in the customhouse of this city, has been selected by Secretary Shaw of the United States Treasury Department to operate the bureau of appraisement at the St. Louis Fair.

Goes to Circuit Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—The suit brought a few days ago by the Utah-Nevada Company against Joseph de Lamar, the millionaire mine owner, for $1,000,000, will be heard in the Circuit Court of the United States for the northern district of California. An order transferring the case from the Superior Court has been granted on petition of De Lamar.

Little Boy Played With Pistol.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 26.—Morris Rutan, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Rutan was accidentally shot by an older brother this afternoon while he was playing with a pistol which they had pulled from under a pillow in their parents' room. The bullet entered the head and death is expected.

Held up by Masked Robber.

SAN JOSE Feb. 26.—Frank Pimentel was held up by a masked robber at the eastern limits of the town of Santa Clara tonight. The robber secured no money and has not been caught. He is believed to be one of a gang that has been in the vicinity for some time.

Struck Down by Parties Unknown.

SAN JOSE Feb. 26.—James Kelly, a well-known citizen, is lying in a sanitarium with his skull crushed, the result of a blow struck by some person unknown to him, while standing in his own doorway, talking with his wife. It was at night, and his assailant was not seen. He has no suspicions as to who struck him, or why. He will recover.

Crushed to Death by Iron Pipe.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 26.—A young man named John Hill, whose home is in San Francisco, and who had been employed on the river steamer Apache, was crushed to death this morning at the landing in this city while assisting in the unloading of some iron pipes. When a stake was removed the pipes rolled down upon him.

THE SOUTH AND COTTON

Congressman Robinson of Arkansas Tells the New York Credit Men of Bright Prospects.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The South need fear no rival in the production of cotton was the emphatic declaration made tonight by Congressman Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas. The occasion was the dinner of the New York Credit Men's Association. Robinson had for his topic "The South." He said northern capitalists have been slow to make investments in the South, on account, mainly, of uncertainty, but that was rapidly passing away. He believed that the South was now the most universally prosperous of any section of this great land. There was no labor question disturbing his section in Arkansas, and no man in the South, he declared, need be idle, except of his own will.

The South has a monopoly of the cotton production of the world, and she is likely to retain it. For some cause or other, cotton has been abnormally high this season, and the South will increase her production to meet the growing demand. He knew of no foreign country that successfully rivals the South in production of the staple. He pointed to the growth of cotton mills in the South as evidence of the great prosperity there and quoted statistics on the subject.

In agricultural pursuits, also, the South leads the world. The racial question has been settled in the South, so far as it can be, on a satisfactory basis, and colored people are now content. The future is bright with promise and radiant with hope.

The chairman next introduced Congressman Burton L. French of Idaho, who was to speak on "The West." Mr. French dwelt upon the surprising progress of the Pacific Coast States during the past twenty-five years and many interesting incidents were related. "The West is going forward," he said, "with leaps and bounds, and irrigation is benefitting large territories, which will be made fruitful and attract hosts of settlers to populate what were formerly barren States.

WHOLESALE DENIALS.

Interesting Testimony of Defendant's Wife in Cunningham Trial at Bakersfield.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 26.—In the Cunningham trial today the wife of the defendant took the stand and absolutely denied each and every statement of the witness Vezie, wherein he claimed that she had written at her husband's dictation a bogus bill of sale for the property alleged to have been stolen and signed it "John D. Mermod." Her testimony concluded with the sensational denunciation of Vezie which clearly made a deep impression on all present.

The defendant himself then took the stand and contradicted each and every statement of Vezie and Flory, declaring he had paid Vezie for the property in the full belief that the latter had purchased it; that he restored it as soon as he was convinced that it was stolen, and that he did not order the marks of identification removed from the engine, as claimed by the State's witnesses.

GUILT IN THE POSTAL CASES.

Jury's Findings Against Machen, Lorenz and Groffs.

Justice Pritchard's Instructions as to Conspiracy.

Talesmen Make Peculiar Request for Accounts.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Immediately after the criminal court convened today, Justice Pritchard charged the jury in the postal cases. He set out the various counts in the indictments and said it was incumbent on the government to prove the allegations contained in the indictment by evidence sufficient to satisfy the jury as to the defendant's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. Continuing, he said: "It is your duty to arrive at a conclusion in considering the facts and circumstances of this case, the same as you would come to conclusion upon any other set of facts in life. There is no technical rule which prevents you from applying to them the same rules of common sense that you would apply to any other subject that might come under your consideration."

After quoting from the statutes bearing on conspiracy, Justice Pritchard said that the statutory offense of conspiracy under the laws of the United States is not complete until an act is done by some of the parties to carry into execution the fraud alleged to have been committed in the indictment. The combination of crime is the offense, but the alleged act to effectuate it is necessary to make it indictable.

"As a general rule," he continued, "concerted action on the part of the individuals to violate a law, or commit a fraud is in secret, hence the rule which permits the introduction of evidence of separate individual acts tending to show a common design in cases like the one which you are now called upon to consider. The common design is the essence of the charge, and to prove it it is not necessary to prove that the parties actually came together and actually agreed on terms to have that design and to pursue it by common means. Therefore, if you find from the evidence that the parties charged in the indictments knew of the object to be accomplished, and all intentionally participated in the transaction in furtherance of the common design and purpose to defraud the United States, then you may find that there was a tacit understanding, and so far as the conspiracy is concerned, that is sufficient to constitute the offense. There need be no specific agreement."

He said that such an offense rarely, if ever, is proven by direct testimony. Evidence in proof of conspiracy may be, and from the nature of the case, generally must be circumstantial.

"The defendants," he said, "have gone on the witness stand and testified in their own behalf. It therefore becomes my duty to say to you that you ought to scrutinize their testimony in view of the fact that they are interested in the outcome of the trial. But, in doing so, I do not wish to be understood as saying that you should not believe the testimony of the defendants because of the fact that they are interested and if, after considering their testimony and the circumstances under which it was given, you are of the opinion that they have told the truth about the transaction, it is as much your duty to give credit to what they may have stated as it is to believe any other witness who may have testified during the progress of this trial."

He instructed the jury if they were satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that Machen and the other defendants or any two or more of them conspired to sell the fasteners to the government at a price in excess of that which they otherwise would have sold the same and divided the proceeds among themselves, they were guilty as indicted. The jury, he said, could find the defendants guilty as to each count in the indictment, or acquit them as to some, and find them guilty as to others and a verdict of not guilty could be found as to one or more of them.

"But," he added, "before you can return a verdict of guilty, you must find that at least two of the defendants are guilty of the conspiracy charge, as charged in the indictment; that is to say, you cannot find one guilty and return a verdict of not guilty as to all the others."

He charged the jury not to be influenced by prejudice, or to be moved by sympathy.

"You should give these defendants a fair and impartial trial," he said, "according to the evidence as testified by the witnesses and the law as given to you by the court."

The case, he continued, should be tried on its merits, and without regard to what effect the verdict would have on the public mind. He concluded as follows:

"It is proper that the government shall prosecute all parties charged with crime, and the fact that the government may have employed special counsel in this case should not influence your minds one way or the other, and it is equally essential to the proper administration of the law that the defendants should be represented by counsel in the conduct of this trial, as it is that the government, through its counsel, should be permitted to present its contentions as to the issues that have been raised by the allegations contained in the indictment.

"I am sure, therefore, that when you come to decide this matter, you will consider solely the question as to whether or not the defendants are guilty, as charged in the indictment."

Justice Pritchard concluded his charge at 11 o'clock and after being out for eight minutes, the jury sent in what Justice Pritchard characterized as a remarkable and most unusual request. They desired the accounts of George E. Lorenz, the note for $25,000, all drafts, checks, warrants and statements of each of the defendants as well as the prayers and his charge. The jury was sent for and Justice Pritchard informed them he had decided, with the consent of counsel, to let them have the note and account book of Lorenz and such papers as bore on the note transaction. He said that to comply with the request in its entirety would amount to a retrial of the case. If they were in doubt about any part of the evidence, he said he would read it.

The jury returned to the jury-room, and at 3:15 o'clock, in response to a second request from Justice Pritchard, word was sent to him from the jury-room that an agreement had not been reached. At 3:20, Justice Pritchard adjourned court until tomorrow and went to his home, saying that he would hold himself subject to the call of the jury until 9 o'clock tonight. If they had not reached a verdict by that time they would have to be locked up.

GUILTY AS CHARGED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The jury in the postal case tonight found Machen, Lorenz and the two Groffs guilty as charged.

DEFENDANTS APPALLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The jury had been out nine hours when it brought in the verdict. In the dimly-lighted room sat the four defendants, who, after the case was given to the jury, had been placed in the custody of a United States marshal and confined to the limits of the City Hall. Each wore an anxious look, and a death-like silence fell on the small crowd which had been permitted to enter the room as the clerk inquired of the foreman if a verdict had been reached. The jury to a man rose, and as the words "Guilty as indicted" fell from the foreman's lips, the defendants and their consel seemed appalled.

During the time the jury was out, the four defendants had paced up and down the hallway outside the court-room and had given expressions to the belief that each hour the jury spent in discussing the case brought them nearer to acquittal. There was general astonishment that the jury had included in the conviction Samuel A. Groff, a Washington policeman and inventor of the Groff fastener, as to whom Holmes Conrad, special counsel for the government, yesterday informed the jury he did not expect a conviction and that he personally did not believe in his guilt.

Five ballots in all were taken. On the first ballot, the vote stood 7 to 5 for conviction; on the second 8 to 4; on the third, 9 to 3; on the fourth, 10 to 2 and on the fifth the vote was unanimous.

Immediately after the verdict was rendered, Charles Douglass, in behalf of all four defendants, filed motions for a new trial, for an arrest of judgment and for an appeal for the purpose of having the defendants admitted to bail. Bail was then fixed at $20,000 each, the bond of Lorenz and the two Groffs being increased from $10,000.

When Maddox, in behalf of the Groffs, inquired as to the amount of bail to be required of them, Justice Pritchard said: "I know no difference between these defendants. The jury has said they are guilty, and I cannot discriminate, but will treat all alike."

Next to Samuel A. Groff, the most surprised man was Machen, who said he was thunderstruck at the verdict.

THE CONGRESS.

REGULAR SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—SENATE—When the Senate met today Mr. Scott, from the Committee on Public Buildings, presented a report on the condition of the old Government Printing Office, saying that the condition of the walls was such that it was a menace to the lives of hundreds of government employés, and recommending that the building be torn down. The presentation of the report gave rise to a debate in which Messrs. Hoar, Gallinger, Scott and Allison participated. No action was taken on the report.

At the request of Mr. Beveridge, the Senate decided to devote next Thursday to the consideration of Alaskan legislation, and the calendar of general busines was taken up. Several bills were passed, among them being that providing for the confirmation of entries under the homestead laws, when made outside the land district in which the land is situated.

Mr. Hale said that, for this session, at least, the issue of general ship subsidy was dead. Other Senators participating in the discussion were Messrs. Daniel, Patterson, Lodge, Bacon, Perkins, Teller, Hoar, Hopkins and Carmack. The bill was amended, at the instance of Mr. McCumber, so as to provide that carriers under this bill should not make greater charges against the United States than against other customers, and then, at the suggestion of Mr. Allison, so as not to prohibit the use of ships owned by the government. Mr. Daniel suggested a provision to the effect that the charges by American vessels should not exceed by more than 10 per cent. the minimum bids of foreign vessels for carrying the same freight, but before a vote could be secured on the amendment, Mr. Carmack moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Commerce. The vote resulted 12 to 30, no quorum.

Mr. Mitchell offered an amendment providing that the bill should not take effect until July 15, 1905. No action was taken before adjournment.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—HOUSE—Upon convening today, the attention of the House was directed toward the Orient by the chaplain, who said in his prayer that "disputes between nations of the earth may be settled by the peaceful methods of arbitration." The House went into committee of the whole, and resumed consideration of the Naval Appropriation Bill.

ROBERTS'S AMENDMENT LOST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Mr. Roberts's amendment was lost, 45 to 106, and Mr. Hill's amendment incorporating the language of the last appropriation act, authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to purchase submarine torpedo boats and providing for competition, but cutting the limit of the appropriation, was adopted by 91 to 59.

Mr. Livernash proposed an amendment, providing that no money paid out for construction under the bill shall be paid to any contractor until he has covenanted with the government that no laborer or mechanic shall be required to work over eight hours, a forfeit of $5 a day being provided for each man required to work beyond that time. Mr. Foss raised a point of order against the amendment.

The Mommbassa disregarded the first shot, but a second caused the liner to stop. A Russian officer boarded the Mommbassa and examined her papers, after which she was allowed to proceed.

GEN. KUROPATKIN'S DELAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—The Herald's correspondent sends the following:

ST. PETERSBURG, Friday.—The surprising and almost astounding latest news is that Gen. Kuropatkin will not go to the front, as was previously announced, in three days' time, but not for several weeks. The reason for this, he states, is that it is not worth while for him to go there until 400,000 Russian soldiers are gathered at the seat of war. In fact, he cannot take the offensive until that number is forthcoming.

I am told that the present force available, outside of the heavy contingent guarding the railroad, does not exceed 136,000 men.

Gen. Kuropatkin, it is remembered, was recently in Japan, where he rapidly formed a very high opinion of the efficiency of the Japanese troops. It may also be recollected that he belongs to the anti-war party. At a recent audience with the Emperor, Gen. Kuropatkin spoke very openly about the necessity of his having a large number of troops, and he is further credited having said: "Your Majesty will need me back soon to look after European developments," and very probably the key to this is given in the statement of a widely-known Russian international jurist, who says it is quite possible that Russia will wage war concerning the Thibetan question, but with Thibet the only ostensible cause to be used, in case England should make any move of too friendly a nature toward Japan.

DRIVING OF THE CORK.

TOKIO'S STORY OF BOTTLING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Japanese legation today gave out the following official dispatch from Tokio, dated February 26:

"Early in the morning of February 24, four old vessels, escorted by some torpedo boats were run into the entrance of Port Arthur for the purpose of blocking the mouth of the harbor. The object of sinking these vessels was attained, and the officers and crews returned safely.

"Although there is no report regarding our fleet direct from Admiral Togo, no doubt can be entertained as to its safety."

WASHINGTON'S ADVICES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Japanese Minister has received the following cablegram from the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs, dated Tokio:

"Before dawn on the 24th inst., four old ships, under escort of torpedo boats, proceeded to the mouth of the harbor of Port Arthur, where they were sunk with success in order to close it. The officers and crews of the vessels returned safely. No official report has as yet been received from the Admiral commanding the squadron, but there is no doubt that the squadron itself is all safe."

AS FAR AS TOKIO KNOWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—Vice-Admiral Togo's attempt to bottle up the Russian fleet at Port Arthur by sinking a fleet of stone-laden merchant steamers in the mouth of the harbor evidently failed, though the venture caused no loss of life and the vessels lost were not of great value. Five ships were prepared by Vice-Admiral Togo for the attempted blockade. Four are reported to have been sunk, but the fate of the fifth is unknown here. It is presumed that it withdrew with the other Japanese vessels. The five vessels were filled with stones, so as to make the obstruction permanent, and were manned by volunteer merchant crews. It was impossible to select naval officers and sailors on account of their great rivalry to participate in the daring venture.

Accompanied by four battleships, nine cruisers and numerous vessels of the torpedo flotilla, the stone-laden steamers reached Port Arthur Wednesday. While the fleet engaged the shore batteries, the steamers made a dash for the mouth of the harbor, directly under the Russian guns.

Details of the attack have not been received here, but it is evident that the Russian fire sank the steamers before they reached the points planned for their foundering by the Japanese. It is said that all of the crews of the four vessels escaped in boats, and were picked up by Japanese torpedo boats. The report that two of the torpedo-boat destroyers were sunk by the Russians is denied.

The Naval Department has received a brief dispatch from the commander of one of the torpedo-boat destroyers, saying that no lives and no warships were lost and that no damage was inflicted by the Russians. Pending the receipt of the official report of Vice-Admiral Togo the naval department declines to make any announcement regarding the affair.

The five merchant vessels which were prepared for sinking were the Jinsen Maru, 2331 tons; the Tientsin Maru, 2943 tons; the Hokoku Maru, 2776 tons; the Buyo Maru, 1169 tons and the Bushiu Maru, 1349 tons. Each carried five men, two steering and three firing and running the engines.

CHIP ON HIS SHOULDER.

JOHN BULL AND THIBET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—[Atlantic Cable.] Lord Hardwick, under secretary for India, in the House of Lords today, replying to the request of Lord Rea, (Liberal) for further information regarding the British mission to Thibet, said the government was determined to insist on a final settlement regarding the carrying out of the convention of 1880. The Thibetans had refused to have intercourse with Great Britain, but the result of their continual intercourse with Russia had been to inspire the Thibitans with a feeling that they had Russia behind them, and therefore they need not fear the British. This situation the Indian government and His Majesty's government could not tolerate for a moment.

While Lord Hardwick refused to pledge the government regarding the limit of Col. Younghusband's advance into Thibet, he said the mission was friendly and Col. Younghusband would do nothing to promote hostilities.

OFFICIAL JAPANESE ACCOUNT.

PORT ARTHUR OPERATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Japanese legation has received a cable dispatch from Tokio, under today's date, giving an account of the ineffectual attempt made by the Japanese to blockade the mouth of the harbor at Port Arthur, and also a brief account of the attack by the Japanese on Port Arthur yesterday morning. The text of the dispatch follows:

"Vice Admiral Kamimura reports on the 26 of February the following: According to the report from the torpedo boat flotilla, which was sent for the purpose of rescuing the crews of the steamers sent to block up the harbor at Port Arthur, the steamer Hokoku, on the left side of the entrance of the harbor near the lighthouse, and the steamer Bushiu, outside the entrance, were sunk purposely by the Japanese by explosion. The steamers Tenshin, Buyo and Jinsen sunk themselves on the east of the Lao Teshan. All the crews of the steamers were picked up in safety. Our destroyers and torpedo flotilla are unharmed. On the night of the 24th, our destroyers again went on a scouting cruise near Port Arthur, Dalny and Pigeon Bay.

"On the dawn of the 25th, our main squadron approached Port Arthur and bombarded the enemy's men-of-war about the forts from a distance. We saw the Novik, the Askold and the Bayan fleeing into the harbor, thus being apparent that the blocking operations had not much effect. Our squadron then fired into the harbor, and saw the flames and considerable smoke. We withdrew after fifteen minutes shelling. While our cruisers were thus engaged in firing we saw one of the enemy's torpedo boats destroyed. Our squadron received no damage. Vice-Admiral Togo is still on the scene."

CZAR TO AMERICANS.

Count Cassini, Russian Ambassador, has received from his government an exceedingly cordial dispatch in response to his message sent to St. Petersburg several days ago regarding the numerous offers of American doctors and nurses to give their services to the Russian army and navy in the Far Eastern war. The Ambassador is invited by his government to assure the Americans that His Majesty has been deeply touched with this renewed evidence of kindly spirit on the part of the Americans, and that although the government of the Emperor is profoundly appreciative of these offers, the overwhelming number of doctors and nurses in Russia will scarcely permit her to accept aid from other countries.

NOTABLE ARRIVALS.

THREE JAPANESE OFFICIALS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Three important Japanese arrived here on the Coptic from Yokohama. One is Heromich Shugio of Tokio, Japanese commissioner to the St. Louis Fair; another is Eli Hioki, first secretary of the Japanese legation at Washington, and the third is T. Sakurai, collector of the Port of Kobe, one of the most important commercial cities of the empire.

Speaking of Japan's exhibit at St. Louis, Shugio said: "It will be very much better and larger than the exhibit Japan had at the Chicago Fair. Japan appropriated $830,000 for the present exhibit. This increased interest and expenditure is an evidence of the cordial friendship of our country for the United States."

Hioki, the legation secretary has served his country at St. Peterburg, at Peking and at Seoul, Korea. He is now going on to take the place of Count Mutsu in Washington.

James W. Davidson, the newly-appointed consul at Antung, Manchuria, has arrived here en route to his post of duty. Davidson is one of two consular representatives selected by the President in compliance with the provisions of the new treaty between China and the United States.

PORTUGAL'S PREPARATION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—M. Leiato of Lisbon, Portugal, an agent of his government, is in Chicago. He is on his way to Macao, China, the Portuguese port on the Southern coast and will sail from San Francisco. M. Leitao said: "My government is by no means alarmed by events in the Far East, but we wish to be prepared for contingencies as they may arise, and I am going out to make a report upon the condition of the colony for defense. Portugal is simply doing what England is doing at Hongkong and France in Tonquin—that is, putting things in order, so that if trouble is widespread in China we may be prepared."

NAVY DEPARTMENT SUSTAINS MARSHALL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Without waiting for any suggestion from St. Petersburg, though that has since come, and more than three days after the Navy Department cabled to the commander of the United States steamer Vicksburg, requesting an explanation of the facts connected with the reported refusal on his part to take aboard his ship sailors from the Russian warships sunk by the Japanese, from their knowledge of the United States naval regulations and from the comprehensive press reports as to what did occur at Chemulpo, the naval officers here have not the slightest hesitation in giving their unqualified approval of the course pursued by Capt. Marshall.

In the first place, it is understood here that it was not a matter of saving life. It is doubtful whether, if the men were drowning, an American warship could aid them before they had surrendered without violating international law. It is believed here that these men, who were in boats, could have landed, and only refrained from doing so because they feared to be captured by the Japanese soldiers of the town. Had Capt. Marshall received them aboard the Vicksburg, he must have taken them in as prisoners, for that was the status accorded them by the French and the British naval forces present. Therefore, as the Russian sailors would have been practically Japanese prisoners, in either case, whether they landed or whether they boarded the Vicksburg, the American captain is regarded as justified in declininig to receive them.

The following bulletin was posted at the Navy Department this afternoon: "A dispatch from Commander Marshall, commanding the United States steamer Vicksburg, states that he sent medical aid, as well as boats to the assistance of the Variag."

The cablegram is badly garbled, and the officials have not been able to fully translate it.

GUAM AND CABLE LANDING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—At the Cabinet meeting today, the question of the landing of the Japanese cable on the island of Guam was considered. A proposition has been made by the government to go to the cable company on behalf of Japan to land a cable on the island of Guam, in order to connect Japan with the American cable at this point. Japan has two cable lines connecting it with the outside world. Both of them run from Nagasaki across the lower end of the Yellow Sea to Shanghai. If these cables should be cut by the Russians, Japan would be cut off from communication by cable with other countries.

The question of granting permission to the cable company to land its cable at Guam involves, to some extent, the neutrality of the United States in the pending Far Eastern conflict. Practically, it is understood, a decision has been reached that such permission could be granted without violating the terms of neutrality laid down by the United States in its proclamation. It seems not unlikely, however, that some conditions may be attached to the permission, if it should be granted. The question now is in the hands of Secretary Hay, and a determination of it probably will be reached very shortly.

BOMBARDMENT COSTS MONEY.

Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars an Hour at Port Arthur.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—To bombard Port Arthur for sixty minutes with a fleet of four battleships and six armored cruisers, three protected cruisers and six torpedo boats represents a financial outlay of $350,000 by the Japanese government, according to a noted naval expert.

This fleet carries a total of 17 12-inch guns, 26 8-inch guns, 140 6-inch guns and 186 3-inch guns, besides numerous torpedo tubes and small guns. The 12-inch monsters can be fired every five minutes, while the 8-inch guns can be discharged every two minutes and the 6-inch guns in one-half of that time. The 3-inch guns can be fired every thirty seconds. Each 12-inch shell costs $215; an 8-inch, $127.50; 6-inch, $36; 3-inch, $6; Whitehead torpedo, $2500.

It is estimated that the cost of ammunition is always several times as much as the damage done to fortifications.

A call has been issued for a meeting in Chicago, March 7, of leading opticians. An attempt will be made to form a combination of concerns controlling all patented appliances and improved lenses used in the trade. The prosecution of infringement cases has become a costly matter, and the manufacturers intend, it is said, to vest their rights in a corporation.

At St. Louis, in the Circuit Court, Judge Taylor granted a change of venue to Charles Krats, former member of the City Council, indicted on the charge of bribery in connection with the Suburban Street Railway franchise legislation.

Judge Sanborn, in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Paul handed down an opinion which confirms the sentence of Nathan Levins of St. Louis to confinement in the penitentiary for five years for procuring hundreds of citrificates of naturalization from the St. Louis Court of Appeals by fraud to enable parties who were not entitled to citizenship to vote in that city.

Justice Gildersleeve, in the New York Supreme Court, denied the application of John MacGinnis to have continued the ex-parte injunction he recently obtained enjoining the Boston and Montana Copper Mining Company and the Farrott and Anaconda Company from paying money for dividends to the Amalgamated Copper Company and at the same time he vacated the injunction.

The will of Thomas D. Lowther, Chicago, as filed for probate, distributes an estate of $300,000 among Chicago institutions and individuals. Lowther, whose fortune was made in the real estate business, died a bachelor and had few immediate relatives.

On the charge of "cheating in class work," Fred Hall, the crack distance runner of the University of Chicago, has been suspended for the quarter and debarred from all athletic contests for the rest of the year. The accusation against him is that he copied a geological map from the work of another student.

Nearly twenty managers of Chicago theaters attended a secret meeting called for the purpose of forming a protective association. It has been decided to form a social and business organization similar to the one in New York. George Warren of McVickers was chairman of the meeting.

A fashionably-dressed young woman was choked almost to insensibility in a corridor of the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, by a man who tried to rob her of her purse. Had it not been for the appearance of John V. Reddington, the telephone operator, the thief would have succeeded.

In order to settle a dispute between the executors of an estate of $50,000,000, the greater part of which was left to him by his uncle, five years ago, James Henry Smith of New York has applied to the Supreme Court for the appointment of a commissioner to determine the commission to which executors are entitled.

Government Naval Contracts Not Conditional.

Methods Exposed at Judiciary Hearing.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While the opposition to the Governor Anti-Injunction Bill was voiced by able speakers before the House Committee of Judiciary on a proposition for an eight-hour law upon government contract was emphatically turned down by the House of Representatives on numerous and distinct occasions. Including the eight-hour proposition tacked to the naval appropriation bill was a surprise to everybody. Finally, that portion of the naval bill providing for the payment of labor for work done upon warships being constructed was under consideration, Representative Hilborn of California presented an amendment, providing that the appropriation carried by that paragraph should be paid to the contractor who agrees that his employés should work more than eight hours per day on that work. The usual provision was made for a penalty of $5 per day for every man who worked Representative Foss, chairman of the Naval Committee, promptly made a point of order against the amendment on the ground that it would change existing law. Mr. Livernash waived his point, contending that the amendment could specify that no part of the appropriation should be paid to firms lacking certain qualifications. Representative Olmsted of Pennsylvania who was in the chair, held the amendment in order. Mr. Livernash then made a plea for the adoption of his amendment. He said the eight-hour bill had been held up by senate in former Congresses after the House was late in consenting to it, and he wanted to make the Senate "show its guilty hand." Representative Payne, of New York, the Republican leader, said the adoption of the amendment would amount to a revolution of government contracts. "I must stand for any such proposition," he declared.

The amendment was defeated, on a roll call, by 87 to 110.

Then Representative Hughes of New Jersey proposed as an amendment providing contracts for new ships; also, that work shall require that a eight-hour should operate under the eight-hour law. This action was severely criticised by many members of the House, as Mr. Hughes is a member of the committee on labor, which has an eight-hour bill under consideration, hearings on which are nearly completed. The New Jersey man's a new appointee on that committee, and, in the opinion of many persons, was not justified in proposing such legislation without having both sides of the matter in mind and awaiting the report of the committee thereon. Mr. Hughes's explanation of his hasty action was this:

BOWN AND OUT.

"I acted as though the hearing on the eight-hour bill before our committee will be interminable. There will not be much time for a consideration of the measure in the Senate, and if it passed the House this session in view of the proposed early adjournment."

The effect of this plea, Hughes's amendment was ruled out on a point of order as new legislation, made by Representative Foster of Vermont, also a member of the Committee on Labor.

On other occasions, Mr. Livernash proposed an eight-hour rider, slightly in form, but it was voted down by the chairman, on a point of order. There was no doubt that the House disapproved of these attempts to slip the eight-hour bill through, and it is pointed out tonight that the cause of labor was not benefited.

Owing to the Anti-Injunction bill an important victory to labor, securing an extension of the time that measure, March 23 was named for that purpose by the committee on Judiciary. There were many requests for time to be heard all over the country that finally was forced to yield, whether able to it or not. Practically every member of the committee received letters and telegrams from manufacturers, business men, labor and employers generally, who had not had time enough to state their objections to the bill.

W. Job of Chicago, who was the first the measure Thursday morning of various Illinois employers' associations and citizens' alliances, presented a batch of communications from citizens in Alton, East St. Louis and other points in Illinois, all asking for action by the committee. Daniel Davenport, who represented the Builders' Exchange Council of Chicago, presented a committee of requests for time to be given him by shipping and other interests in Boston and elsewhere. The feature of today's hearing was the address by John Galloway, a manufacturer, of Dayton, O., who denounced the Anti-Injunction Bill as the spokesman for the non-union laboring men. He also represented the "moderate" wing of an organization composed of employers and employés, who were working for their mutual benefit. He told about a strike in a factory where he had been employed twenty-seven years. The strike, he said, agreed on by the union, was for nine, instead of ten hours, and an increase of 10 per cent in wages. Galloway reported his demands to the proprietor of the concern, who promised to grant the demands. Later, however, upon a demand that the shop be unionized, that non-union men be thrown out and that the number of apprentices be reduced, the employer refused. Then the union struck. Galloway said he was approached by the strike committee and told he must join them.

GOT THEIR ANSWER.

"I told them," said he to the committee, "that they ought to change their tone; that I was an American citizen whom they could not make do anything. I said: 'You can make this shop a union establishment if your strike succeeds and you can scare me into the street, so that I will starve to death, but I would rather starve than join your union, for I believe that it would be wrong, as it's an unlawful organization, intending to commit violence and crime.'"

After that, Galloway said he was let alone. He then said an injunction was obtained to prevent lawless acts of the strikers and that the strike was lost, the union men returning to work unconditionally. After that, they practically all left the union, when their wages were voluntarily increased by the employer.

In response to questions from Representative Powers of Massachusetts, Galloway discussed the question of apprentices. He said that the machinist's union insisted there should not be more than one apprentice to every fifty workmen, whereas in the shop he works in there was one apprentice to ten machinists. The more apprentices there are, he said, the greater number of expert workmen there will be.

"If union conditions prevail?" asked Galloway, "what will become of the American boy? He will be excluded from many trades, practically, because the labor union leaders want to restrict the supply of labor, as well as the output of goods."

Later, Galloway said: "For my part, I cannot see why labor unions should prove such a bugaboo to our people. They constitute only fifteen per cent. of the total number of workmen; the other eighty-five per cent. being non-union men, who can sell their labor where and under what conditions they please. It is these men who will be ground between the upper and the nether mill stones if this bill becomes a law. It will mean either we shall have to sacrifice our American manhood and dignity or submit to being driven from work."

Referring to the fact that union men do not hesitate to cause non-unionists to lose their jobs, whereas they object to having non-members of their own organization fill their own places, Galloway said, addressing himself to the labor representatives present:

"If I am to be barred out of your factory, common manhood and decency demand you keep out of my shop. Although I am not a member of a labor union, I have as nice a home as anybody in this country, which I would not exchange for President Roosevelt's place. My family are getting along nicely, even if they do not have every luxury in life."

"BLEEDING COLORADO."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—"Colorado has literally been 'bleeding Colorado,' owing to what has taken place there in the last ten years," said J. C. Craig, president of the Citizens' Alliance of Denver, in an address today before the House Judiciary Committee, in opposition to the conspiracy bill.

Craig was the first speaker at today's hearing. He devoted his time to a discussion of labor troubles in the State. He recounted the various clashes between the unions and the mine operators, which he, declared, was attended by violence and abuses on the part of the miners of such a nature that the newspapers of the State were unable to publish the assaults. He told of many lives being lost through plots, which, he said, had been proved conclusively against the union. Union men, he said, had rolled kegs of dynamite into shaft houses where men were working; cables were extended from elevators to loaded revolvers placed where they would explode into deposits of dynamite when the elevator was moved, and many other such plots caused dweath among non-union mine workers.

The Citizens' Alliance was formed to take action against such assaults and the organization grew to a membership of 14,000. Injunctions were then obtained, and "then and only then," said Mr. Craig, "were we able to operate mines without daily fear of mine horrors brought about by diabolical scheming against the lives of men who worked against the wishes of the union."

Craig spoke also of injunctions obtained by the unions against the alliance, which, he said, were not opposed by the alliance. After the settlement of the strike by mutual agreement, all of the injunctions were dissolved.

"No convictions of any persons participating in the assaults have been obtained," said Craig.

When asked for reasons for the failure to convict, he said he believed it due to the sympathy of the police, recruited from the ranks of labor, who must return to their old vocations when they lose their positions at changes of administration. In conclusion, he said his association favored giving them the same freedom in passing upon questions of antagonism to labor.

"We had a member of Congress who had the courage of his convictions in regard to right and wrong, and he resigned when he thought he was in the wrong. We are not against labor organizations, but we are eternally against lawlessness."

John Galloway of Dayton, O., representing the non-union employés, told of experiences in his city and the strike there.

"I am a machinist," said Mr. Galloway, "and an actual worker, and I want to say that all of the workingmen are not in favor of this anti-injunction bill."

HELL IN A FREE COUNTRY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Charles F. Waltz of Cincinnati was heard in the afternoon. He represents the Employers' Association of that city, comprising twenty-two trade organizations, having a membership of 3500, and the National Citizens' Association. Waltz declared that the labor organizations were maintaining a lobby in Washington to further the passage of the bill, while the employing interests of the whole country were aroused to defeat the measure. It was, he said, class legislation of the rankest kind. He declared that it was impossible to compel labor to keep the laws or prevent them from making a hell out of a free country. They strike, he said, primarily for the recognition of the union. The committee, he said, could not afford to pass such tyrannical measures.

Waltz declared that the courts of the country long ago had awakened to the fact that there was anarchy in the country and he appealed to the committee not to rob them of the power they now have to suppress it.

Further hearings will occur March 22 and 23.

BUSINESS.

The Large number of visitors in the city has contributed to a successful season for retail dealers in all lines and collections are reported by wholesalers as improved.

The urgent demand for wheat caused an advance in May and July, and despite general selling, May closed at 107⅞ and July at 96⅝. Corn and oats were weak. An attempt was made to carry the rally in prices of stocks still further at New York, but only slight gains were established, and the close showed losses of about a point on the active stocks for the day.

PRICE AND POSTAGE.

The following table shows the price of the Midwinter Number when sold at The Times office. The edition will be for sale at city news stands as well as out-of-town news agencies, wrapped ready for mailing. A SERIOUS EVIL.

"He that teacheth not his child a trade, it is the same as if he taught him to be a thief," says the Talmud. The aphorism is as true today as when it was written some centuries ago. It is a self-evident truth brought down from the ages, and it is as directly applicable to the conditions of today as if it were a newly-discovered truth, born out of the exigencies of the present time.

One of the numerous evil practices of later-day trade-unionism is that of attempting to exclude from the privileges of equal opportunity and equal citizenship a certain percentage of the young men of today by virtually refusing them the right to learn a trade. The rules of nearly all the unions, if not of all, place a limit upon the number of apprentices that shall be employed, relative to the number of journeymen employed. This limitation is often unreasonable; in fact, it is always unreasonable, because in making such regulations and trying to enforce them the unions are exceeding the "sphere of influence" that might be conceded to them if their aims and methods were legitimate.

Such regulations as those referred to are clearly against the public good, and are as clearly opposed to the principles upon which our government is founded. They are against the public good because the public good demands that each individual of the community, so far as practicable, shall become self-sustaining, so as to bear his due and proportionate share of the burdens and responsibilities of citizenship. Individuals who are not self-sustaining are necessarily a burden, in one form or another, which must be borne by the community, or by those individuals of the community who are self-sustaining.

Such regulations are opposed to the fundamental principles of our government, because one of the first of those principles requires that every individual shall have equal opportunities, equal privileges, equal immunities and equal rights before the law. When one person is allowed to learn a certain trade and another person is refused that right, the spirit of the fundamental law is flagrantly violated and its intent thwarted.

Back of these efforts of unionists to limit the opportunities of other men is a most selfish and sordid spirit. While professing to have at heart the good of labor (in an abstract sense,) they deliberately seek to shut the door of opportunity against large numbers of young men; and in proportion as they succeed in this object, the young men are driven into vagabondage and crime. The aim of unionists is to create a labor monopoly, of which they shall be the beneficiaries; to bring to a favored few, comprised in their organizations, advantages which they seek to deny to the great body of independent workers outside of their organizations. When they speak of advancing and upholding "the cause of labor," they mean only union labor, not labor in any true and catholic sense.

For years, unionists have been able to deceive the public, and to gain sympathy to which they were not justly entitled, by a deliberate system of false pretensions regarding their purposes and methods. The eyes of the public have been opened to the extent and the enormity of these deceptions. The truth is at last becoming apparent, and people are coming to understand that the would-be monopolists of labor-unionism are no more entitled to public support and toleration than are any other class of men who seek to secure for themselves undue and unfair advantages at the expense of other men.

THE CHICAGO OF THE SOUTHWEST.

The felt factory of Alfred Dolge, at the new Dolgeville in the San Gabriel Valley, is likely to be only a beginning in the new manufacturing line at that point. Statements that have been published in The Times of late, regarding the advantages offered by this section for manufacturing purposes, have aroused much interest among manufacturers in the East. As mentioned recently, a large Eastern manufacturer of pianos has been looking over the ground and is not unlikely to locate here. More recently the owner of a knitting mill in New York State has written to Mr. Dolge, asking his advice in regard to the idea of moving his entire plant to that place. He says:

"It seems to me that the time has come when the Pacific Slope should make its own knit underwear. You raise the wool, send it East at an expense of two cents per pound, and then it is sent back at a cost per dozen for carriage of about fifty cents. Add to this the freight on the wool and you have a California mill with a protective tariff of at least seventy-five cents per dozen.

"It would seem to me that cotton from Texas, Oklahoma or New Mexico should cost no more at your town than in the East. Thus California should carry no handicap as far as raw material is concerned.

"As for labor, you know whether it can be had as cheap as in the East. You must bear in mind this fact, that knitting mill employés are better paid here than are any other class of textile operatives.

"Canada, with a population of about 7,000,000 and a protective tariff of thirty-five per cent., makes all of her own knit underwear and uses the product of over 100 sets of cards, besides many mills that use yarns which are bought of yarn spinners.

"The States of Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Washington, Oregon and California, together with Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Oklahoma and New Mexico have a population of about 4,000,000, and it seems to me that potentially these 4,000,000 are equal to the seven of Canada."

From now on we may expect to see these manufacturing propositions in Southern California increasing rapidly. Our population is assuming proportions that enables it to offer a fair local market for manufactured products. Then, we have the great and growing Southwest, from Utah on the north to Mexico on the south, all of which section will look more and more to Los Angeles as its commercial headquarters. The combined advantages of mild climate, high railroad rates on Eastern manufactured goods, and freedom from labor disturbances must inevitably bring to this section an ever-increasing number of manufacturing industries, so that a few years from now even the horticultural industry will have to take a back seat, so far as the value of the output is concerned. It may grieve many lovers of the beautiful to see the bright atmosphere of the Land of the Afternoon disfigured by volumes of black smoke from factory chimneys, and its restfulness disturbed by throbbing machinery, but by substituting more cleanly electric power for engines and fuel, these drawbacks may be obviated. In any case, it is manifest destiny that Los Angeles is becoming more and more the Chicago of the Southwest—let us hope, without the gross evils that are so rampant in that large and wicked city. Watch the development of the great Southwest.

LIBRARY BONDS VETOED.

Acting Mayor W. M. Bowen, in returning to the Council without his approval the resolutions providing for a bond issue of $250,000 for a public library, and one of $50,000 for additions to the city jail building and site, has given some very good reasons for his action—reasons which appear to be conclusive.

It is extremely doubtful if these proposed issues would meet with public approval if submitted to the people. The proposed issue for a public library would be, the acting Mayor says, inadequate for purchasing a site and erecting thereon a suitable library building, such as the city should build if it builds at all. There are grave objections to the erection of a library building in Central Park, and the legal right of the city to do so is, to say the least, extremely doubtful.

The present bonded indebtedness of the city is about $5,000,000. There is in addition, outstanding but unsold, an issue of $400,000 for storm drains. A further issue of $337,500 is contemplated for the purchase of the West Side Water Company's plant, besides $150,000 for the construction of an impounding reservoir and $50,000 for a detention hospital. These proposed issues, if approved, in addition to the storm-drain bonds, would add $937,500 to the city's bonded indebtedness, raising the total to nearly $6,000,000.

It is clear that the time has come to call a halt in this matter of adding to the city's bonded indebtedness. The question of present interest is as to just where we shall draw the line. Not on the storm-drain bonds, certainly. The plan broached some time ago to cancel those bonds received little support, while it met with very strong opposition, and deservedly so. The storm drains are a necessity, the people have approved the bonds for building them, and there will probably not be much difficulty in marketing them. The outfall-sewer bonds would probably have failed to carry had they not been submitted in conjunction with the storm-drains proposition, and the storm drains should be built as a matter of good faith as well as a matter of public expediency.

The proposed bonds for acquiring the West Side plant and those for building an impounding reservoir, while they will add to the total of the city's bonded indebtedness, will not add a penny to the burdens of taxpayers, as they will be taken care of, principal and interest, by the water revenues. Under these circumstances, the water bonds will doubtless be approved at the polls. The purchase of the West Side plant will complete municipal ownership of the water-distributing system in the city, and will give to all sections of the city uniform water rates. The voters will hardly be so shortsighted as to refuse authorization of these bonds, as the property to be acquired will in reality cost the city nothing.

Although a public-library building would be a desirable consummation, the need for it is by no means so pressing as is that for the practical public improvements above referred to. The city might put up a very serviceable addition to the City Hall, on the vacant lot adjoining the site on the north, which would answer all requirements for some years to come. A moderate issue of bonds for that purpose would probably receive public approval. But when the city erects a library building it should build for the future, not merely for the present. An adequate library building and site would cost from $350,000 to $450,000. Such an expense is not to be thought of at present, and will not be practicable for some years.

Time will doubtless show that Mr. Bowen has acted wisely in vetoing the proposed library-bond issue of $250,000. As we have said, it is time to call a halt, and the acting Mayor seems to have hit upon the right place at which to call it.

The war in the Far East has caused a rapid advance in the price of camphor, and this with the spring season not far distant. Verily, 'tis an ill wind that blows nobody good—and the festive moth is doubtless looking forward to an exceptionally prosperous season.

No reports were received from San Francisco as to the wonderful enthusiasm prevailing at the annual Iroquois Club meeting over the candidacy of William R. Hearst. Can it be possible that the longest grapevine in the world was not working?

As The Times has said before, Los Angeles needs a better place for its library than it now has, but it will be better to wait a little longer before having such place than to select a wrong site or provide inadequately for its construction.

Southern California Japs expect to send $100,000 to the Mikado's war fund by August 31. It might be well to advance the date, inasmuch as it has been officially announced by the contending nations that the war will be ended by August.

The pictures of Gen. Stoessel, who is in command of Port Arthur, show him to be slightly more bald-headed than John D. Rockefeller. If he is only half as long-headed, however, there will be no question about the finish of the Japs.

That "very shrewd Democratic politician" who has picked dear old Adlai for winner in the Democratic National Convention, is certainly shrewd, in so far as he declines to have his name mentioned.

It is now asserted that crows in Indiana, deprived of their usual food supply by the long and hard winter, are attacking live stock. But perhaps the marauders are not as black as they are painted.

If Uncle Sam concludes to annex Santo Domingo, a lot of the natives who have had difficulty in finding enough fighting to satisfy them will cease to have any such trouble.

It is said that in Italy those who spread fake war news are sent to jail. How nice it would be if the Italian plan could be applied to the Orient during the present unpleasantness.

What a traveler the parasite of the Mediterranean fruit fly must be. George Compere is now chasing it the second time around the world and he hasn't caught it yet!

Mr. Easterner, how do you like the weather we have had in Los Angeles the last two days? Don't you think the goods are all that we advertise them to be?

The City Council has voted to refurnish the Mayor's office. It will not be entirely refitted, however, until the next election.

THE WAR POET AND KOREA.

To sing a song of Eastern battle
In saw-tooth word, which seen or heard
Would make Pegasus' harness rattle.
We are not halted long by "Seoul,"
For surely anyone would know it,
That this will plainly rhyme with "fool,"
The kind of fool that is a poet.
I cannot find a mate for "Yalu"
Nor for "Tooman" its tributary.
If I should use, for mere abuse,
These words of wild and jagged orthography
I'd have to fight, or take to flight,
Hwang-iu, Kil-iu, Sak-ju and Ham-heung,
Sam-cchok, Pin-yang, and then Pe-chi-li,
Was ever such a language sung
Oh, kindly wipe it off the map,
Such language must enrage the Jap,
Surely it is a "causus belli."
For anyone to speak or spell ye.

THE PLAYHOUSES.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE. Costume running riot to the extreme of unique and beautiful design, choral magnificence developed to the Nth degree of fetchingness, scenic absurdity raised to a new limit of foolishness, comedy of the finest twenty-year vintage—these, with the envied "all-star" roster of names, comprise the winning attractions of the Weber and Fields show which opened its engagement before congregated fashion last night.

"Whoop-Dee-Doo" is as much of a "creation" as all of the Weberfields "funning," and contains the usual varied assortment of songs, choral numbers, dialogues and scenes full of ludicrous business. It is in several "whoops," presenting a long evening full of entertainment, and serves to display to the fullest the varied talents of the well-known aggregation of "gloom dispersers" responsible for it.

For its class, the company of its kind now at the Grand Operahouse is undoubtedly the best in the profession. Weber and his partner, Fields, left New York recently because business was so bad that there was nothing in it for them during the close of the season. While not wishing New Yorkers any evil, Angelenos are doubtless glad that business was bad in that quarter.

There have been choruses and choruses in Los Angeles, but from the artistic and pictorial point of view, no such chorus as the pretty "Whoopers" who made their appearance last evening. Costume effects have evidently been studied out by a person whose sense of the esthetic is great. There are girls short, girls tall, and girls plumply-sized into a convenient middle list, and they are dressed in a manner to feast the most discriminating eye.

Naturally, the most interest last night centered in Joseph M. Weber, Lew M. Fields and Lillian Russell. Lillian Russell!—there's a name to conjure with yet, though she no longer chooses to have it printed in the biggest type on the bill. She seems really to have the evanescent secret of feminine perenniality—you wouldn't believe that her daughter is a college graduate and married. That daughter had best not live at home, or hubby may some day elope with his sprightly and beautiful mamma-in-law. Just as she used to look, she looks now—there is the same suggestion of bright youth in her face and eyes and gestures, and the same winsomeness that brought audiences to her feet years ago. If anything, the seasons have carried just a softening touch to her face that has added another charm all its own. Her voice is not so strong as when she sang in "La Cigale," but its owner uses it with careful discrimination that makes it still beautiful and sweet. Between the studied restraint of the Russell voice and the gasping efforts of Patti to send forth the ringing dramatic thrill that once had charmed—what a difference, with the credit balance all on the Russell side.

Weber and Fields created their peculiar form of German comedy. They are its pioneers, they made it to suit themselves, and through them or younger men playing after them the Weber-Fields productions have become famous all over the United States. In this performance they appear as a couple of guileless Germans in Paris for an investment and a possible good time while they are looking for it. They fall out of an airship at the start, and after this sensational entrance they become proprietor and bell boy of a hotel, respectively, do a living picture stunt in a "Dying Gladiator" pose, and make themselves generally ridiculous. Rough comedy with them is elevated into an art—an art so excruciatingly funny that there were doubtless many sore ribs after they had left the stage for the final exit last evening.

Louis Mann takes the other German comedy role, and is almost equally laughable with Weber and Fields. Then there is that excellent funmaker, Peter F. Dailey, and John T. Kelly, laboring under the handicap of a bad cold. Mabel Fenton is another co-star with Lillian Russell, and with her husband, Charles J. Ross, is a whole show in herself.

After the scenes of the first "whoop" a burlesque on "Catherine" was presented. Annie Russell's play is turned into clever travesty by these winning burlesquers.

Last night's audience stretched from almost beyond the footlights to the front of the Natick House, where the last of the stragglers were lined up in rows watching their more fortunate brethren and sisters going and coming from the playhouse.

"Whoop-De-Doo" will be presented again this afternoon's matinee, and tonight, which performance will close the engagement.

Edward Hicks Moore died yesterday at his home at No. 511 West Twenty-third street, this city, aged 60. He was born in Little Britain, Lancaster county, Pa., and when only 18 enlisted in the Civil War. He served for two years under Gen. McClellan and until the close of hostilities.

He removed to Idaho in 1867 where he was twice elected to the State Legislature. He was postmaster of Silver City for ten years, and treasurer of Owyhee county for four years. In 1878 he married Frances S. Stuart who, with their two sons, Raymond C. and Chester B., survive him. In 1893 he retired from business and with his family came to Los Angeles for the benefit of his health.

CITIES AND THEIR MANAGEMENT.

The Times will offer to its readers tomorrow the first of a series of papers on the municipal undertakings of Great Britain from the pen of Frederick Upham Adams, the creator of "Col. Monroe and His Doctrine," and author of "John Burt," "The Kidnaped Millionaires" and other well-known books and essays. The government of our great cities and the eradication of the curses of bribery and favoritism occupy first places among the problems demanding attention and solution at the hands of the millions of citizens who populate our great commercial centers. Mr. Adams has long been a student of these conditions and is peculiarly fitted for the work he has selected.

Those who have read "Col. Monroe's Doctrine" and other writings need not be assured of the literary excellence of this series of articles. The author takes his readers with him, and together they study the real Englishman of today; admiring his progress, smiling at his follies and protesting at that national taint of stupidity which he fondly imagines to be conservatism.

England is, Mr. Adams believes, facing the most momentous crisis in the history of modern nations. Her commercial, manufacturing and political existence is directly menaced, he declares, by relentless outside rivals and by the inertia of a stolid internal stupidity. The alert statesmen of all countries are eagerly watching her next moves on the world's chess boards and unless signs are misleading a commercial war is pending of most stupendous magnitude, and one from which the United States cannot reasonably hope to escape unscathed.

The initial paper is largely devoted to a description of England's remarkable railway system, with a word painting of certain peculiarities of the world's metropolis.

FARMING BY MAIL.

The University of California is to set[illegible] A correspondence school of farming, by [illegible] all agricultural pursuits will be taught [illegible] mail.—[News Item.

Why roughen up your tender hands
And stump about in cowhide boots
A la the ideal farmer man?
Why toil away in rain and sun,
Can learn the farmer's art by mail?

Why get out on a sweltering day
And hoe the beets or weed the corn?
Why chase a plow about the lot,
Or feed the pigs at night and morn?
Why hunt the cows, and idly sit
Astride a stool and fill your pail,
When you can learn the gentle art
Of doing all these things by mail?

And wonder if you'll get a crop?
Why tramp down to the wood lot, and
With calloused fingers hack a chop?
Why have to cultivate the beans,
Or, on the barn floor, swing a flail,
When you can learn the ins and outs

'Tis foolishness to toil away
Beneath a humid summer sun,
At cutting oats or raking hay,
In fact, such hardships you should shun;
For what do you expect to gain,
What good, my friend, will it avail
To work yourself to death, when you
Can learn these secrets all by mail?

Take the plow, the hoe, the rake
And the reaper and the drag;
Eschew the milking morn and night,
And currying the festive nag.
Why feel that you must do such work
When each exact, minute detail
Of farm life is revealed to you,
For just a two-cent stamp, by mail?

WHAT CAUSED IT.

Within the padded cell he sat,
We asked: "What is it for?"
"Because," the jailer made reply,
"He tried to learn those names bred by The Russo-Japan war."

Having gobbled the American Ice Company, the Standard Oil Company now proposes to really chop some freeze.

"Russia now proposes to end the war in August," says a St. Petersburg dispatch. Yes, if Barkis is willin'.

BUT CLARA GAVE HER PARTY.

Clara Rooper gave a party last Tuesday evening, and there were forty present in spite of the howling blizzard that prevailed. The two loads of young folks from Wyomissa were stalled in the snow at the foot of the hill and had to walk to Mr. Rooper's. They remained until morning light showed them where to drive. Mr. Childs, with his daughter and Gertrude Hayden, started for home at half past one, their horse getting down in the snow below Mrs. Cronkhite's. The girls walked back to Pearson Cox's, where they were thankful to find shelter and a warm fire. Mr. Childs, abandoning his cutter, reached home about 3 a.m.—[Warsaw (N. Y.) New Yorker.

The United States Senate having ratified the Panama treaty, Uncle Sam can now get out his pick and shovel any old time—immediately, if not sooner.

The senior class of Stanford University will produce the opera "Patience." It is hoped the audience will have plenty of it while these amateurs are on the stage.

A FORLORN HOPE.

If Russia does not expect to end the war until August she must have a mighty poor opinion of the Missouri rule regarding quick action.

The price of ham is going up on account of the war, but, come to think of it, hogishness figures largely in the scrap, anyway.

A cashier in Belleville, N. Y., is missing, although his accounts are all straight. This leaves no outlet for the gossips to work their hammers on.

Rockefeller has cornered the asbestos market. Why couldn't John D. be satisfied with what he already has here on earth and leave this latter deal for a day when he will really need it?

A Michigan girl died at a performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." We've expected that the "Uncle Tom" would finally fasten its deadly fangs on the public. Let us have a quick ring-down of the asbestos curtain before the microbe spreads!

"Why did Admiral Togo leave Wei-hai-Wei?" asks a London dispatch. Well, he probably felt that having done all the damage he could to the Russian fleet, it would be wise Togo.

It beats all how sentiment runs in Los Angeles on the war in the Far East. An East Side man has refused to buy a portable oven for his wife because it was made of Russia iron, while a University man will not buy a coal hod that is Japanned.

The Usual Majority.

One hundred citizens from Michigan called on the President this morning to invite him to attend the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the Republican party under the Oaks at Jackson.

Frank Hosford, a Michigan Democrat, came in.

"Hello, Frank," said Gen. Alger, "won't you be lonesome here with one hundred Republicans and you the only Democrat?"

"No," said Hosford. "That's about the usual majority in Michigan."—Washington Correspondent, New York World.

which have been growing scarce years, are now hardly obtainable. There is a fairly ample supply of cod and haddock, but the fresh fish—that is, fish not frozen and transported considerable distance—are scarce. Potatoes, beans, cabbage, lentils and other vegetables are higher than they have been for years. Even rolls are being raised in various parts of the city. In the tenement district section, where lentil soup, baked beans and potatoes are staple articles of food, the peddlers, even, have raised their prices a couple of cents on each article sold.

LEAGUE FORMED BY YOUNG MEN.

REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES ARE TO BE SUPPORTED.

Organization to Have Elaborate Clubrooms on Second Street and Will Work for an Enrollment of Thousand Enthusiastic Partisans.

A new political organization, composed of the younger element of the Republican party has been effected, its avowed object being to ennunciate the principles of Republicanism rather than the conservation of individual interests.

That, at least, is the nature of the club as set forth by its promoters. A desire to conflict or contest with other clubs or leagues for supremacy is not entertained by the young men, but they express themselves as fully girded for the fray along legitimate lines.

Quarters have been secured in the Heldman Building on Second street, where the Young Women's Christian Association formally had chambers. The evening of March 20 has been fixed for the formal opening of the club, when a smoker will be given. Several hundred invitations will be given out.

With the selection of the following officiary, complete organization was effected yesterday: President, A. A. Allen, former Councilman from the Sixth Ward; vice-president, W. P. Jeffries, treasurer, R. Wankowski; secretary, W. H. Harrison; directors, T. E. Newlin, George I. Cochran, James Slauson, H. G. S. McCarthy, D. C. McGarvin, Oscar Mueller, Leo Youngworth, E. Selph; James Clark, Pasadena; Oscar Lawler, W. H. Harrison, postmaster of Long Beach and Robert Wankowski.

The sponsors for the club are "Billy" Dunn, F. X. Parker, J. W. McKinley, Mott H. Flint and Luther Brown. Johnny Wray and Albert Searl are active in the organization.

The club is pledged to support all regular Republican nominees. Dues will be $1 per quarter. Features of the clubrooms, which are to be richly furnished, will be billiard tables, a reading-room and all the paraphernalia peculiar to a well-ordered social club. To the end that the clubrooms may be properly maintained, prominent Republicans have pledged subscriptions of $5 per month until the close of the campaign.

The new organization starts off with a membership of 400. As the campaign advances an enrollment of 1000 is confidentially expected by its promoters, they say.

Yesterday's Forecast and Report.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—[Reported by George E. Franklin, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.05; at 5 p.m., 30.04. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 58 deg. and 56 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 80 per cent.; 5 p.m., 58 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., west, velocity 1 mile; 5 p.m., west, velocity 13 miles. Maximum temperature, 64 deg.; minimum, 52 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions.—A storm has entered the North Pacific Slope the past twenty-four hours and has a southern extension into Nevada. Rain is reported from Washington and Oregon and cloudy weather in California. Light rain has fallen in the San Joaquin Valley and the vicinity of Point Concepcion during the past twenty-four hours. The District Forecaster at San Francisco advises north-bound vessels of a storm on the Oregon coast and heavy weather at sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Weather conditions and general forecast. The following are the seasonal rainfalls to date, as compared with those of same date last season, and rainfall in the last twenty-four hours:

LIQUOR'S FOES NOT AGREEING.

Anti-Saloon and Prohibition Forces Not Allied.

Two Plans for Campaign and They're Different.

Total Prohibition or Wholesale Stands Between.

The old adage says that it always takes two to make a quarrel; but in this Land of Sunshine, where may be seen so many anomalies, there appears to have cropped up a quarrel that is disclaimed by both sides to the controversy. It is a sort of "scrap" between the Anti-Saloon League and the Prohibitionists.

Dr. Chapman, leader of the Anti-Saloon forces, says: "There is no unpleasantness—for we won't have any;" and Fred F. Wheeler, spokesman for the Prohibitionists, says: "We hold our movements in abeyance for the present."

The trouble has come about in the temperance people planning for a campaign against the liquor business in Los Angeles. On the side of the Prohibitionists there is a determination to force upon the people a clear-cut total prohibition proposition. The Anti-Saloon League believes this could not be carried at the present time, and wishes to make a move for prohibiting only the retail liquor business as represented by the saloon, the hotel bar (not drinks served at meals,) and the druggists on other than prescriptions. This, they says, is as much as conservative opinion would be justified in placing before the people at the present time, and claim the policy of the Prohibitionists is too radical.

Since the announcement of the Anti-Saloon League that it would inaugurate a campaign along the lines suggested the Prohibitionists held a meeting and formulated a statement of their position with regard to the controversies between the two parties on the plan of campaign. This is signed by Fred F. Wheeler, and says among other things for the Prohibitionists:

PROHIBITION VIEW.

"We regret being compelled to announce that the efforts to organize a federation of the anti-liquor forces of this city have failed. We have expended much time and thought for two months to secure that end, and feel that the responsibility for the failure cannot be laid at our door."

Then it goes on at length to relate that the originators of the movement were representatives of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Good Templars, and the Prohibition party.

The plan of action, formulated in conference, was to invite the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Ministerial Alliance, the Good Templars, the Anti-Saloon League, the Prohibition Alliances, the Christian Endeavor Societies, the Epworth Leagues, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America and all the churches and church societies to join in a united effort to prohibit the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic liquors in this city, and destroy the business through the initiative and referendum clause of the city charter. A committee of three was selected to cooperate with similar committees from other organizations in sympathy with the effort, and to take such further action as in their judgment is wise to attain the end desired, the statement sets forth. A committee was appointed to wait upon the Anti-Saloon League and to invite it to join in the movement. Then the Anti-Saloon League responded as follows:

ANTI-SALOON RESPONSE.

"Impressed with the conviction that the several organizations desiring the suppression of the saloon have committed to the Anti-Saloon League the work of inaugurating and conducting such movements and have provided it the means for so doing, this Executive Committee expresses their conviction that there should be a campaign inaugurated in the city of Los Angeles at the earliest day deemed advisable by this committee, and that it should be conducted with such ends in view as after due deliberation and consideration of all the conditions the committee deems advisable. And in this work we earnestly invite the hearty cooperation of all churches and other organizations as well as individuals who favor the supression of the saloon."

PROHIBITION PROPOSITIONS.

"Comment on the above is unnecessary," says the Prohibitionists' circular. "The public can judge whether its spirit and breadth were a proper response to our invitation. However, we waived that point and made other efforts for a conference and finally succeeded in securing one. We urged the federation plan, and absolute prohibition as the proper scope of the movement. They urged that the Anti-Saloon League was the best medium and to fight the saloon alone, the wisest policy, leaving the brewery, the wholesaler, the hotel bar, the restaurant, and the drug store to continue their work as at present. We will not at this time enter into a discussion of the fatal weakness of such a programme. We submitted an alternative proposition based upon the present law in Pasadena. This would destroy the manufacture and close places where liquors are sold, and if enforced, should reduce the consumption of liquor proportionately. Under this arrangement those we represent would endeavor to elect a Mayor who would appoint Police Commissioners that would refuse to grant a single permit and thus secure absolute prohibition. We also offered, if the federated plan was adopted, to elect Dr. Chapman as its chairman.

"These propositions were declined, and we were informed that they had decided to go ahead themselves 'on the plan which we stated to you at our last interview.'

Notwithstanding this conclusion, and desiring to exhaust every effort to prevent the mistaken movement which they contemplated," says the circular, "we presented another proposition, as follows:

"We still have another suggestion to make looking to a united movement against the liquor traffic, which we hope will meet the approval of yourself and associates. The objection was stated by one of your committee at our recent conference that many conservative people thought an ordinance prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic liquors as a beverage would work a hardship on those who had large sums of money invested in the brewery or the saloons, if it were to go into effect at once, and this feeling would cause them to vote against our proposition. There is undoubtedly some force in this argument, although the Supreme Court of the United States has passed on that subject and decided against the liquor interests. But to meet that objection, as well as to offer a substitute for fighting the traffic by piece meal, which we believe to be a fatal mistake, we submit the following:

"Let us submit an ordinance to the vote of the people which shall absolutely prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors as a beverage, but that the law should not go into effect for five years after its adoption. This, if adopted, will give every man who has money invested in the business ample opportunity to get it out and invest it in other ways. This suggestion ought to enable all branches of the anti-liquor army to stand together, and with a united front we can certainly carry such a proposition in this city, and by the time it goes into effect we can elect a city administration in complete and hearty sympathy with it, and thus secure its enforcement. We still believe the effort should be made while the Methodist General Conference is here. May we hope for a reply by the 26th.

"This, too, was declined. In order that the full responsibility for the results that will follow the plans of the Anti-Saloon League may rest upon them, we decided at our meeting last evening to hold our movements in abeyance for the present."

TOO BROAD, SAYS CHAPMAN.

Dr. Chapman, of the Anti-Saloon League, meets these statements with the counter-statement that after several conferences his organization was convinced that the two factions could not come to a common ground, as there was such a wide difference on the scope of the issue. He states that the Anti-Saloonists did not consider it the part of wisdom to present such a sweeping proposition that it could not carry, and that they were willing to fight for what they could get, and attack the drink evil by sections rather than lose the whole campaign.

He says the Prohibitionists wanted an earlier campaign than his forces were prepared for, and that his idea was to move carefully, so that there would be no mistakes made.

"There is really no division of the temperance forces," said Dr. Chapman last night. "The Anti-Saloon League is the most complete federation of these forces ever attempted, but, like all such movements, it does not include everybody. There is a small faction of extremists among the Prohibitionists who hold aloof, and they are back of this movement to present total prohibition at a time when it is deemed by conservative people the conditions are not ripe for it. These Prohibitionists possibly control 400 or 500 votes. It must be noted, however, that these people have not made a definite declaration that they will not vote for the measures we propose. They simply plan to hold themselves aloof for the present."

"As to the W.C.T.U. and the Good Templars, they are both affiliated with the Anti-Saloon League, and three of the unions have places on our Executive Committee by choice of the federation."

TRICKY SCHEME FOR REDLIGHT.

BALLERINO'S DENS OF SHAME MAY BE REOPENED.

Plan Projected Whereby Crib Properties are to be "Deeded" to Scarlet Women Who Can Then Make Defense Against Vagrancy Charges.

Another effort is to be made to open the cribs, and tonight is the time set. Like former endeavors which B. Ballerino and others have made to secure a return to themselves of the foul revenue of $200 a night which they so long enjoyed, this effort is certain to result in failure. Ballerino must be getting his advice from some person or persons far sarewuer than he has ever been given credit for being, for he could not have originated his newest scheme to evade the law. The plan is simple, but could succeed only with the connivance of those high in authority. Considering the present state of public sentiment, that is not to be considered possible.

By Ballerino's scheme it is proposed to deed to a number of crib women certain of the dives which they formerly occupied. Of course in the execution of these deeds Ballerino will protect himself from loss by taking mortgages, the terms of which will make it impossible for them to ever be compiled with, and thus although to all intents and purposes the title will pass, Ballerino will stand no chance of losing his property.

Once the women secure deeds to the property they can, of course, open such little "stores" as they may desire, and none can say that they are not transacting a legitimate business. Nor can it be said that Ballerino is again renting his places for immoral purposes. To convict the women of vagrancy probably would be difficult under the circumstances, for they would be in "business" on "their own" premises and would be making "part payments" every night, and these payments would be just that much revenue for Ballerino.

It had been announced that last night some of the cribs would be reopened, but owing to some delay in the filing of the papers "transferring" the property the time was deferred until all legal requirements can be compiled with.

An official of the police department was told about the scheme last night and asked what would be done about it.

"What will we do?" he replied. "Why nothing except raid the places every night they are open, or several times every night if need be. We will keep them busy putting up bond money. Such an attempt to evade the law will not be tolerated."

That being the attitude of the police, Ballerino's cribs may not be reopened after all.

A Queen as a Shopper.

The Queen, the Princess of Wales, Princess Charles of Denmark and Princess Victoria walked from the castle into Windsor yesterday afternoon and did some shopping.

The princesses filled their pockets with lovely things, the royal party staying in the shops a considerable time. "They give as little trouble as possible," said Mr. Barber, "and it a real pleasure to wait on them." The Queen and the princesses would not even trouble the shopkeepers to have some of the things wrapped in paper. They simply put the small purchases into their pockets and asked for the larger things to be sent on to the castle.

Her Majesty and the princesses did not pay for their purchases in hard cash, but the Queen remarked to one tradesman, "You can trust me?" They seemed to make light of the unpropitious weather and the wet pavements, and tramped along quite gayly, holding an animated conversation and frequently stopping to look at the wares displayed in the shop windows of the High street.—[London Mail.

WISCONSIN CAPITAL DOOMED BY FIRE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MADISON (Wis.) Feb. 27.—The State Capitol caught fire at 3 o'clock this morning, and at 5 o'clock it appeared that the building would be a total loss. The fire was soon beyond control of the city fire department, and engines from Milwaukee were summoned. The loss is not yet known.

CANAL PROCLAMATION.

The President Makes Public the Text of the Treaty and Gives Official Notice of its Ratification—Bunau-Varilla Resigns.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Secretary Hay and Minister Bunau-Varilla this forenoon exchanged ratifications of the Panama canal treaty at the State Department. At 11:50 o'clock, the President signed the proclamation putting the treaty into effect.

As soon as the proclamation was signed, it was returned to the State Department, where the exchange of ratifications had taken place between Secretary of State Hay and Minister Bunau-Varilla, of Panama. The Cabinet was in session when the proclamation reached the White House from the State Department. Secretary Loeb took the document to the President, and he signed it immediately.

The President may not send to the Senate his appointments on the Isthmian Canal Commission before the first of next week. He has been informed by telegraph that Benjamin M. Harrod of New Orleans has mailed to him a statement regarding the charges against Mr. Harrod. Until he has received this statement and given it consideration, the probability is that the official announcement of the personnel of the commission will be withheld.

The exchange marks the close of diplomatic negotiations looking to the acquirement by the United States of canal rights on the Isthmus, running back to the first quarter of the last century. What remains to be done now is nothing more than the adjustment of certain legal questions by the law officers of this government. The State Department has fulfilled its functions.

The legal questions remaining to be settled are the pending litigation in France concerning the canal and the question whether, under the terms of the Spooner act, the $10,000,000 which was to be paid to Colombia can now be paid to Panama. It will be some time before these questions can be settled, and meanwhile no money is likely to pass. The proclamation is as follows:

By the President of the United States of America:

A proclamation:

Whereas, a convention of the United States of America and the republic of Panama to insure the construction of a ship canal across the isthmus of Panama to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans was concluded and signed by their respective plenipotentiaries at Washington on the 18th day of November, 1903, the original of which convention, in the English language, is word for word, as follows:

And, whereas, the said convention has been duly ratified on both parts and the ratifications of the two governments were exchanged in the city of Washington on the 26th day of February, 1904;

Now, therefore, be it known, that I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, have caused the said convention to be made public, to the end that the same, and every article and clause thereof, may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this 26th day of February, in the year of Our Lord, 1904, and of the Independence of the United States the One hundred and twenty-eighth.

[Signed] THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the President:
JOHN HAY,
Secretary of State.

M. Bunau-Varilla, the Minister from Panama, today cabled his resignation as such to the President of that republic.

CERTAIN FORMALITIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—From the State Department, Minister Bunau-Varilla, with the exchange copy of the treaty, drove to the cable office and tendered his resignation as Minister from Panama to the president of the republic in the following dispatch.

"The exchange of ratifications of treaty has taken place today at 10:45, thus finishing the accomplishment of my duty to the republic of Panama. I request Your Excellency, in conformity with what I have expressed in my letter of November 24 to the Department of Foreign Affairs, to accept my resignation from today, and to send me by next mail my letter of recall."

M. Bunau-Varilla expects to remain in this country for a fortnight, and will then go to Paris to look after private business. It is possible the Panama government will wish M. Bunau-Varilla to remain in charge of the legation until his successor, Dr. Arosmena, arrives. And if possible, the Minister will consent to extend his mission.

Replying to an inquiry why the Panama government was not to receive today, in accordance with the terms of the treaty, the $10,000,000 which this country has pledged to pay, the Minister said: "For two reasons. First, because I had informed the officials that were a check for the amount handed me, I should be compelled to return it, because I have all along that I did not care to be connected in any way with the financial dealings arising from the land sale, and further, because the government of Panama has not yet complied with the programme for the payment of this sum, and therefore would refer that it should not be transacted for the present.

"A second reason is the necessity of accomplishing certain legal formalities with the Panama Canal Company which the Attorney-General of the United States thinks should be settled before the payment of the purchase price. For this reason, the property of the Panama government cann inister said: "For two reasons rst, because I had informed the of- ials that were a check for the ount handed me, I should be con- elled to return it, because I have said along that I did not care to be onnected in any way with the finan- al dealings arising from the canal ile, and further, because the govern- nt of Panama has not yet decided the programme for the investment this sum, and therefore would pre- r that it should not be transferred the present.

'A second reason is the necessity of ompleshing certain legal formalities ith the Panama Canal Company, hich the Attorney-General of the nited States thinks should be settled efore the payment of the purchase rice. For this reason, the preference the Panama government that the oney be held in trust here for the esent is in harmony with the wishes this government."

Asked about the nature of the fo- alities, M. Bunau-Varilla said: "These rmalities arise from the special sta- tion of the canal property, which now in the hands of a receiver and annot be transmitted without author- tion of the courts. The absurd the- y of Colombia that certain parts of e contract between Colombia and anama are still binding, while other e not, can cause only amusement en to the simple. Colombia has no r sovereignty over the Panama can- d therefore is unable to fulfill its bligations to the Panama Canal Com- ny, although Colombia seems to s that the Panama Canal Company all fulfill its obligations to the Pa- ta government and decline to sell e canal without the consent of Co- mbia. I should say that probably re than a month will elapse be- re Panama will be ready to accept $10,000,000."

COALING STATION PLANS

Lieut. Holcomb Preparing to Begin Work and Says Appropriation Will Pass.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive dispatch.] Lieut. Holcomb, who is in charge of the construction of the Government coaling station, says that Burton's held-up of the $200,000 appropriation bill will not prevent its passage. He has established headquarters and is preparing to commence work since the bill was framed Mr. Perkins has tacked on $2000 for the expenses of a preliminary survey. He says that the plant will be entirely of steel, bedding the pilings, which are to be backed in cement. There will be storehouse facilities on the wharf for 6000 tons of coal, to be ready for immediate use, while the capacity of the bunkers ashore will be 20,000 tons.

NEIDERMANN WILL FIGHT.

Neidermann, owner of many cribs in the red light district, has returned home, and he declines to be a party to the ousting of the occupants of the cribs, as proposed and carried out in his absence by his wife. He declares he will fight the prosecutors in the courts, and has employed counsel. But the cribs are closed the supposition is that Neidermann's wife has the balance of power.

SULLIVAN'S GOOD SHOW.

His Training Methods Make Friends for Him.

Two to One Alleged to be Fair Rate of Odds.

Griffin Exiled from the Turf. Race Summaries.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The good showing made by Sullivan in his training has won him many friends among the fans, and, as a result, he will have more support in betting than at first looked likely.

When the fight was first arranged it was not thought that he had any chance, but he is now conceded to be a good short-end bet. So far, little money has been placed, but the indications are that the price at the ringside will be shorter than the prevailing odds now. The opening figure was 10 to 4, but that is shaded now, and 2 to 1 is a fair rate.

SIX-ROUND DRAW.

BRENNER AND JACK ROOT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Jack Root of this city and George Gardner of Lowell, Mass., fought a six-round draw here tonight. The fight was fast throughout, and with the exception of the third round, when Root had the better, and the fifth, when Gardner evened up the advantage Root had gained, the bout was even.

Root played for the jaw and Gardner for the body all through. Root landed frequently on the jaw in the second round, and at the close Gardner was hanging on. In the fifth round, Gardner gave Root a severe pounding on the body and sent him to his corner badly weakened. Both men fought moderately in the last round, and Root landed a hard right on the jaw that forced Gardner to clinch. He quickly recovered, however, and evened matters up by a series of heavy body blows. Both men were bleeding badly at the finish.

SHARKEY AND MUNROE.

BOTH IN GOOD CONDITION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26. — Tom Sharkey and Jack Munroe, who are to mix six rounds at the Second Regiment Armory in this city tomorrow night, have not yet arrived here. They are not expected until tomorrow afternoon. Both fighters have been training in or near New York. Reports received here are to the effect that they have trained faithfully and are in the best of condition for the bout.

The men will fight for a guaranteed purse and percentage of the receipts. The managers of the show say that should the amount of $5000 have already been sold. Under the law, no decision can be given by the referee.

GRIFFIN'S SWEET PEPPER.

COOKS EX-JOCKEY'S GOOSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ex-Jockey H. T. Griffin executed a coup at the track today which, if it is not a ring and no one knows how it came from poolrooms away from here, will probably wound up his career on the turf, for he was suspended and the entries of all his horses refused in the future. Griffin had Sweet Pepper, a fine-looking two-year-old, in the fifth race. The rail birds were "next," and the bookmakers. When the horses were led into the paddock, the boy in Griffin's stall was a shrubby-looking goat, with absolutely no life. Sweet Pepper's odds went to 5 to 1 and 6 to 1. Then a steady shortening. A few moments before the real Sweet Pepper was led into the paddock. The bookmakers who "knew" and saw the real animal looked a fit, but it was too late. Hedging was out of the question. Sweet Pepper won in a canter.

The stewards investigated. Griffin said a mistake had been made in bringing the right horse from the stable, but it did not "go," and he and his boys were suspended. The stewards say that they will go further than that they will go further than official ruling in the matter, and that they will address communications to Eastern and Western jockey clubs explaining all the details of the case.

CLEAN SPORTS NOW IN SIGHT.

FLUNKING ATHLETES CANNOT COMPETE IN TRIALS.

University of Southern California and Occidental Faculty Foot is Put Down Firmly—Some of the Best Performers Now Under the Ban.

The cause of pure athletics received a distinct and much-needed boost yesterday afternoon, when at a meeting of the faculty of the University of Southern California the names of Fergusson, Flick, Woodward and Wilson were stricken from the list of contestants in the field day which is to occur this afternoon between U.S.C. and Occidental at Fiesta Park. The last-named college has taken an equally firm stand in the same matter, and in consequence has decided to suffer the loss of Bacon, Rainey and Thompson. All of these men were behind in their studies and were giving more time to the training of their bodies than the education of their minds; a state of affairs which failed to appeal to the faculty's love of sport sufficiently strong to overrule its convictions of what college is for. Hereafter in these schools it is brains first and brawn for the place money. This action while it works a hardship on the teams at present is considered far better in the long run, as it will tend to elevate the status of Southern California athletics to the plane where it belongs, and will be a step toward crowding out the professionalism and commercialism that has been dragging athletic sports in the dust of late.

Notwithstanding the loss of Fergusson, the weight man, and Wilson in the 440-yards dash, Manager Scott of U.S.C. thinks his bunch have a fighting chance today. Buell of Occidental says his men can let U.S.C. have first and second place in the dashes and then win out with a fair margin.

The list of contestants in today's events follows:

First place will count 5, second place 3 points. No point will be allowed for third place.

BULLMAN BRINGS IN PRINCESS TITANIA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—A heavy rain again made the track at Oakland a sea of mud today, and players had a good line on the form that were at home in the going, but one of the winners were unexpected. The six-furlong handicap was the feature, and a field of nine to the post, Princess Titania the 3 to 1 favorite. Bullman had the mount and he soon sent the mare to the front. She won easily from Anglo, while Ananias was third. Anglo recovered his speed and proved his class by winning the fifth race from Lichtenstein and Lansdowne, the latter being a heavily-played favorite. Tom Tiddler was again a disappointment, Sterling Towers leading home in the second. Harry Bill Sterling Towers up from last to first, but she was retained. Results:

Five furlongs, selling: Sterling Towers, 107 (Bozeman,) 4 to 1, won; Sir Tom Tiddler, 117 (J. Daly,) 9 to 5, second; Hocoo, 94 (Roach,) 10 to 1, third; time 1:03. Our Pride, Pickaway, Watkins Overton, Hilou and My Surprise finished as named.

One mile, selling: Glissando, 107 (Reed,) 13 to 5, won; Mr. Farnum, 107 (Bonner,) 9 to 1, second; Anvil, 102 (Wright,) 13 to 1, third; time 1:44 3-4. Carilee, Prince Blazes, Kickumbob, Elfonse and Sue Johnson finished as named.

Six furlongs, handicap: Princess Titania, 110 (Bullman,) 3 to 2, won; O'Hagen, 94 (Travers,) 8 to 1, second; Ananias, 94 (Reed,) 8 to 5, third; time 1:14 3-4. Futurita also ran.

Futurity course, selling: Quiz II, 101 (Bonner,) 7 to 1, won; Sol Lichtenstein, 101 (Reed,) 9 to 2, second; Lansdowne, 97 (Roach,) 13 to 10, third; time 1:13. Pruewood, Amasa, McGregor II, Imprompdu and Contestant finished as named.

Mile and fifty yards, selling: Horton, 109 (J. Martin,) 11 to 5, won; The Fretter, 100 (Sherwood,) 9 to 1, second; Chickadee, 100 (Bonner,) 5 to 1, third; time 1:47. File d'Or, Bronerdale and Outburst also ran. Mr. Dingle left

FIRST DERBY IS ON TODAY.

One Has Gone the Route, the Other Works Well.

Improvement of McGrathiana Prince Yesterday.

Today is Derby day—the first at Ascot Park. A field of doubtless seven starters will face the barrier at the half-mile post for the long journey, and last night horsemen generally conceded the supremacy lies between Formaster, the game representative of the Boots & Hollenbeck colors, and Bill Curtis. On form Formaster figures the winner, but not by much; Bill Curtis, by virtue of some splendid workouts during the week, will be heavily supported by the track contingent and its connections uptown. His trip over the Derby course Tuesday in 2:34 4-5, and another fine performance yesterday morning, when he went a mile with Mainspring in 1:41 carrying Redfern at 115 pounds, then continuing on over the Derby route is still further argument in his favor. Elwood, the Durnell entry, is conceded a chance if he does not sulk, and divides with Formaster the honor of carrying top weight, 117 pounds.

Otto Wonderly will ride Formaster today. Hildebrand will probably have the leg up on Bill Curtis. Redfern will likely have the mount on Elwood. Mountain on Pat Bulger and J. Lewis on Fox Lake look to be the riders. It looks as if every horse in the race would be played, but Formaster and Bill Curtis will doubtless open first and second choices in the betting. The question with most players is whether Formaster's recognized ability, to go the distance is to be more than offset by Bill Curtis's equally well-known liking for the Ascot track. He has never gone the Derby route in a race, but his admirers are well satisfied with his work-outs and promise to back him to a short price.

The feature of an ordinary card yesterday was the sudden and startling improvement shown by McGrathiana Prince, a royally bred horse from Frank Reagan's stable. Off well in the sixth race, he retained the lead from the start under an able ride and perfect rating by Wonderly and galloped home a winner by a length and a half in 1:41½. Previously in his last race on Washington's Birthday, under Wonderly's riding, and at the same distance, in the same class of horses, he finished next to last in a field of eight, being beaten in 1:43—slower time—by horses he showed up with ease yesterday. And incidentally on that last race the public turned a fair day into another bad one for many of the books by plunging upon McGrathiana Prince hard to win, and playing the favorite, Iras, 1-2. He landed the place and Louwelsea played considerably at 6 to 5, ran inside the money. The winner was played from 10 to 7 to 2, and Iras saved for his backers much of the cash bet upon him by being placed.

Glennevis, the most consistent horse at the track, again rewarded the Scotch element by winning the handicap at six furlongs in a furious drive with Best Man, in which Redfern put up a finish fully equal to his reputation. Best Man under Mountain was eating up the distance at the wire, and ten feet more would have seen him a neck winner.

Pat Dunne's Airship flew like a bird yesterday in the baby race and won like the prohibitive favorite he was. "Lucky" Baldwin backed his El Otros to win and place, getting big interest for half an hour at that when the black, red maltese cross finished second.

A field of fair selling players disclosed a winner for the seven-furlong event in Ultruda, Emir, the hot thing, breaking in front and dying to nothing.

Track Notes.

Advices received by a leading horseman at the track from a friend on the other side, who is a trainer indicate that Johnny Reiff will be reinstated and granted a riding license by the English stewards—that old chestnut again! Reiff—this one—was always pretty well liked in the old country. Should he ever be restored to good standing by the English racing authorities his reinstatement by the French stewards would follow as a matter of course.

Mountain will probably do most of Boots & Hollenbeck's riding here. The seventeen horses of the firm expected yesterday arrived, and Nervator will start today with Mountain up. Mountain will also ride The Ledeaen this afternoon.

Judge Hamilton is determined to put an end to the rough riding which has been too common a feature of Ascot racing the past week. The colonel talked business with the boys yesterday and told them there would be no further conversation on the subject except of a financial nature. In the first race Hildebrand on Laureates fouled Miss Betty. It cost him $10. In the second J. Lewis on Pyrella fouled P. Phillips on the back stretch. Another $10 was chalked up. The boys will be more careful in future or the assessments will grow with Irish dividend rapidity.

The Weber and Fields aggregation was much observed at the track yesterday. All were present, and were given the "best in the house."

BOWLING.

LAST NIGHT'S GAMES.

The immaculate nerve of a bunch of three fingerball butchers and two big ball artists was the feature of last night's bowling on the Monarch Alleys when the All-Americans—shades of Al. Selbach, John J. Voorheis and P. Wolff—went down the line three straight before the Inter-Urbans in spite of really high-class bowling by Griffith, who averaged 201, and good work by Mackenzie, who averaged 183 2-3. Scores were 2681 to 2586; they follow:

Interurbans—	1.	2.	3.	Total.	Av.
Benfer	153	236	179	564	188
Jacobs	133	144	191	468	156

In the fifth game of Morley's three-cushion tournament Dr. Barnum defeated Frazier by the close score of 25 to 22 in a highly interesting contest.

DROPPED TO DEATH.

Scaffold Around Dome of Chicago's New Postoffice Building Gives Way and Maq is Killed.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—A triple-floor scaffold on the dome of the new postoffice building suddenly collapsed this afternoon, carrying fifteen men into the first floor of the building, killing two of them. Scores of policemen and firemen were quickly summoned to clear away the débris and permit the recovery of the bodies.

The helpless victims had a sheer descent of 250 feet. The men were at work on the big scaffold, finishing up the decorations on the interior of the dome. There is a space beneath extending to the first floor, and it was down this hole, through all the floors that tons of splintered wood suddenly fell. The men were buried, and after the sound of the fall died away no cries or moans of pain were heard.

Walter Anderson, a time keeper, who was on the second floor of the scaffold, had a hair-breadth escape.

ONLY ONE KILLED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Thirty-five men were working about the dome at the time of the accident, and for a time it was thought nearly half this number had been killed by the falling timber, but all escaped with the exception of two plasterers, James Byron and Barney McBride, who were standing on the portion of the scaffold when it gave way. Byron fell to the main floor of the building and was instantly killed. McBride, who was working with Byron, also fell with the scaffolding, but he caught one of the floors as he fell and thus saved his life, although he was severely injured.

JOHNSON PUTS CASE AT REST.

American President Delivers Opinion by Wire.

Says Dillon Matter Has Been Settled in His Favor.

Morley Goes East of Rockies to Obtain Justice.

It was a good word the wires flashed yesterday from Ban Johnson's office in Chicago to Morley and Dillon in Los Angeles—a good word in which the public, too, has its interest.

Mr. Johnson, at noon, wired in response to Morley's query regarding the jurisdiction of the national association in the Dillon matter, as follows:

"J. F. Morley, manager Los Angeles Baseball Club: National Association has no jurisdiction over Dillon. My understanding is you retained Dillon, assuming you had the first contract with the player. B. B. JOHNSON."

"I think this settles the Dillon matter," said Morley last night. "Incidentally I might say it is pretty hard when a Californian has to go East of the Rocky Mountains to get justice from his associates who should naturally be in league with him in fact as well as in name. I now consider I have won my fight as regards Dillon, but will await further developments. In Johnson I have found a fair-minded man ready to do the right thing.

"How this will affect the case of Castro remains to be seen. I do not believe Portland has as strong a case as I had. Castro came from a club under the National Association's jurisdiction—Baltimore—and Hanlon has some grounds for making his kick. But at the same time I do not favor receding an inch from the stand taken by the league at the recent meeting."

Dillon was as happy as a boy yesterday. Anyone who for a minute thinks the big fellow wants to leave the land of sunshine and oranges should have heard his version of the matter at the track yesterday. Dillon thinks the fight is practically won. He is not much of a hand to talk, but admitted this much:

"I think Mr. Johnson has about settled the case for Morley and I. He has ruled that the business was settled, and I am heartily glad of it. I didn't want to go East. I have just furnished a home and made all my plans to stay here. This climate suits me perfectly; I was never treated better anywhere. So why shouldn't I want to stay?"

That there will be further developments is almost certain, but just what form they will take remains to be seen. Hanlon, whatever else may be said of him, is no quitter, but Johnson's shaft seems to have shattered the National Association quiver effectively. Morley will probably have to go north to fight the matter out before the other magnates of the Coast League, but the upshot of it all will probably be in his and Dillon's favor.

Dillon is likely to stay here. The priority of his Looloo contract has already been established.

RIVERSIDE MEET.

ALL IS NOW READY.

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 26.—Everything is in readiness for the interscholastic meet which is to be held at Chemawa Park Saturday. The track is in excellent condition and a rain is the only thing which can spoil the sport. Pomona has engaged a special train. Redlands will bring many "rooters." San Bernardino will not compete. The contest for the league cup will be between Pomona, Colton, Redlands and Riverside.

The officers of the day have been chosen as follows: Starter, Fred Gundrum; referee, Prof. Ernest Rea; clerk of course, A. N. Morris; judges of finish, Dr. C. G. Toland, Pomona; Ernest Purdrum, Colton; Mr. Wise, Redlands; judges of field, W. A. Lewis, Pomona; W. H. Beach, Colton; Mr. Hunter, Redlands; timers, Robert Lee Bettner, Riverside; Harold Hoover, Redlands; Emil P. Steffa, Pomona; scorer, Fred Hudson; announcer, Harry Rayner.

The events will be the 50-yard dash, shot put, 100-yard dash, hammer throw, 220-yard dash, pole vault, high jump, 440yard dash, broad jump, mile run, relay race.

The first event will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

EXTENSIVE CAVE-IN.

SCRANTON (Pa.) Feb. 26.—One of the most extensive cave-ins that the northern anthracite coal section has ever experienced occurred in West Scranton today. The cave-in affected an area of about forty acres. When the first break occurred the residents became panic-stricken. There are about 200 houses in the district affected. Some are completely destroyed, others are out of plumb, while nearly every house is twisted to such an extent that the doors and windows cannot be opened.

CZAR AND CZARINA MAKE CONFESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Like millions of their subjects, the Czar and Czarina today made confessions of their sins. It was a day of praise, as well as of prayer here, and the solemn rites attending the ceremony of confession alternated with thanksgiving for the news from the East. Their Majesties confessed in the church of the Winter Palace to Court Chaplain Yanisheff, and afterward walked in the palace garden.

The visit of the Czar and Czarina to the imperial tombs in the cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul and the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul occurred this morning. They prayed for a long time beside the tombs of the Czar's father and brother, and a cheering multitude greeted them as they drove to the chapel of the Savior in Peter the Great's house, which is a short distance from the fortress. There they attended a special service of prayer.

At Kronstadt tonight, a general confession was given by Father John of Kronstadt, in St. Andrews Church. Since the beginning of Lent, throughout European Russia boarding and lodging houses are full. The church was thronged with worshipers, and there was an immense crowd outside. With the opening of the service, the congregation's cries, groans and shouts produced a weird effect. The tumult ceased suddenly when Father John rose and pronounced forgiveness of the sins of all present.

Like a knight of olden times, before going to battle, Gen. Kuropatkin today performed the most solemn rites of the mother church at St. Petersburg. The Metropolitan of Moscow, who accompanied the Ikon of Saint Sergius to St. Petersburg, has received letters from the Czar recalling the overthrow of the Tartar hordes under its auspices, and prophesying that it will also lead the Russians to victory over the Japanese.

AMERICA GIVES $10,000.

The giving of $10,000 by Charles A. Crane of Chicago to the "Young Empress" fund for Russian soldiers and sailors has been received everywhere with expressions of appreciation. Her Majesty was deeply touched by the donation. The gift was made by Mr. Crane through Count Rostosoff, His Majesty's chancellor. Mr. Chase has cabled saying it was believed in America that Russia has done everything to maintain peace, but that her hand has been forced by a treacherous enemy.

PORT ARTHUR FEINT.

There is a difference of opinion among the military and naval officers in regard to the purpose of the Japanese forces at Port Arthur, but the prevailing opinion that it is to effect a diversion to cover their movement elsewhere. A high naval officer said: "I cannot understand what the Japanese hoped to accomplish. They forgot that the days of wooden, inflammable ships are past. If their object really was to block the channel, it was equally futile, as it would be easy to clear the entrance by blowing up the wreck. We believe the Japanese activity at Port Arthur was a feint to engross our attention while they continue their disembarkation of troops in Korea. I do not believe that at this time they will attempt a landing force on the Liao Tung Peninsula."

It is said today that the battleship Retvizan at the mouth of the harbor is acting as a guardship. The remainder of the Russian squadron is inside to avoid a torpedo attack. The idea that the Japanese seriously contemplate a bombardment of Port Arthur, inviting the exposing of their ships to a plunging fire from the guns on Golden Hill, is regarded by military experts as absurd.

SQUADRON FROM JIBUTIL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SUEZ (Egypt) Feb. 26.—The Russian squadron from Jibutil is reported to be anchored in the Gulf of Suez, twenty-five miles south of Suez. A torpedo-boat destroyer, which had already entered the canal, bound north, has sailed south again to rejoin the squadron.

KOREAN TROOPS FOR JAPS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEOUL, Feb. 26.—The Korean government has decided to order the Korean troops to join the Japanese in the field. The port of Wiju was opened to foreign trade last night, February 25th. The limitations to be placed on trade and other incidental matters will be discussed later. This action necessitates a harbor for Wiju, so Yongchampho has been decided upon.

FALLING-BACK TACTICS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The Herald's correspondents cable the following:

SHANGHAI, Friday.—Russia has only five months' supplies at Port Arthur. Russians say that she means to defend Port Arthur, and that she will fall back with the rest of her troops from Dalny to the Yalu, and, if pressed, upon Harbin, where she will fight for two years. Dalny is being evacuated. The Russians boast that they have mined the breakwater, the docks, the wharves and the railway siding to prevent the Japanese from using them.

DANISH ACTIVITY INTENSE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Friday.—Intense activity is shown in Danish military preparations. The Danes are increasing the strength of the forts and raising new ones on the island of Saltholm, keeping three military trains under steam for the purpose of rapidly focusing her strength. This attracts much attention here, and is reckoned as a preliminary step to closing the Baltic. The Novoe Vremya calls attention to British arsenals working night and day with feverish haste.

JUNK MEN SIGHT JAPS.

CHEFOO, Friday, 3:40 p.m.—The crew of a junk which arrived here today reports having passed at a distance eleven Japanese warships coming from the direction of Port Arthur, off the coast of Korea. Two were being towed. Owing to distance the junk crew was unable to ascertain the names of the ships, but they were visibly damaged.

JAPAN'S KOREAN VICEROY.

CHEFOO, Friday, 3:40 a.m.—The following message was sent by mail from Seoul, February 11:

"It is reported that the Japanese Minister has informed the Emperor of Korea that a director-general or viceroy, who will be a Prince of the Japanese imperial house, would soon be appointed to represent Japan in Korea, but the arrangement would be temporary only, and the Emperor need not be alarmed."

CARTER HARRISON'S OLD FEUD SETTLED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Political circles are astounded by the announcement of an alliance between Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of the city of Chicago, and John R. Walsh, president of the Chicago National Bank, director and principal stockholder of a dozen big corporations and owner of the Chicago Chronicle.

There has been a bitter feud for years between the present Mayor and the Monroe-street financier, and for a score of years there has been a fierce vendetta between the elder Harrison and Walsh.

BRYAN ASSUMES.

BUT DOES NOT MEET HILL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William J. Bryan spent an eventful morning in New York today. The meeting and reconciliation which National Committeeman Norman E. Mack had arranged for Bryan and David B. Hill fell through. Mack succeeded in getting both leaders in the same hotel, the Hoffman House, at the same time, but he could not induce them to shake hands and make up. Both "kept still, very still." After this fiasco, Bryan went to the City Hall and conferred with Mayor McClellan.

Bryan was asked if he thought the coming Democratic National Convention will reaffirm the Kansas City platform.

"Certainly I do. That platform will be reaffirmed," he said.

After leaving the Mayor, Bryan was asked if McClellan would be acceptable to western Democrats as a candidate for President.

"I assume that he would," said Bryan.

The Nebraskan was asked then what he thought of Tammany Leader Murphy's indorsement of Cleveland.

"I assume that it may have some influence, but not much," he said.

When asked what would happen if Cleveland should be nominated, Bryan became serious and said: "I live in a brick house, and brick houses are dangerous in times of earthquakes. If ever Cleveland is again nominated, he will strike the ground with such a thud that it will cause an earthquake. Earthquakes are not good for people in brick houses. I don't want any earthquakes."

PERRY HEATH'S SUCCESSOR.

SKETCH OF ELMER DOVER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Elmer Dover, who has been appointed by Chairman Payne to succeed Perry Heath as secretary of the Republican National Committee, is 30 years old. He was born in McConnellsville, O., April 14, 1873, and received his education in the public schools there. When he was 16 he was "editor and manager" of the county paper at McConnellsville, and ran it for two years. From McConnellsville, he went to Akron and worked as city editor of the Akron Beacon for two years; then to Portsmouth, O., where he was city editor of the Times for five years.

He was at the Republican headquarters in Chicago during the campaign of 1896, as assistant to Charles Dick, who was assistant secretary of the committee. It was while at headquarters that he met Hanna.

The following year, when Hanna was appointed to the United States Senate he chose Dover as his secretary.

Bryan Calls on McClellan.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—William J. Bryan called on Mayor McClellan today at the City Hall, and remained in conference with him for some time. The Mayor was summoned from a meeting of the Board of Estimates to meet Bryan. Bryan at the end of his visit, said that he had made only a friendly call on McClellan, and politics had not been discussed.

OXNARD.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

OXNARD, Feb. 26.—The Patterson Ranch Company has given the Huntington representatives an option for a right of way across its property, from the north line to a point aligning the west end of Sixth street, in this city. The American Beet Sugar Company has also given the same parties a right of way across its factory grounds extending from the east end of Sixth street to the Southern Pacific right of way. The question arises as to why the Huntington syndicate should want to get in so close to the Southern Pacific right of way; or, if this option is really for the Southern Pacific Company, why are they expending so much money on their present line to Montalvo, and the approaches to their present bridge across the Santa Clara River.

The area now irrigated and prepared for beets for the coming sugar campaign has reached nearly ten thousand acres, and with favorable rains in the next few weeks, another 5000 acres will be added.

J. W. Rose, assistant manager of the sugar factory, has just submitted to a successful operation for appendicitis, and is reported today to be getting on nicely.

Joseph Sailer, master mechanic at the factory, has returned from a four months' visit to his old home in Germany. During his trip he visited a number of the large sugar factories in Germany and France.

DID MORRIS MURDER GEORGE BOSSLER?

MEMBERS of the Police Detective force who have been working on the case of J. G. (better known as George) Bossler, who was found with his throat cut in a corral on Wilmington street, and who was supposed to have committed suicide, believe that the man was murdered. They have placed a well-known character known here as "Curley" Morris in jail and although no formal charge of murder has been lodged against him, he is held on suspicion of having committed the crime.

The theory of the detectives is that Bossler, Morris and a third man, whose name is either not known, or who, if known, has secreted himself, came from Seattle some time ago; that they were implicated in a job which carried with it a division of money between them. Whether it was a piece of criminal work or not cannot be stated, but according to the information which the officers have secured fro what they think is a reliable source, Bossler had some of the money on his person and was trying to keep a portion of it, which Morris thought should be paid him.

The informant of the police says the three quarreled, Morris became enraged, and drawing a razor slashed Bossler across the throat, causing the wound which resulted in his death.

That there was more to the case than suicide the detectives give out no hint. They even went to the extreme of letting the Coroner's jury return a verdict of death by suicide, but meantime they have been working on the case, knowing that such a verdict would be certain to disarm suspicion if murder really had been committed.

They are, of course, not yet prepared to prove that Morris committed a murder, but their investigations have lead to certain confirmatory information of what was told them by the man who said Morris did commit the crime. Who the other man in the case was even the officers do not know.

Morris has not been booked at the Police Station, and whether he will be held for the crime or not depends upon what positive proof can be brought against him. He is said to be a member of the fraternity of "macs" and is addicted to the use of opium. He has been under arrest before, sometimes under suspicion of committing serious crimes.

The Congo Cruelties.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your protest against the horrors of the Congo Free State is altogether just and timely. You take the side of the weak, the ignorant and the friendless, when a most determined attempt (backed by wealth, high position, open and occult blackmail,) is being made to hush up the whole business. Even Sir Henry M. Stanley, honored both in the United States and the United Kingdom as a high African authority, has come forward in the pitiful role of whitewasher to His Majesty of the Belgians. There seemed some hope of inquiry when Stokes, erstwhile missionary and later African trader, was so summarily executed by the Belgian officials. But a salve of gold healed the soreness.

America, having no African ambitions (beyond a vaguely paternal attitude toward Liberia,) could, best of all the nations, take the lead in this protest. The British people have been deeply stirred by these Satanic systems, but are hampered by conflicting African interests, of the French around Lake Tchad, and of German and Belgians on the "Cape to Cairo" line. A strong, free, disinterested white race, speaking on the ground of bare humanity, would carry great weight. Of course, you would have to expect sarcastic references to lynching, however unfair the comparison.

There is some secret understanding with the idea of making France residuary legatee of the Congo Free State in case the Leopold Majesty and the Belgians ever retire, so the response to America from Paris may be chilly.

Great Britain has probably had more civil, military, commercial and missionary experience with weaker Asiatic and African races than all the continent of Europe put together; but in any international gathering she would be outvoted. The autocratic tendencies of Northeastern Europe and the Catholic sympathies of Southwestern, would both on different grounds be arrayed against her to shield Belgium and favor France. From one point of view it would be the illiterate people outvoting the educated Northwest. In Europe the open Bible and the well-filled schoolhouse go together, as the statistics of illiteracy conclusively prove. American initiative in the cause of the ill-used African would be welcomed by the most progressive races. MALABARI.

A Russian's Criticisms.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26, 1904.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Allow me to intrude once more upon your valuable space in regard to the present war. While it is only about two weeks old, Japan has already many times violated all international laws and usages. There can hardly be any doubt as to that, if one coolly dissects all the facts connected with the neutrality of Korea, with the first attack on Port Arthur, the battle at Chemulpo and the new idea of a protectorate over a country that is seized by the throat and whose foremost statesmen are conveyed as prisoners abroad. The thin, superficial veneer of civilization cannot control the yellow Asiatic nature—it will assert itself more and more as the war progresses and Japan begins to realize that this time she has bitten off considerably more than she can ever hope to chew. The sympathies of the civilized world, at first wholly with her, are already beginning to turn, and no white man will be able to defend her actions much longer. I am fully convinced that what were called at first "clever tricks," then "blunders," will be soon called as they deserve to be "crimes against the laws of civilization," and that even her warmes present friends will be obliged to turn their backs upon her. At the same time, the inevitable final results of the war are as plain to me today as they will be to everybody in six months from now. Whoever knows anything about the real resources and real respective qualities of the people of both countries cannot doubt them for a moment. Japan is simply suffering from a swelled head, and is going to have treatment for that unprofitable disease, which, I am sure, will alleviate her for some time to come. She was eagerly looking for a fray of some kind, and circumstances were such, that it fell to the lot of Russia to prick the soap bubble. The whole civilized world will be thankful to her when the thing is over with. Japan, in her mood of the last decade, was as dangerous to everybody as a stick of dynamite laying around loose.

Taking all that into consideration, I fail to see why Secretary Hay so persistently pursues his pin-pricking policy towards Russia. Sending consuls to places under purely military control, from which all foreigners are necessarily excluded, and where there can be no business of any kind transacted at present, threatening to land marines at Wiju and Newchwang; countenancing the refusal of the captain of the Vicksburg to join in a protest agreed to even by a British captain, a direct and recognized Japanese ally; ordering all those movements of the American fleet in Eastern waters—doing all these things, which can do no earthly good to this country, and certainly are, at the very least, unpleasant to Russia in her present condition and mood. All this seems to me to be a highly provocative policy against a friendly and powerful nation. The Russian is highly emotional, impulsive and sensitive; annoying pinpricking hurts him more than direct heavy blows, and he remembers it longer. Retaliation in some form is sure to follow, and strained relations, political as well as commercial, for some time to come will be the result. America buys practically nothing of Russia, while Russia buys many millions' worth of goods yearly, and that trade was rapidly growing, especially with our Pacific Coast. Secretary Hay is playing a dangerous and unprofitable game, unworthy of our great and glorious country.

MRS. CROSTHWAITE President Nat. W. L.

To help save the lives of other mothers, I write this testimony. I had a lump in my breast that I could not believe was cancer, because it did not pain. It finally became as large as my fist. Four different surgeons wanted to cut the entire breast off and take all the glands from my armpit, and even then could not promise a cure. I went to Dr. Chamley after reading his book of so many wonderful cures, without knife or pain, several I knew. He cured me four years ago, and saved my life. No words can express my gratitude to Dr. Chamley. He is too kind to everybody for his own good.

I will answer any questions about my cure, if you send stamped envelope.
